247 On Cruise Vessel

1 Killed, 5 Hurt As Ships Collide

NEW YORK (AP)—The Grace liner Santa Rosa, bringing home 247 passengers from a happy Caribbean cruise, collided early today with the empty oil tanker Valchem off Atlantic City. One tanker crewman was killed and five injured.

No one was injured aboard the cruise ship, which also carried a crew of 265. But a fire broke out in the paint room in the forward part of the vessel. This was kept from spreading but difficulty was encountered in extinguishing it.

Although a number of other ships raced to the scene, neither the Santa Rosa nor the Valchem was said to be in any danger of sinking.

At one point it was said the cruise liner's passengers might be transferred to a sister ship, the Santa Clara, to continue their voyage to New York. Grace line officials said later that this would not be done unless for some reason it should become absolutely necessary.

The Santa Rose was expected to proceed to New York, arriving in the afternoon. The Valchem was reported disabled and awaiting tugs to take it in tow. The tanker is owned by the Valchem Line.

The Coast Guard said the Santa Rosa's bow sliced half way through the tanker in the engine room section near the stern when the vessels came together at 3 a.m. about 22 miles east of Atlantic City.

The cause of the crash was not immediately reported. The weather was described as clear with a slight haze at the time.

First word came from the Santa Rosa in a radio message at 3:15 a.m.: "Collision with tanker. No distress."

Later reports reiterated that there was no particular emergency, although the Coast Guard said the 10,416-ton Valchem was disabled.

The name of the dead tanker crewman was not learned immediately. He was said to have died of burns. His fellow crewmen were not believed badly hurt.

The 16,000-ton Santa Rosa is a new vessel placed in service by the Grace Line last June, replacing another of the same name.

The paint room fire aboard it was described as "still smoldering" at 6:15 a.m.

An extra supply of chemical fire extinguishers was being flown to the liner by helicopter.

The Coast Guard said the Santa Rosa's bow sliced halfway through the tanker into the engine room near the stern.

The two ships remained joined about 2½ hours before the captains decided it was safe to separate them.

Probe Asked Of Alleged Labor Plot

Racial Tension Used As Weapon In Union Disputes Is Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two senators demanded today that the Justice Department and Civil Rights Commission investigate an alleged labor union plot to use racial tensions as a weapon in labor disputes.

The story of the scheme came out Wednesday in the Senate hearings on racketeering in the Miami area.

The committee placed in evidence a letter from a Miami Teamsters official, David Frechette, to Teamsters President James R. Hoffa asking for $15,000 to finance the plan.

Committee investigator Walter Sheridan testified the exchange of letters has disappeared from Hoffa's files. But he said the union's financial records show that $15,000 was sent by Hoffa to Frechette's Local 290 in Miami after Frechette's request.

Frechette himself invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer virtually all questions.

"This should engage the immediate attention of the Civil Rights Commission and the Justice Department, if they want to pursue the exploitation of the minority race," the committee's chairman, John L. McClellan (D-Ark) told reporters. He called it a conspiracy.

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) also urged a follow-up by federal agencies.

Frechette's letter to Hoffa named Bernie Rubin, head of three Miami Laborers Union locals, as the man who had pioneered use of the racial scheme against any contractors engaged on housing projects in which FHA or VA mortgage financing would be a factor. Federal law forbids racial discrimination in housing constructed with government financial aid.

The letter asked Hoffa for $15,000 to help the Teamsters apply the purported Rubin scheme against Acme Concrete, a Miami firm then working on a home construction project.

Frechette wrote Hoffa: "On a Sunday, when the developer has his model homes on display to the public and when he makes his sales, he (Rubin) floods the models with a few hundred colored laborers and their families who parade through the models and express an interest in purchasing a home in the project, with a few actually making application.

DiSalle's Bid To Ban Death Penalty Fades

House Unit Kills 2 Bills; Resolution Governor's Hope

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle still has a chance to put over his almost one-man campaign to abolish capital punishment. It isn't the type of chance he wanted, but it is still a chance.

The Democratic governor got a stiff jab Wednesday from the Democratic-dominated House Judiciary Committee when it refused to recommend passage of bills to abolish or modify Ohio's capital punishment system. Committee action, for all practical purposes, killed the bills.

But Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning), chairman of the Senate's State Government Committee, told newsmen he will start hearings next week on a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish capital punishment. Should the Legislature adopt the resolution which would place the issue on next November's ballot, the governor would have no voice in the decision.

But he has said in the past he believed the Legislature should settle the matter and not shoulder off the decision on the people.

Asked for comment after the House committee's decision in face of his personal appearance Tuesday in favor of the bill, DiSalle told newsmen the adverse vote was expected. He added:

"The time will come when Ohio will abolish capital punishment, as will every other state."

The margin of defeat was not even close. On a bill to abolish capital punishment except for slayers of policemen and prison guards, the vote was 15-7 against.

On a bill to reverse the present system on first - degree murder cases, the vote was 14-8 against. The bill would have made a life sentence mandatory in a first-degree murder conviction unless the jury recommended electrocution. Present law makes electrocution mandatory unless the jury recommends mercy.

After the capital punishment bills were killed off, the legislators began a four-day Easter recess.

Another top legislative development was House passage, 91-22, of a bill to extend indefinitely school levies outside the 10-mill limitation unless lifted by popular vote. Such levies now must be submitted to a vote at least every five years. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Court Begins Hearings For Man In Fatal Crash

Consecutive hearings on charges of drunken driving and second degree manslaughter were under way this morning in Municipal Court for Bernard J. Icenhower, 40, of 305 E. 2nd St., identified as the driver of an auto in which a passenger was injured fatally March 8 in a collision with a parked tractor-trailer on E. 3rd St.

Court attaches said the two cases were to be heard one immediately after the other — first the drunken driving charge and then the manslaughter allegation. Icenhower, arraigned earlier, pleaded not guilty to both.

The charges were filed in connection with a crash that police said resulted in the death of Murl Oney, 37, of E. 2nd St. Atty. William S. Foulks represents Icenhower. Assistant Solicitor Richard J. Clark is appearing for the prosecution.

U.S. Urges Meeting Of Aides First

French Note Stiffer Than Ike's; British Take Positive Slant

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle agreed conditionaily today to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the summit on the Berlin crisis and other problems.

They differed materially, however, in the emphasis they placed on the conditions.

A U.S. note said this country is prepared for a meeting of heads of state "on the understanding" that a prior meeting of foreign ministers at least narrows differences and prepares "constructive proposals."

The British note to the Kremlin took a considerably more positive approach. It said the British would be glad to go to the summit "as soon as developments in the foreign ministers meeting warrant." It spoke of a summit meeting this summer, whereas the U.S. note only spoke of such a conference as soon as the foreign ministers' action might "justify" it.

The French language concerning conditions was still stiffer than that of the United States.

President de Gaulle, in his note to Moscow, made his attendance hinge on whether the foreign ministers meeting "permits the envisagement of genuine progress" at the top. And the French spoke only of a summit session "at an appropriate time" instead of mentioning this summer.

All three of the Western notes reserved the right of all participants to bring up whatever subjects they choose.

That is in contrast to the Soviet idea of confining the talks solely to Berlin and a German peace treaty. In a March 2 note, the Kremlin proposed that the foreign ministers meeting, at least, be held exclusively to those subjects.

U.S. officials said that in spite of the differences in wording, they considered the Western notes to say substantially the same thing.

The Western powers proposed that the foreign ministers meeting start in Geneva May 11 "to consider questions relating to Germany, including a peace treaty with Germany and the question of Berlin."

From there on, they went into their divergent approaches to the summit session.

Despite the variations of emphasis, the Western proposals appeared to bring closer the prospect of a conference of President Eisenhower, Macmillan and De Gaulle with Khrushchev.

The American note was released here, and the British and French communications in Paris and London, after their delivery to the Soviet Foreign Office.

In general they all followed the line of a formula worked out by Eisenhower and Macmillan at their Camp David meeting last week.

That plan calls for dealing with the Berlin crisis through diplomatic negotiations aiming toward one or more summit meetings.

"The purpose of the foreign ministers meeting," the U.S. note said, "should be to reach positive agreements over as wide a field as possible, and in any case to narrow the differences between the respective points of view and to prepare constructive proposals for consideration by a conference of heads of government later in the summer.

"On this understanding and as soon as developments in the foreign ministers meeting justify holding a summit conference, the United States government would be ready to participate in such a conference.

"The date, place and agenda for such a conference would be proposed by the meeting of foreign ministers."

That three-point proposal was the heart of the Eisenhower-Macmillan formula which in substance was approved later by De Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Tibet Leader Fled Capital, Report Says

Refugees Of Revolt Against Reds Say He May Go To India

DARJEELING, India (AP) — A reliable source here on the Indian border reported today that the Chinese Communists have announced that the Dalai Lama fled from Lhasa during the revolt in the Tibetan capital.

The whereabouts of Tibet's 23-year-old religious and political leader, revered by his people as "the living Buddha," were unknown in Kalimpong. There were rumors he was heading south toward the Indian protectorate of Sikkim, between Darjeeling and Tibet, or southeast toward the Indian province of Assam.

Refugee Tibetans were speculating that their Buddhist godking would remain with resistance forces in southern Tibet or might cross into India. Reports have persisted that the revolt which broke out in Lhasa last Friday has spread to the countryside. The Chinese have been reported in control once again of Lhasa.

The report in Darjeeling was that advisers to the Dalai Lama, before the fighting started in Lhasa, added their names to a declaration declaring Tibet independent of Chinese control and charging the Communists with breaking promises in the 1951 treaty to respect Tibet's religion and way of life.

The report said the declaration was presented by a delegation from the public and was handed on to the Chinese.

The Chinese for more than two centuries have maintained that Tibet is part of China. But in an attempt to spur the revolt against the Communist, Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai - shek from Taipei offered the Tibetans the right to choose independence if his forces regain control of the mainland.

There was no official confirmation of the reports of the Dalai Lama's flight or of the Tibetan Cabinet's renunciation of the treaty with Peiping. Indian government spokesmen in New Delhi said they were "not in position to comment."

Serviceman Killed

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A.3.C. Charles G. Spears, 23, of Dunglen, was killed early today and Gerald E. Kohler, 20, also of Dunglen, was injured critically in an automobile accident.

Jailbreakers Await Grand Jury Action

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Three men and a woman who broke out of jail here are awaiting grand jury action on charges of kidnapping, armed robbery and automobile theft.

They pleaded innocent Wednesday and were held to the grand jury under bond of $40,000 each.

The jailbreakers were captured near Chardon Tuesday night following a running gun battle with Geauga County sheriff's deputies. The charges against them resulted from their theft of money, weapons and the automobile of Deputy Sheriff William Driskell, who was forced to accompany them when they broke from jail early Monday. Driskell was released unharmed near Warren.

The four are Robert P. Herman, 36, Joseph A. Orville, 23, and Donald Thomas Sweet, 24, all of Youngstown, and Mrs. Lola Gordon, 40, of Toledo. All have long police records.

Geauga County Sheriff Louis A. Robusky announced at Chardon Wednesday that he will issue warrants charging shooting with intent to kill against the jailbreakers. He said the four will not be brought to trial at Chardon until they have served their Mahoning County sentences.

Philadelphia Poisoned Fish Spread Fear

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The death of a three-year-old boy who had eaten poisoned fish touched off an alert Wednesday night that spread fear throughout the East for several hours.

Later, a statement from federal food inspectors indicated the bad fish was confined to a relatively small amount in the Philadelphia area.

The Donald Kleinschmidt family, both parents and four young children, were stricken ill at their home in nearby Haddon Heights, N.J., after eating a fish dinner Tuesday night.

Dale, 3, the youngest, died shortly after admission to Cooper Hospital in Camden. Two brothers and a sister were seriously stricken.

Representatives of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration were informed Wednesday of the cause of the youngster's death. Laboratory analyses of the family's dinner indicated a high content of sodium nitrite, a poison, which in much smaller quantities is sometimes used as a preservative for meats.

Meanwhile, three women had suffered attacks of food poisoning after eating fish in a Philadelphia restaurant Tuesday night.

Robert C. Stanfill, local director of the federal food agency, said his inspectors quickly traced the fish, in both instances fileted fluke and flounder, to a single wholesale distributor in Philadelphia.

The city health department meanwhile had issued a warning on a teletype service which reaches newspapers, radio and television stations in the area.

'Poisoned Fish' Alert Relayed By Ohio Patrol

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon was notified by district headquarters at Warren Wednesday night there was a possibility poisoned fish had been shipped into Ohio.

Officers at Lisbon were asked to relay immediately any reports they may receive of suspicious illnesses, but were not directed to make any local investigations of food stores or wholesalers. Later, the patrol learned the poisoned fish were believed to be distributed only in the Philadelphia area.

The patrol relayed the alert to law enforcement agencies throughout the area, including the East Liverpool police department. City police passed on the warning to restaurants, food dealers and any other business place that might possibly have received fresh fish within the last few days.

10,598 Signed To Participate In May Voting

87 Electors Qualify In Last Day's Rush For City Primaries

East Liverpool will have 10,598 voters qualified for the May 5 primaries, when the two major political parties will choose candidates for municipal offices, the County Election Board announced today after ringing down the curtain on registration Wednesday night at 9.

Eighty-seven voters qualified in the final rush — 35 during normal daylight office hours and 52 last night. In the last three days of its registration campaign, the board kept its W. 6th St. office open on a continuous 12-hour schedule.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, emphasized that the registration total is approximate, as the staff still must check the records of any possible duplications. It means that 245 voters were added to the rolls since Jan. 1, he added.

Although the rush was not heavy, based on past experience, unqualified voters appeared at the office all day in a steady stream to sign for the primaries.

O'Hanlon pointed out that the 10,598 total is far short of the city's all-time record of 12,642, which was attained for the presidential election in 1940. East Liverpool may have 13,000 potential voters now, but there has been a steady migration to suburban residential areas ever since the end of World War II, O'Hanlon commented.

Candidates In Beaver Draw Ballot Positions

Some 300 candidates for offices on the May 19 primary ballot in Beaver County drew for positions on the ballot during a "roll off" Wednesday at the Bureau of Elections in Beaver, William B. Smith, director, said.

Some 600 candidates had been notified. Smith said work sheets of the ballot must be made, names put in position, and samples prepared for the printer.

He said bids for the printing of the ballots will be advertised in a week or so.

247 On Cruise Vessel

1 Killed, 5 Hurt As Ships Collide

NEW YORK (AP)—The Grace liner Santa Rosa, bringing home 247 passengers from a happy Caribbean cruise, collided early today with the empty oil tanker Valchem off Atlantic City. One tanker crewman was killed and five injured.

No one was injured aboard the cruise ship, which also carried a crew of 265. But a fire broke out in the paint room in the forward part of the vessel. This was kept from spreading but difficulty was encountered in extinguishing it.

Although a number of other ships raced to the scene, neither the Santa Rosa nor the Valchem was said to be in any danger of sinking.

At one point it was said the cruise liner's passengers might be transferred to a sister ship, the Santa Clara, to continue their voyage to New York. Grace line officials said later that this would not be done unless for some reason it should become absolutely necessary.

The Santa Rose was expected to proceed to New York, arriving in the afternoon. The Valchem was reported disabled and awaiting tugs to take it in tow. The tanker is owned by the Valchem Line.

The Coast Guard said the Santa Rosa's bow sliced half way through the tanker in the engine room section near the stern when the vessels came together at 3 a.m. about 22 miles east of Atlantic City.

The cause of the crash was not immediately reported. The weather was described as clear with a slight haze at the time.

First word came from the Santa Rosa in a radio message at 3:15 a.m.: "Collision with tanker. No distress."

Later reports reiterated that there was no particular emergency, although the Coast Guard said the 10,416-ton Valchem was disabled.

The name of the dead tanker crewman was not learned immediately. He was said to have died of burns. His fellow crewmen were not believed badly hurt.

The 16,000-ton Santa Rosa is a new vessel placed in service by the Grace Line last June, replacing another of the same name.

The paint room fire aboard it was described as "still smoldering" at 6:15 a.m.

An extra supply of chemical fire extinguishers was being flown to the liner by helicopter.

The Coast Guard said the Santa Rosa's bow sliced halfway through the tanker into the engine room near the stern.

The two ships remained joined about 2½ hours before the captains decided it was safe to separate them.

Tibet Leader Fled Capital, Report Says

Refugees Of Revolt Against Reds Say He May Go To India

DARJEELING, India (AP) — A reliable source here on the Indian border reported today that the Chinese Communists have announced that the Dalai Lama fled from Lhasa during the revolt in the Tibetan capital.

The whereabouts of Tibet's 23-year-old religious and political leader, revered by his people as "the living Buddha," were unknown in Kalimpong. There were rumors he was heading south toward the Indian protectorate of Sikkim, between Darjeeling and Tibet, or southeast toward the Indian province of Assam.

Refugee Tibetans were speculating that their Buddhist godking would remain with resistance forces in southern Tibet or might cross into India. Reports have persisted that the revolt which broke out in Lhasa last Friday has spread to the countryside. The Chinese have been reported in control once again of Lhasa.

The report in Darjeeling was that advisers to the Dalai Lama, before the fighting started in Lhasa, added their names to a declaration declaring Tibet independent of Chinese control and charging the Communists with breaking promises in the 1951 treaty to respect Tibet's religion and way of life.

The report said the declaration was presented by a delegation from the public and was handed on to the Chinese.

The Chinese for more than two centuries have maintained that Tibet is part of China. But in an attempt to spur the revolt against the Communist, Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai - shek from Taipei offered the Tibetans the right to choose independence if his forces regain control of the mainland.

There was no official confirmation of the reports of the Dalai Lama's flight or of the Tibetan Cabinet's renunciation of the treaty with Peiping. Indian government spokesmen in New Delhi said they were "not in position to comment."

Philadelphia Poisoned Fish Spread Fear

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The death of a three-year-old boy who had eaten poisoned fish touched off an alert Wednesday night that spread fear throughout the East for several hours.

Later, a statement from federal food inspectors indicated the bad fish was confined to a relatively small amount in the Philadelphia area.

The Donald Kleinschmidt family, both parents and four young children, were stricken ill at their home in nearby Haddon Heights, N.J., after eating a fish dinner Tuesday night.

Dale, 3, the youngest, died shortly after admission to Cooper Hospital in Camden. Two brothers and a sister were seriously stricken.

Representatives of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration were informed Wednesday of the cause of the youngster's death. Laboratory analyses of the family's dinner indicated a high content of sodium nitrite, a poison, which in much smaller quantities is sometimes used as a preservative for meats.

Meanwhile, three women had suffered attacks of food poisoning after eating fish in a Philadelphia restaurant Tuesday night.

Robert C. Stanfill, local director of the federal food agency, said his inspectors quickly traced the fish, in both instances fileted fluke and flounder, to a single wholesale distributor in Philadelphia.

The city health department meanwhile had issued a warning on a teletype service which reaches newspapers, radio and television stations in the area.

'Poisoned Fish' Alert Relayed By Ohio Patrol

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon was notified by district headquarters at Warren Wednesday night there was a possibility poisoned fish had been shipped into Ohio.

Officers at Lisbon were asked to relay immediately any reports they may receive of suspicious illnesses, but were not directed to make any local investigations of food stores or wholesalers. Later, the patrol learned the poisoned fish were believed to be distributed only in the Philadelphia area.

The patrol relayed the alert to law enforcement agencies throughout the area, including the East Liverpool police department. City police passed on the warning to restaurants, food dealers and any other business place that might possibly have received fresh fish within the last few days.

10,598 Signed To Participate In May Voting

87 Electors Qualify In Last Day's Rush For City Primaries

East Liverpool will have 10,598 voters qualified for the May 5 primaries, when the two major political parties will choose candidates for municipal offices, the County Election Board announced today after ringing down the curtain on registration Wednesday night at 9.

Eighty-seven voters qualified in the final rush — 35 during normal daylight office hours and 52 last night. In the last three days of its registration campaign, the board kept its W. 6th St. office open on a continuous 12-hour schedule.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, emphasized that the registration total is approximate, as the staff still must check the records of any possible duplications. It means that 245 voters were added to the rolls since Jan. 1, he added.

Although the rush was not heavy, based on past experience, unqualified voters appeared at the office all day in a steady stream to sign for the primaries.

O'Hanlon pointed out that the 10,598 total is far short of the city's all-time record of 12,642, which was attained for the presidential election in 1940. East Liverpool may have 13,000 potential voters now, but there has been a steady migration to suburban residential areas ever since the end of World War II, O'Hanlon commented.

Candidates In Beaver Draw Ballot Positions

Some 300 candidates for offices on the May 19 primary ballot in Beaver County drew for positions on the ballot during a "roll off" Wednesday at the Bureau of Elections in Beaver, William B. Smith, director, said.

Some 600 candidates had been notified. Smith said work sheets of the ballot must be made, names put in position, and samples prepared for the printer.

He said bids for the printing of the ballots will be advertised in a week or so.

Kiln Victims 'Critical'

SALEM — Two brothers hurt in a collapse of an old brick kiln at Summitville Monday remain in "critical" condition today at Central Clinic. Floyd E. Kreps, 35, of Salineville R. D. 1 and Ralph L. Kreps, 26, of Hanoverton R. D. 1, were pinned under the fallen brick walls of the kiln, which was being dismantled at the Summitville Face Brick Co.

U.S. Urges Meeting Of Aides First

French Note Stiffer Than Ike's; British Take Positive Slant

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle agreed conditionally today to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the summit on the Berlin crisis and other problems.

They differed materially, however, in the emphasis they placed on the conditions.

A U.S. note said this country is prepared for a meeting of heads of state "on the understanding" that a prior meeting of foreign ministers at least narrows differences and prepares "constructive proposals."

The British note to the Kremlin took a considerably more positive approach. It said the British would be glad to go to the summit "as soon as developments in the foreign ministers meeting warrant." It spoke of a summit meeting this summer, whereas the U.S. note only spoke of such a conference as soon as the foreign ministers' action might "justify" it.

The French language concerning conditions was still stiffer than that of the United States.

President de Gaulle, in his note to Moscow, made his attendance hinge on whether the foreign ministers meeting "permits the envisagement of genuine progress" at the top. And the French spoke only of a summit session "at an appropriate time" instead of mentioning this summer.

All three of the Western notes reserved the right of all participants to bring up whatever subjects they choose.

That is in contrast to the Soviet idea of confining the talks solely to Berlin and a German peace treaty. In a March 2 note, the Kremlin proposed that the foreign ministers meeting, at least, be held exclusively to those subjects.

U.S. officials said that in spite of the differences in wording, they considered the Western notes to say substantially the same thing.

The Western powers proposed that the foreign ministers meeting start in Geneva May 11 "to consider questions relating to Germany, including a peace treaty with Germany and the question of Berlin."

From there on, they went into their divergent approaches to the summit session.

Despite the variations of emphasis, the Western proposals appeared to bring closer the prospect of a conference of President Eisenhower, Macmillan and De Gaulle with Khrushchev.

The American note was released here, and the British and French communications in Paris and London, after their delivery to the Soviet Foreign Office.

In general they all followed the line of a formula worked out by Eisenhower and Macmillan at their Camp David meeting last week.

That plan calls for dealing with the Berlin crisis through diplomatic negotiations aiming toward one or more summit meetings.

"The purpose of the foreign ministers meeting," the U.S. note said, "should be to reach positive agreements over as wide a field as possible, and in any case to narrow the differences between the respective points of view and to prepare constructive proposals for consideration by a conference of heads of government later in the summer.

"On this understanding and as soon as developments in the foreign ministers meeting justify holding a summit conference, the United States government would be ready to participate in such a conference.

"The date, place and agenda for such a conference would be proposed by the meeting of foreign ministers."

That three-point proposal was the heart of the Eisenhower-Macmillan formula which in substance was approved later by De Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Engineers Visit Chester To View Flood Dam Needs

A survey of the Middle Run watershed in the Chester area was under way today by a group of six Soil Conservation and engineers to determine whether or not a proposed flood control dam is warranted.

The city of Chester and the Chester Kiwanis Club have filed application for federal aid to construct dams in the watershed to prevent a recurrence of the damaging floods in January.

Roy Walker, street commissioner, and Dr. R. D. Watkins of the Kiwanis flood control committee, accompanied the group, which includes Encil Brohard of Wellsburg, state Soil Conservation agent for Hancock and Brooke Counties, and H. E. Anderson of Pittsburgh, representing the Army Corps of Engineers.

Also on the survey are Fred Miller of Gas Valley, district Soil Conservation agent, along with three men from the Soil Conservation office at Morgantown—Glenn Baker, engineer; James Keysecker, economist, and Alfred Millinder.

The survey will determine what is needed for adequate flood control, the estimated cost of the program, and if the cost warrants the project.

Firemen were called on two more grass fires Wednesday afternoon.

Two pumpers and an aerial ladder truck responded to an alarm at 3:42 p. m. at the rear of the home of Agnes Bahen, 206 W. Drury Ln.

Firemen said leaves and grass around a shed caught fire from an unknown cause but the blaze was out on arrival.

Because of the number of three-story homes with apartments on the top floors, firemen said the aerial ladder is taken on all fire alarms.

A grass fire at Woodbine and Gardendale Aves. was quelled at 5:31 p. m.

Engineers Visit Chester To View Flood Dam Needs

A survey of the Middle Run watershed in the Chester area was under way today by a group of six Soil Conservation and engineers to determine whether or not a proposed flood control dam is warranted.

The city of Chester and the Chester Kiwanis Club have filed application for federal aid to construct dams in the watershed to prevent a recurrence of the damaging floods in January.

Roy Walker, street commissioner, and Dr. R. D. Watkins of the Kiwanis flood control committee, accompanied the group, which includes Encil Brohard of Wellsburg, state Soil Conservation agent for Hancock and Brooke Counties, and H. E. Anderson of Pittsburgh, representing the Army Corps of Engineers.

Also on the survey are Fred Miller of Gas Valley, district Soil Conservation agent, along with three men from the Soil Conservation office at Morgantown—Glenn Baker, engineer; James Keysecker, economist, and Alfred Millinder.

The survey will determine what is needed for adequate flood control, the estimated cost of the program, and if the cost warrants the project.

Firemen At Calcutta Quell 2 Grass Fires

The Calcutta volunteer firemen battled two grass fires Wednesday afternoon which burned over a total of eight acres.

About three acres was burned over at the home of Jesse Collins of Oakmont at 3:10 p. m., firemen said. No buildings were damaged. Twelve men responded to the call.

As the firemen were returning to the station, the siren sounded again at 4:15. The call was to the home of Roy Justice of Ross Meadows. Five acres was burned over before the flames could be extinguished. The same men answered the call.

Hedge At Newell Home Damaged By Grass Fire

Fire Chief Carl Durham of the Newell volunteer fire department reported that firemen were called Wednesday at 3:05 p. m. to put out a grass fire at the home of Donald DeLong of Grant St. Hedges at the rear of the home were damaged.

Durham reimnded residents that state law permits fires only between 5 a. m. and 5 p. m. After those hours, residents still are responsible, he said.

Ted Lindsay of Chicago is the most penalized player in the National Hockey League. Through March 1, he had spent 172 minutes in the penalty box.

Firemen Request Old Brooms For Grass Fire Use

With grass fires continuing to plague the department, firemen today asked residents to donate old brooms. They may be left at any of the four fire stations.

The brooms are used to beat out the brush blazes, firemen said.

Firemen were called on two more grass fires Wednesday afternoon.

Two pumpers and an aerial ladder truck responded to an alarm at 3:42 p. m. at the rear of the home of Agnes Bahen, 206 W. Drury Ln.

Firemen said leaves and grass around a shed caught fire from an unknown cause but the blaze was out on arrival.

Because of the number of three-story homes with apartments on the top floors, firemen said the aerial ladder is taken on all fire alarms.

A grass fire at Woodbine and Gardendale Aves. was quelled at 5:31 p. m.

The department was called to Crook Alley at 1:36 p. m. yesterday fo flush gasoline.

4 Grass Fires Quelled

LISBON — Four grass fires were extinguished by volunteer firemen Wednesday afternoon between 1:20 and 4:30, according to Thirl Flgan, acting chief. The first was on Route 30 about 2½ miles west of Lisbon. The second at 3 p. m. was on the Trinity Church Rd. 5 miles west of here and the third was at 4 p. m. on Route 30 near Greens Hill. The final call was near Elkton.

Thief Takes Over $80 While Family Sleeps

About $80 in cash and change and some trading stamps were taken from the home of William Roberts of the Sub-station during the night while he and his wife and family were asleep.

Roberts said the money was in a sack in the kitchen. The thieves apparently entered by the front door, which was unlocked, according to Roberts, who operates a service station on Route 30.

The entering occurred after midnight, and the loss was discovered when the family arose this morning. Chief Deputy Sheriff James Miller is investigating.

Deficit Psychology Is Turning Sour

U.S. representatives and senators are going to put their ears to the ground during the Easter holiday to listen to their constituents. This year, they should listen hard.

The deficit psychology that has been making it easy for Congress to give the people everything they were supposed to want is turning sour back at the grass roots.

If congressmen will listen hard in the right places they will hear people wondering if they ever said they wanted some of the things they are supposed to want.

They will hear their constituents asking questions about the financial integrity of public officials who put members of their own family on their payrolls to beef up the collective income at government expense.

They will hear their fellow citizens who are struggling against the April 15 income-tax deadline being angrily curious about the size and depth of the tax bite that is being taken out of their hides by local, state and federal government.

They will hear protests about federal spenders who insist, nevertheless, that not enough money is being spent; that the spending rate should be speeded up still more and the excess charged against the future.

THERE ARE PEOPLE back home, the congressmen will learn, who say that if the price tag were put on all so-called public benefits on a cash-and-carry basis some of the benefits never would be given a second thought.

And beyond these people there are others who say that everything should be put on a cash-and-carry basis, the way it is in most of the states, whose spenders must bite the bullet from year to year by taxing for what they propose to spend.

This, they contend, is the only way representative democracy can save itself from its built-in weakness, which is to spend and spend and elect and elect.

The question is whether congressmen when they go home for the holidays will do their listening in the right places, or better yet, in a cross-section of right places.

They would have to be deaf in 1959 not to hear a distant rumbling of dissatisfaction with the Spendocrat creed.

SPENDOCRATS profess to know what the people need and what the people want, and they intend to give it to them. Their aim in life is to make the American people happy, snug and secure in a federal featherbed stuffed with brand-new folding money — fresh off the presses.

But the fact is the Spendocrats never have held a referendum on the cost of their handouts; they are afraid to. They have concealed the bad news about the cost by talking only about the benefits.

It does not concern them that everybody must keep running faster and faster to stay where he is, because their policy cheapens the value of money. They argue that there is no other way to live the full and abundant life.

Back home, many Americans think the Spendocrats have holes in their heads.

Happy Easter, representatives and senators. Keep listening.

You Can Fill The Trough With Water

The mounting doubt about the American people's ability to back up their government in efforts to wind up World War II in Germany is a very real thing among those who deplore the width and depth of public ignorance.

Their misgivings have been confirmed by a survey reported in The New York Times showing that people are inclined to back up the Eisenhower administration on its handling of the Berlin crisis, though relatively few of them understand what the crisis is.

The Times, commenting on its own survey, says this kind of blind trust is dangerous. It suggests that newspapers, television and radio must not have done an adequate job of reporting the news about Berlin. "In a democracy," says The Times, "there is no public interest more important than the creation of an alert and well informed public opinion."

This problem was discussed in relation to the revolution in Cuba. In that instance, too, newspapers, radio and television were criticized for not creating a well informed public opinion. But in their own defense, they pointed out in rebuttal that they gave the public far more information than it was prepared to assimilate.

The problem is not lack of information but lack of interest. It is recalled in this connection that before World War II the coverage of Hitler and Mussolini, though extended, was largely ignored by the public, just as today the coverage of President Eisenhower's fight for a balanced budget is not eliciting the popular reaction that could make it a major public issue.

The media of communications can fill the trough of information but they cannot make the public drink news that is not in popular demand. The President can go on a nation-wide television hookup to talk about the Berlin crisis, but he cannot make his fellow citizens listen.

It is superficial criticism to point to the faults of communications media, extensive as the faults are. To reach the nub of the problem it is necessary to inquire into the popular state of mind about public questions — what is the underlying cause of the apathy that makes people unwilling to spare the time and effort to understand public questions.

Is there more apathy in the United States, for instance, than in Britain and France? Is there more than there would be in the Soviet Union if its people were permitted to read reports of current events and discussions of government policy?

That is questionable. What is called apathy in the United States may well be no more than inability to react strongly to every new crisis raised in an era of endless emergencies. A fireman does not grow excited every time there is a fire alarm. Perhaps Americans, who are learning the role of international firemen, are learning to take fire alarms in stride.

Harsh Words

"It's certainly run down and some sections remind me of the slums in many of our larger cities."

That was the reaction of a Utah resident toward East Liverpool when he stopped here this week to "gas up" at a local service station.

Conceding that he had time only for a quick look and missed some of our better features, his words were pretty much to the point. They have been expressed before—by local residents, by those in suburban areas and by others—but they have even a harsher note when they come from a complete stranger.

It needn't be that way. Now, more than ever before, we have an opportunity to make progress. We can't expect overnight miracles, however. It means a united effort; it means sacrifices, and it means a dedicated desire for improvement.

If we sincerely wish it, we could make the stranger from Utah eat his words.

What a great sense of satisfaction there could be if, when he returned to East Liverpool again, he should find it necessary to declare: "My you people must have become civic-minded and begun working toward a common goal. That rundown feeling I noted before has disappeared. It looks like you're really moving ahead now!"

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

I believe the need of the hour is not for atomic bombs but for atomic faith.

I believe that all the wisdom of all the scientists in the "fusion of elements" can accomplish nothing compared to what man can accomplish by a fusion of the Gospels and the Psalms.

I believe mankind is yearning for an end to guided missiles and a chance to put his faith in the "radioactivity" of the family altar, the church steeple and the dedicated home.

I believe in the "atomic" rosary beads, the "atomic" prayer book and the "atomic" thumb-worn family Bible.

I believe mankind will hear the only true "all clear" signals not from factory whistles and sirens but from belfries of church, synagogue and mosque.

It is my belief that it is not through the blinding glow of hydrogen bombs that man will end his worries but through a blinding glow of Faith, Hope and Charity.

I subscribe to these further beliefs:

That in this Easter season a baffled, harassed and fumbling mankind can see the way back to the right paths only through the "mystery weapon" of The Ten Commandments.

That on this Good Friday no utterances of public officials, statesmen and world leaders can be as important to mankind as the message available to millions through the reading of St. Matthew's story of Christ's suffering at Gethsemane and Golgotha. And that on Easter morning no speech, no paper, no conference announcement can move man more than the seven words, "He has risen. He is not here."

I believe that with civilization threatened as never before the answers are to be found in outstretched arms on a crucifix, the stone rolled away, the eyes of a child, the lights on the templed hills, old-fashioned family devotion and dedication to kindliness and peace.

WHO REMEMBERS JOE TRACY, who died the other day at 85 in a Long Island hospital? Well, he had been long in obscurity but there was a period when his name was world famous and the mention of him stirred the pulse. He was one of the daredevil racing drivers of the Vanderbilt Cup and Ormond Beach age, competing with all-time greats. Tracy drove a Peerless in numerous events and once piloted a long-forgotten car, the Locomobile, back in the days when it was a question whether the chain-driven or shaft-driven car would be adopted by the industry.

It seems to this department that most critics were much too rough on "First Impressions."

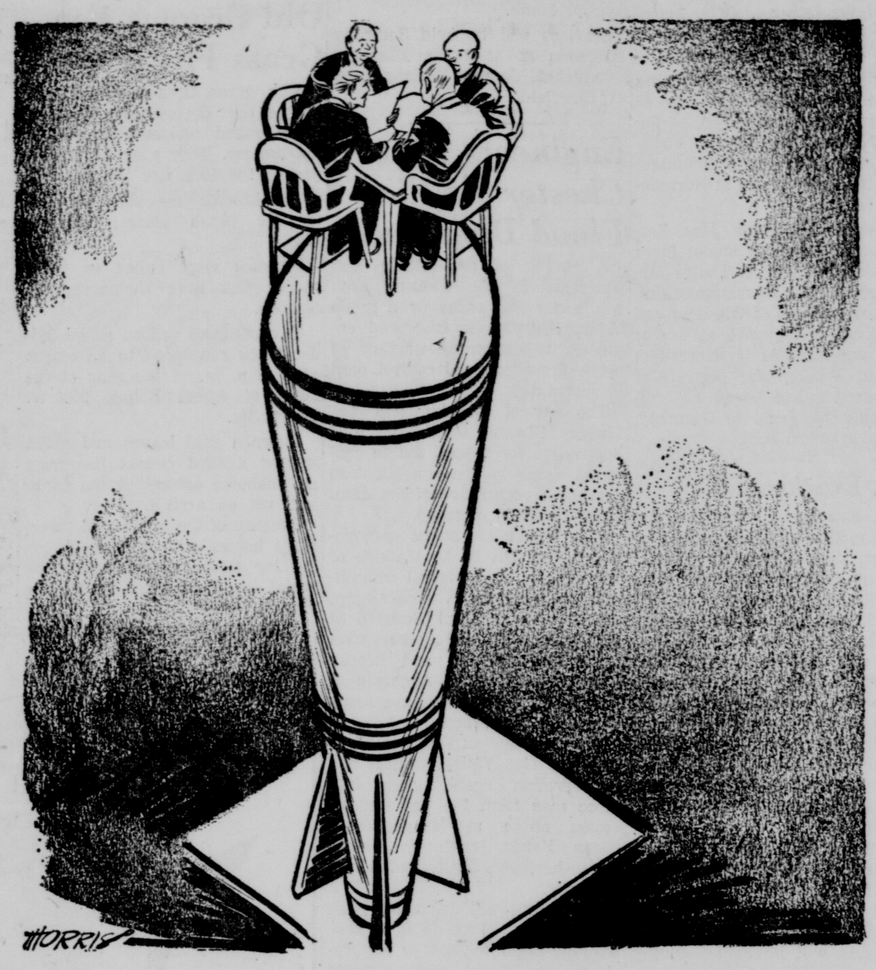
The Real Summit



Singer Heads Steel Union 'War'

By Victor Riesel

What Hollywood's Robert Montgomery is to Dwight Eisenhower, President of the United States, the singing cop Phil Regan, is to David McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, in a cold propaganda war which is absolutely expected to stop the pouring of hot steel for six weeks this summer.

Victor Riesel

Notice of Regan's great Irish tenor voice is not entertainment news for the moment. It's strike news. There was little doubt of that among some of us who spoke to that debonair "man of steel," David McDonald, the other day.

McDonald will send word along to those who make 85 per cent of America's steel that if there's no new contract by midnight June 30, there will be no steel poured by 12:01 the next morning.

No contract, no work. That was McDonald's word. There will be no postponement because of tension abroad — "because if there is a strike the industry will have forced us into it."

McDONALD KNOWS the country must be prepared for such a walkout of 500,000 men. And McDonald is a man of media — a mellifluous new man compared with the McDonald of old, newly certain of himself, newly using old John Lewis-ian barbs and theatrics.

Not the least of these is Phil Regan's voice — which is expected to sing the union's name and objectives into the hearts of over 100 million radio listeners these next few months.

This is being done with a daring expansion of radio time purchasing. Regan, who is the first entertainer to be sponsored "commercially" by a union, now sings and chatters his weekly union program over 500 stations reaching into every state. These are the first of what are expected to grow to 2,500 within a month or so.

The cost is negligible to the national office in Pittsburgh. The 15-minute programs of three songs, some gay lines and a two-minute trade union talk by McDonald are sponsored in each city by the locals there.

If the United Steelworkers tried to buy straight network time, it would cost millions. But with the locals — and there are 3,200 of them — sponsoring each show, the cost runs less than $50 a week in many areas.

THE REGIONAL locals coordinate their broadcasts. Jim Griffin, a delegate from Youngstown, O., to the wage and strategy parley here the other day told me how it works.

His local sets its broadcast for one part of the week, while nearby units use other days so the program appears to be blanketing the area daily. Thus it won't be missed by the dial turners who don't catch any one broadcast.

When the radio show is tied up with the vast newspaper advertising campaign, the nation is almost completely saturated.

The Steelworkers won't run out of money under any circumstance. The national office has some 35 million dollars in assets and the locals just about as much or a total of 70 million, McDonald told us.

What will they fight for? First, there'll be a great propaganda drive for the three - month - every-five years - in - addition - to - the-regular - annual - vacation plan, about which McDonald has talked so frequently.

What he hasn't revealed is that he expects to hit the big companies with a demand that they take the money for such vacations out of the huge workers' pension funds which the corporations administer.

McDonald expects to make quite an impact with the charge that one of the big steel outfits drew some 500 million dollars out of its pension fund to build one of its vast new automated works — and then repaid the fund. Point here is that there never really is a need for all the cash to be lying around.

SO WHY NOT use all this idle money to subsidize the three months vacation — as a sort of early installment plan payment on eventual retirement? There will be every other conceivable demand with the big play for more cash, high jobless benefits, aid to the 200,000 unemployed and a big new medical care plan.

Up to strike time, this will be a propaganda war. Phil Regan will sing and will see that McDonald gets before those TV cameras just right for the big push.

This is a new era on the industrial front — we've shifted from the muscle to the mind.

I find it annoying to see sidewalk litter being swept into the street, to blow around and make an eyesore. A century ago, people used to empty slops into the street, but we finally made them stop that nuisance.

I will bet the tough man to shave at a summit conference will be Charles de Gaulle, who will be having his first chance to do his strong man act in an international conference.

I read every word of every baseball training camp story I can lay my hands on, though I have only a mild interest in baseball once the season starts.

My favorite coming-to-work sight for a month has been a good-looking girl in a black sports car zooming in the opposite direction, obviously trying to beat a time clock.

Is there anything nicer to see than a pair of school kids strolling hand in hand when there's spring in the air? Yes. A pair of oldsters who still haven't forgotten how to hold hands when there's spring in the air.

I can do without television close-ups of lady singers that show the veins standing out in their necks when they go for high notes.

Sure enough, when I said here I was looking for an accommodating plumber to go with my accommodating furnace and pump men, a reader sent me the name of one. There was no blood relationship either.

Not everybody knows that the edge of an auto license plate is sharp enough to cut a finger, but I know it. I never have put on a pair of plates without learning about their razor-sharp edges.

People who know the characteristics of Irish setters agree these handsome red dogs ingratiate themselves by being alternately clownish and lubugriously solemn. No other dog is noted for this combination.

Everybody is taking a turn these days at guessing about the future of the auto industry. My favorite speculation is what will happen to the market for used big cars when potential buyers have the option of buying a new small car at the same price.

I am always astonished at the engineering perfection of a tooth and spend minutes studying each one of my own that has been pulled.

I have a pet theory, so far unverified, that evergreens continue to grow through the cold season and put on a burst of speed in springtime when new growth appears at the end of their branches.

Of all the tasty things that have been made available by mass producing and mass selling, nothing hits the spot like chilled tomato juice, which was not in the market until recent years.

I suspect when the history of our times is written, historians will be inclined to write glibly of the great tax shakeup that resulted when people were forced to concede they would have to pay for the facilities and services they demanded. From now on, taxes never will be any lower, just higher, because the demand for facilities and services cannot be headed off.

Letter To The Editor

In the interest of public information, I believe that it is important to refer to Mr. Winter's Letter To The Editor which was published Saturday, March 21.

In this letter, he stated that Council meetings on finances were held only on evenings when he and the president of the Trades and Labor Council could not attend.

The following letter was delivered by messenger to Mr. Winters Feb. 20. Quote:

"Mr. Joseph A. Winters
138½ W. 4th St.
East Liverpool, O.
Dear Joe:

Realizing that our last two financial meetings were held on evenings which were not suitable for you, I asked the members of Council to consider one more meeting of this type. They have agreed to do this.

If you will set one or two dates for next week which will be agreeable for you, I'll arrange a meeting for the Trades and Labor Council to discuss city finances informally with the City Council.

May I hear from you?"

Mr. Winters did not refer to this letter in his Letter To The Editor, nor did he answer it. The City Council will always meet with any interested group to discuss City Finances.

Frustrated Moscow

By David Lawrence

Russians Ponder Ike-Macmillan Talks

Everybody is happy, externally at least, over the Macmillan-Eisenhower talks — that is, everybody but Moscow. For, unfortunately for them, the Soviets haven't been told just what the British and American governments will agree to or what formula they would accept that could solve the Berlin question or anything else.

David Lawrence

Strange as it may seem to the Russians, the American and British officials do not feel that it is incumbent upon them to furnish Moscow with a transcript of what was said at Camp David.

So what has come out in the open can be regarded as just window-dressing for everybody on the Western side, though with respect to the Soviets, it becomes merely a demonstration of willingness to meet and negotiate.

The official Soviet news agency known as "Tass" naively laments that the Russians have not been let in on the secret conferences. A United Press International dispatch from Moscow says the Soviets have told their press that, while President Eisenhower under "the pressure of world public opinion" did agree tentatively to "summit" talks, he cold-shouldered Macmillan's plan for "balancing" military forces in Europe.

THE DISPATCH quotes "Tass" further as saying:

"Official statements by U.S. and British representatives show that the present talks have not led to the adoption of any definite decisions in almost all the remaining questions."

But no negotiator worth his salt would, in advance of a negotiation, shout from the housetops through the press of the world just what he is willing to accept. Obviously the Prime Minister of Britain and the President of the United States exchanged views and discussed hypothetically all sorts of plans and ideas.

The Moscow government may have the erroneous impression that the foreign ministers' conference at Geneva on May 11 is to be merely a perfunctory meeting to arrange the agenda for the "summit" conference in July or August, but the United States doesn't see it that way. Unless there is some real progress made at Geneva in May, it is just conceivable that that there will be no "summit" conference.

This means that something substantial has to be agreed upon at the first meeting.

This is important because, even if a stenographer from the Russian Foreign Office had been present to take down everything said at the Camp David conferences, there still would remain the big unanswered question of the age: Will Soviet Russia keep any written agreement it makes and can its government be trusted?

There wouldn't be any need of a "summit" conference or any other kind of meeting at high level if there were mutual trust between Moscow and Washington comparable to the mutual trust that prevails between London and Washington.

It seems a hard point to get over to the Russians but, if they ever made a substantial concession and showed evidence of keeping faith, it would do more to forward the cause of peace in Europe and elsewhere than all the publicity of a "summit" conference could ever accomplish.

THE QUESTION of reduction of armaments or limitation of the size of armed forces or the policing of areas in central Europe by troops other than those of the local government concerned would yield to easy solution if there were mutual trust.

Conversely, no plan, no matter how brilliantly balanced on paper to give the impression of fairness, will be of any avail so long as distrust persists.

The plain truth is that fear exists on both sides. The Soviets think Allied bases and armed forces near their territory threaten them and that a surprise attack can come at any time from the West.

Similarly, the West is convinced that the behavior of the Soviet armies in the countries they have conquered, including East Germany, is that of a ruthless aggressor with no consideration for the rights of their own peoples or other peoples.

Under such circumstances, the "cold war" cannot be ended by terms of virtual surrender which the Soviets continually insist upon. For, despite the talk of "flexibility" among Western chiefs — a good word to use in placating political opposition domestically — the true word is "firmness."

There is no intention on the part of the West to surrender to the Soviets and there is no trust placed in the Soviets. For, while they claim they didn't present an ultimatum to get Western troops out of Berlin in May, the impression still prevails that they thought they could negotiate with the West under duress.

That plan has failed and there is not the slightest indication that the West will accept any plan that recognizes the Soviet Union as the conquering ruler of West Berlin or of any other part of Europe outside its own borders.

Person To Person

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Roly-poly Premier Nikita Khrushchev has convinced President Eisenhower he must do business with Khrushchev himself if he want to have any worthwhile dealings with the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower acknowledged this Wednesday, thus making a summit conference pretty certain. The President went out of his way to say Khrushchev couldn't push him into a summit meeting. Nevertheless, that's about what it amounts to.

The Eisenhower acknowledgment also makes all the talk about how much importance the President placed on a foreign ministers meeting—before there could be any summit meeting — look pretty academic now.

The bald-headed Khrushchev used two main devices to push Eisenhower into a meeting.

1. He deliberately created the Berlin crisis by demanding the West get its troops out of West Berlin. Unless some peaceful solution was found through negotiation, a showdown looked sure and war possible.

2. He used speeches and even a mammoth news conference in Moscow to urge negotiation and get the idea across to Eisenhower that the only way to negotiate was with him personally.

In this he apparently got a big assist from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who, after talking with Khrushchev, reportedly came away convinced a summit meeting was the only answer. Then Macmillan came to see Eisenhower.

In the past Eisenhower's stock answer to Soviet proposals for a summit conference was that first the foreign ministers had to meet and show enough results to justify a meeting of the top men.

Eisenhower repeated this at his news conference Wednesday but the other things he said showed pretty clearly he was scaling down in his own mind the importance of what the foreign ministers could accomplish.

He was asked by a reporter: "How do you feel now about the argument that the only man in the Soviet Union you can do business with is Soviet Premier Khrushchev?"

Eisenhower replied: "Well, I think it is perfectly clear that he is the only man who has the . . . authority really to negotiate.

"If you have anyone else with whom you were negotiating, I think—except in detail, or method or procedure or agenda, things like that—I really believe that the only way that man could do anything would be to be on the telephone all the time with Moscow."

Here Eisenhower seemed to be saying plainly the most that could be expected from a foreign ministers meeting was arranging details for a summit meeting and that it couldn't be expected to reach agreement on issues.

For he went on: "So in effect you would be negotiating directly with Moscow. And I think that there is probably some validity to the argument that if you are really going to talk substantive measures, and hope to get some agreement . . . on both sides, that he (Khrushchev) has got to get into the picture."

Then, as if concerned anyone might think Khrushchev was forcing him into a summit meeting, Eisenhower added: "I want to make this very clear . . . this doesn't mean that anyone can command anybody else to come to a summit meeting, and you can't bluff them or blackmail them or anything else."

True, Khrushchev couldn't command Eisenhower to meet with him. But he's certainly pushed the President toward such a meeting. And the Berlin crisis he created and dangles over the head of the West is a kind of blackmail.

For what Khrushchev has said in effect is: Negotiate or face a showdown.

Deficit Psychology Is Turning Sour

U.S. representatives and senators are going to put their ears to the ground during the Easter holiday to listen to their constituents. This year, they should listen hard.

The deficit psychology that has been making it easy for Congress to give the people everything they were supposed to want is turning sour back at the grass roots.

If congressmen will listen hard in the right places they will hear people wondering if they ever said they wanted some of the things they are supposed to want.

They will hear their constituents asking questions about the financial integrity of public officials who put members of their own family on their payrolls to beef up the collective income at government expense.

They will hear their fellow citizens who are struggling against the April 15 income-tax deadline being angrily curious about the size and depth of the tax bite that is being taken out of their hides by local, state and federal government.

They will hear protests about federal spenders who insist, nevertheless, that not enough money is being spent; that the spending rate should be speeded up still more and the excess charged against the future.

THERE ARE PEOPLE back home, the congressmen will learn, who say that if the price tag were put on all so-called public benefits on a cash-and-carry basis some of the benefits never would be given a second thought.

And beyond these people there are others who say that everything should be put on a cash-and-carry basis, the way it is in most of the states, whose spenders must bite the bullet from year to year by taxing for what they propose to spend.

This, they contend, is the only way representative democracy can save itself from its built-in weakness, which is to spend and spend and elect and elect.

The question is whether congressmen when they go home for the holidays will do their listening in the right places, or better yet, in a cross-section of right places.

They would have to be deaf in 1959 not to hear a distant rumbling of dissatisfaction with the Spendocrat creed.

SPENDOCRATS profess to know what the people need and what the people want, and they intend to give it to them. Their aim in life is to make the American people happy, snug and secure in a federal featherbed stuffed with brand-new folding money — fresh off the presses.

But the fact is the Spendocrats never have held a referendum on the cost of their handouts; they are afraid to. They have concealed the bad news about the cost by talking only about the benefits.

It does not concern them that everybody must keep running faster and faster to stay where he is, because their policy cheapens the value of money. They argue that there is no other way to live the full and abundant life.

Back home, many Americans think the Spendocrats have holes in their heads.

Happy Easter, representatives and senators. Keep listening.

You Can Fill The Trough With Water

The mounting doubt about the American people's ability to back up their government in efforts to wind up World War II in Germany is a very real thing among those who deplore the width and depth of public ignorance.

Their misgivings have been confirmed by a survey reported in The New York Times showing that people are inclined to back up the Eisenhower administration on its handling of the Berlin crisis, though relatively few of them understand what the crisis is.

The Times, commenting on its own survey, says this kind of blind trust is dangerous. It suggests that newspapers, television and radio must not have done an adequate job of reporting the news about Berlin. "In a democracy," says The Times, "there is no public interest more important than the creation of an alert and well informed public opinion."

This problem was discussed in relation to the revolution in Cuba. In that instance, too, newspapers, radio and television were criticized for not creating a well informed public opinion. But in their own defense, they pointed out in rebuttal that they gave the public far more information than it was prepared to assimilate.

The problem is not lack of information but lack of interest. It is recalled in this connection that before World War II the coverage of Hitler and Mussolini, though extended, was largely ignored by the public, just as today the coverage of President Eisenhower's fight for a balanced budget is not eliciting the popular reaction that could make it a major public issue.

The media of communications can fill the trough of information but they cannot make the public drink news that is not in popular demand. The President can go on a nation-wide television hookup to talk about the Berlin crisis, but he cannot make his fellow citizens listen.

It is superficial criticism to point to the faults of communications media, extensive as the faults are. To reach the nub of the problem it is necessary to inquire into the popular state of mind about public questions — what is the underlying cause of the apathy that makes people unwilling to spare the time and effort to understand public questions.

Is there more apathy in the United States, for instance, than in Britain and France? Is there more than there would be in the Soviet Union if its people were permitted to read reports of current events and discussions of government policy?

That is questionable. What is called apathy in the United States may well be no more than inability to react strongly to every new crisis raised in an era of endless emergencies. A fireman does not grow excited every time there is a fire alarm. Perhaps Americans, who are learning the role of international firemen, are learning to take fire alarms in stride.

Harsh Words

"It's certainly run down and some sections remind me of the slums in many of our larger cities."

That was the reaction of a Utah resident toward East Liverpool when he stopped here this week to "gas up" at a local service station.

Conceding that he had time only for a quick look and missed some of our better features, his words were pretty much to the point. They have been expressed before—by local residents, by those in suburban areas and by others—but they have even a harsher note when they come from a complete stranger.

It needn't be that way. Now, more than ever before, we have an opportunity to make progress. We can't expect overnight miracles, however. It means a united effort; it means sacrifices, and it means a dedicated desire for improvement.

If we sincerely wish it, we could make the stranger from Utah eat his words.

What a great sense of satisfaction there could be if, when he returned to East Liverpool again, he should find it necessary to declare: "My you people must have become civic-minded and begun working toward a common goal. That rundown feeling I noted before has disappeared. It looks like you're really moving ahead now!"

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

I believe the need of the hour is not for atomic bombs but for atomic faith.

I believe that all the wisdom of all the scientists in the "fusion of elements" can accomplish nothing compared to what man can accomplish by a fusion of the Gospels and the Psalms.

I believe mankind is yearning for an end to guided missiles and a chance to put his faith in the "radioactivity" of the family altar, the church steeple and the dedicated home.

I believe in the "atomic" rosary beads, the "atomic" prayer book and the "atomic" thumb-worn family Bible.

I believe mankind will hear the only true "all clear" signals not from factory whistles and sirens but from belfries of church, synagogue and mosque.

It is my belief that it is not through the blinding glow of hydrogen bombs that man will end his worries but through a blinding glow of Faith, Hope and Charity.

I subscribe to these further beliefs:

That in this Easter season a baffled, harassed and fumbling mankind can see the way back to the right paths only through the "mystery weapon" of The Ten Commandments.

That on this Good Friday no utterances of public officials, statesmen and world leaders can be as important to mankind as the message available to millions through the reading of St. Matthew's story of Christ's suffering at Gethsemane and Golgotha. And that on Easter morning no speech, no paper, no conference announcement can move man more than the seven words, "He has risen. He is not here."

I believe that with civilization threatened as never before the answers are to be found in outstretched arms on a crucifix, the stone rolled away, the eyes of a child, the lights on the templed hills, old-fashioned family devotion and dedication to kindliness and peace.

WHO REMEMBERS JOE TRACY, who died the other day at 85 in a Long Island hospital? Well, he had been long in obscurity but there was a period when his name was world famous and the mention of him stirred the pulse. He was one of the daredevil racing drivers of the Vanderbilt Cup and Ormond Beach age, competing with all-time greats. Tracy drove a Peerless in numerous events and once piloted a long-forgotten car, the Locomobile, back in the days when it was a question whether the chain-driven or shaft-driven car would be adopted by the industry.

It seems to this department that most critics were much too rough on "First Impressions."

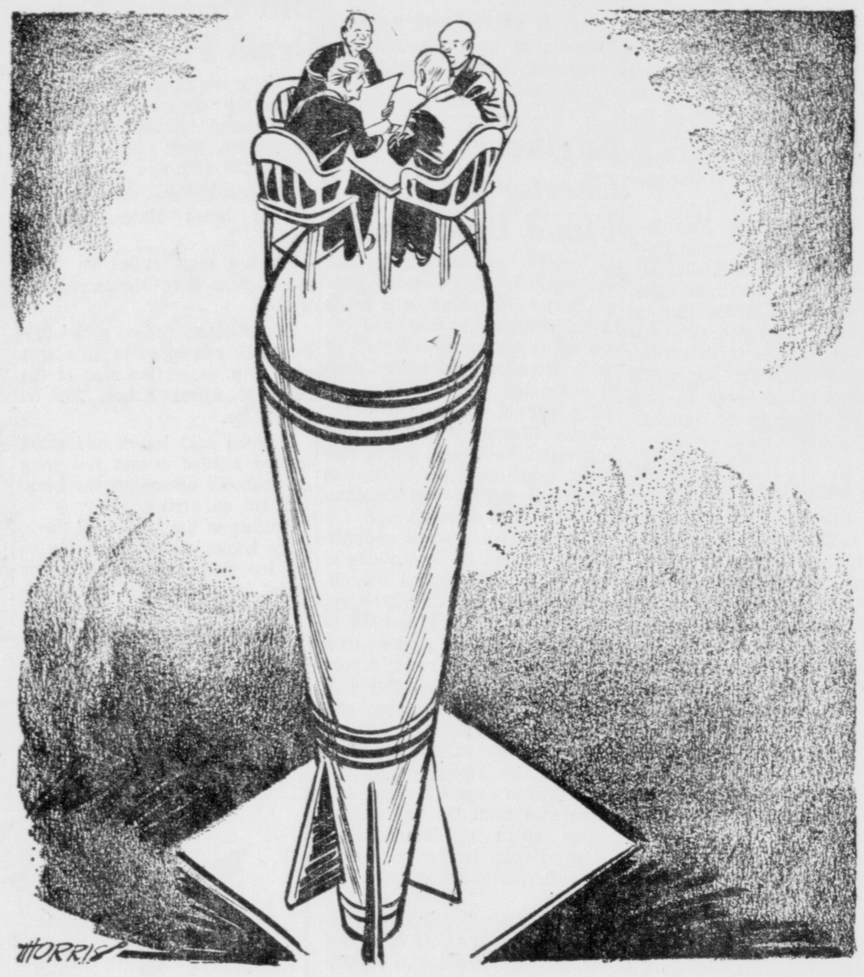
The Real Summit



Singer Heads Steel Union 'War'

By Victor Riesel

What Hollywood's Robert Montgomery is to Dwight Eisenhower, President of the United States, the singing cop Phil Regan, is to David McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, in a cold propaganda war which is absolutely expected to stop the pouring of hot steel for six weeks this summer.

Victor Riesel

Notice of Regan's great Irish tenor voice is not entertainment news for the moment. It's strike news. There was little doubt of that among some of us who spoke to that debonair "man of steel," David McDonald, the other day.

McDonald will send word along to those who make 85 per cent of America's steel that if there's no new contract by midnight June 30, there will be no steel poured by 12:01 the next morning.

No contract, no work. That was McDonald's word. There will be no postponement because of tension abroad — "because if there is a strike the industry will have forced us into it."

McDONALD KNOWS the country must be prepared for such a walkout of 500,000 men. And McDonald is a man of media — a mellifluous new man compared with the McDonald of old, newly certain of himself, newly using old John Lewis-ian barbs and theatrics.

Not the least of these is Phil Regan's voice — which is expected to sing the union's name and objectives into the hearts of over 100 million radio listeners these next few months.

This is being done with a daring expansion of radio time purchasing. Regan, who is the first entertainer to be sponsored "commercially" by a union, now sings and chatters his weekly union program over 500 stations reaching into every state. These are the first of what are expected to grow to 2,500 within a month or so.

The cost is negligible to the national office in Pittsburgh. The 15-minute programs of three songs, some gay lines and a two-minute trade union talk by McDonald are sponsored in each city by the locals there.

If the United Steelworkers tried to buy straight network time, it would cost millions. But with the locals — and there are 3,200 of them — sponsoring each show, the cost runs less than $50 a week in many areas.

THE REGIONAL locals coordinate their broadcasts. Jim Griffin, a delegate from Youngstown, O., to the wage and strategy parley here the other day told me how it works.

His local sets its broadcast for one part of the week, while nearby units use other days so the program appears to be blanketing the area daily. Thus it won't be missed by the dial turners who don't catch any one broadcast.

When the radio show is tied up with the vast newspaper advertising campaign, the nation is almost completely saturated.

The Steelworkers won't run out of money under any circumstance. The national office has some 35 million dollars in assets and the locals just about as much or a total of 70 million, McDonald told us.

What will they fight for? First, there'll be a great propaganda drive for the three - month - every-five years - in - addition - to - the-regular - annual - vacation plan, about which McDonald has talked so frequently.

What he hasn't revealed is that he expects to hit the big companies with a demand that they take the money for such vacations out of the huge workers' pension funds which the corporations administer.

McDonald expects to make quite an impact with the charge that one of the big steel outfits drew some 500 million dollars out of its pension fund to build one of its vast new automated works — and then repaid the fund. Point here is that there never really is a need for all the cash to be lying around.

SO WHY NOT use all this idle money to subsidize the three months vacation — as a sort of early installment plan payment on eventual retirement? There will be every other conceivable demand with the big play for more cash, high jobless benefits, aid to the 200,000 unemployed and a big new medical care plan.

Up to strike time, this will be a propaganda war. Phil Regan will sing and will see that McDonald gets before those TV cameras just right for the big push.

This is a new era on the industrial front — we've shifted from the muscle to the mind.

I find it annoying to see sidewalk litter being swept into the street, to blow around and make an eyesore. A century ago, people used to empty slops into the street, but we finally made them stop that nuisance.

I will bet the tough man to shave at a summit conference will be Charles de Gaulle, who will be having his first chance to do his strong man act in an international conference.

My favorite coming-to-work sight for a month has been a good-looking girl in a black sports car zooming in the opposite direction, obviously trying to beat a time clock.

Is there anything nicer to see than a pair of school kids strolling hand in hand when there's spring in the air? Yes. A pair of oldsters who still haven't forgotten how to hold hands when there's spring in the air.

I can do without television close-ups of lady singers that show the veins standing out in their necks when they go for high notes.

Sure enough, when I said here I was looking for an accommodating plumber to go with my accommodating furnace and pump men, a reader sent me the name of one. There was no blood relationship either.

People who know the characteristics of Irish setters agree these handsome red dogs ingratiate themselves by being alternately clownish and lubugriously solemn. No other dog is noted for this combination.

Everybody is taking a turn these days at guessing about the future of the auto industry. My favorite speculation is what will happen to the market for used big cars when potential buyers have the option of buying a new small car at the same price.

I am always astonished at the engineering perfection of a tooth and spend minutes studying each one of my own that has been pulled.

I have a pet theory, so far unverified, that evergreens continue to grow through the cold season and put on a burst of speed in springtime when new growth appears at the end of their branches.

Of all the tasty things that have been made available by mass producing and mass selling, nothing hits the spot like chilled tomato juice, which was not in the market until recent years.

I suspect when the history of our times is written, historians will be inclined to write glibly of the great tax shakeup that resulted when people were forced to concede they would have to pay for the facilities and services they demanded. From now on, taxes never will be any lower, just higher, because the demand for facilities and services cannot be headed off.

Letter To The Editor

In the interest of public information, I believe that it is important to refer to Mr. Winter's Letter To The Editor which was published Saturday, March 21.

In this letter, he stated that Council meetings on finances were held only on evenings when he and the president of the Trades and Labor Council could not attend.

The following letter was delivered by messenger to Mr. Winters Feb. 20. Quote:

"Mr. Joseph A. Winters
138½ W. 4th St.
East Liverpool, O.
Dear Joe:

Realizing that our last two financial meetings were held on evenings which were not suitable for you, I asked the members of Council to consider one more meeting of this type. They have agreed to do this.

If you will set one or two dates for next week which will be agreeable for you, I'll arrange a meeting for the Trades and Labor Council to discuss city finances informally with the City Council.

May I hear from you?"

Mr. Winters did not refer to this letter in his Letter To The Editor, nor did he answer it. The City Council will always meet with any interested group to discuss City Finances.

Frustrated Moscow

By David Lawrence

Russians Ponder Ike-Macmillan Talks

Everybody is happy, externally at least, over the Macmillan-Eisenhower talks — that is, everybody but Moscow. For, unfortunately for them, the Soviets haven't been told just what the British and American governments will agree to or what formula they would accept that could solve the Berlin question or anything else.

David Lawrence

Strange as it may seem to the Russians, the American and British officials do not feel that it is incumbent upon them to furnish Moscow with a transcript of what was said at Camp David.

So what has come out in the open can be regarded as just window-dressing for everybody on the Western side, though with respect to the Soviets, it becomes merely a demonstration of willingness to meet and negotiate.

The official Soviet news agency known as "Tass" naively laments that the Russians have not been let in on the secret conferences. A United Press International dispatch from Moscow says the Soviets have told their press that, while President Eisenhower under "the pressure of world public opinion" did agree tentatively to "summit" talks, he cold-shouldered Macmillan's plan for "balancing" military forces in Europe.

THE DISPATCH quotes "Tass" further as saying:

"Official statements by U.S. and British representatives show that the present talks have not led to the adoption of any definite decisions in almost all the remaining questions."

But no negotiator worth his salt would, in advance of a negotiation, shout from the housetops through the press of the world just what he is willing to accept. Obviously the Prime Minister of Britain and the President of the United States exchanged views and discussed hypothetically all sorts of plans and ideas.

The Moscow government may have the erroneous impression that the foreign ministers' conference at Geneva on May 11 is to be merely a perfunctory meeting to arrange the agenda for the "summit" conference in July or August, but the United States doesn't see it that way. Unless there is some real progress made at Geneva in May, it is just conceivable that there will be no "summit" conference.

This means that something substantial has to be agreed upon at the first meeting.

This is important because, even if a stenographer from the Russian Foreign Office had been present to take down everything said at the Camp David conferences, there still would remain the big unanswered question of the age: Will Soviet Russia keep any written agreement it makes and can its government be trusted?

There wouldn't be any need of a "summit" conference or any other kind of meeting at high level if there were mutual trust between Moscow and Washington comparable to the mutual trust that prevails between London and Washington.

It seems a hard point to get over to the Russians but, if they ever made a substantial concession and showed evidence of keeping faith, it would do more to forward the cause of peace in Europe and elsewhere than all the publicity of a "summit" conference could ever accomplish.

THE QUESTION of reduction of armaments or limitation of the size of armed forces or the policing of areas in central Europe by troops other than those of the local government concerned would yield to easy solution if there were mutual trust.

Conversely, no plan, no matter how brilliantly balanced on paper to give the impression of fairness, will be of any avail so long as distrust persists.

The plain truth is that fear exists on both sides. The Soviets think Allied bases and armed forces near their territory threaten them and that a surprise attack can come at any time from the West.

Similarly, the West is convinced that the behavior of the Soviet armies in the countries they have conquered, including East Germany, is that of a ruthless aggressor with no consideration for the rights of their own peoples or other peoples.

Under such circumstances, the "cold war" cannot be ended by terms of virtual surrender which the Soviets continually insist upon. For, despite the talk of "flexibility" among Western chiefs — a good word to use in placating political opposition domestically — the true word is "firmness."

There is no intention on the part of the West to surrender to the Soviets and there is no trust placed in the Soviets. For, while they claim they didn't present an ultimatum to get Western troops out of Berlin in May, the impression still prevails that they thought they could negotiate with the West under duress.

That plan has failed and there is not the slightest indication that the West will accept any plan that recognizes the Soviet Union as the conquering ruler of West Berlin or of any other part of Europe outside its own borders.

Person To Person

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Roly-poly Premier Nikita Khrushchev has convinced President Eisenhower he must do business with Khrushchev himself if he want to have any worthwhile dealings with the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower acknowledged this Wednesday, thus making a summit conference pretty certain. The President went out of his way to say Khrushchev couldn't push him into a summit meeting. Nevertheless, that's about what it amounts to.

The Eisenhower acknowledgment also makes all the talk about how much importance the President placed on a foreign ministers meeting—before there could be any summit meeting — look pretty academic now.

The bald-headed Khrushchev used two main devices to push Eisenhower into a meeting.

1. He deliberately created the Berlin crisis by demanding the West get its troops out of West Berlin. Unless some peaceful solution was found through negotiation, a showdown looked sure and war possible.

2. He used speeches and even a mammoth news conference in Moscow to urge negotiation and get the idea across to Eisenhower that the only way to negotiate was with him personally.

In this he apparently got a big assist from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who, after talking with Khrushchev, reportedly came away convinced a summit meeting was the only answer. Then Macmillan came to see Eisenhower.

In the past Eisenhower's stock answer to Soviet proposals for a summit conference was that first the foreign ministers had to meet and show enough results to justify a meeting of the top men.

Eisenhower repeated this at his news conference Wednesday but the other things he said showed pretty clearly he was scaling down in his own mind the importance of what the foreign ministers could accomplish.

He was asked by a reporter: "How do you feel now about the argument that the only man in the Soviet Union you can do business with is Soviet Premier Khrushchev?"

Eisenhower replied: "Well, I think it is perfectly clear that he is the only man who has the . . . authority really to negotiate.

"If you have anyone else with whom you were negotiating, I think—except in detail, or method or procedure or agenda, things like that—I really believe that the only way that man could do anything would be to be on the telephone all the time with Moscow."

Here Eisenhower seemed to be saying plainly the most that could be expected from a foreign ministers meeting was arranging details for a summit meeting and that it couldn't be expected to reach agreement on issues.

For he went on: "So in effect you would be negotiating directly with Moscow. And I think that there is probably some validity to the argument that if you are really going to talk substantive measures, and hope to get some agreement . . . on both sides, that he (Khrushchev) has got to get into the picture."

Then, as if concerned anyone might think Khrushchev was forcing him into a summit meeting, Eisenhower added: "I want to make this very clear . . . this doesn't mean that anyone can command anybody else to come to a summit meeting, and you can't bluff them or blackmail them or anything else."

True, Khrushchev couldn't command Eisenhower to meet with him. But he's certainly pushed the President toward such a meeting. And the Berlin crisis he created and dangles over the head of the West is a kind of blackmail.

For what Khrushchev has said in effect is: Negotiate or face a showdown.

Owner Of Apartment Denies 'Bugging' Of Tenant's Rooms

William W. Harper, Chester apartment owner and realtor, returned to the stand today in Hancock County Circuit Court at New Cumberland after testifying for nearly three hours Wednesday afternooon, twice denying a charge that he had "bugged" the apartment of a former tenant.

Harper is the defendant in a $50,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Adeline Roach, charging invasion of privacy.

The case entered its fifth day this morning with no indication when it might go to the jury. The West Virginia Supreme Court overruled Judge J. H. Brennan, who dismissed Mrs. Roach's petition a year ago, and ordered the case reheard.

In his testimony yesterday, the school teacher denied listening to any conversations in the apartment and replied "No" to a similar question from Atty. William Conklin, counsel for Mrs. Roach.

Harper explained how he installed thermostats and electrical receptables when the apartments were built in 1946 and said an intercall system was hooked up between his office and two adjoining stores "but seldom was used."

Harper testified that he removed plugs and face plates installed for the thermostats after tenants complained. The newer thermostats he installed did not require electrical receptacles, he said. A wire screen was placed over the holes in the walls left by the old equipment, Harper testified.

The alleged recording device in his office in reality was television equipment and wiring he used as secretary-treasurer of a television cable company, he testified.

Harper testified to his whereabouts the evening of Feb. 11, 1957, the night before Mrs. Roach claims she discovered the microphone in her apartment.

The defendant said his wife was entering the Women's Civic Club at their home and he took his youngest son to see an older son play basketball.

When they returned home, he chatted with his wife, ate a snack and went to bed, Harper said.

Other witnesses who testified yesterday were George Durbin, who operated a wallpaper store adjoining Harper's office; Harvey Pickens, president, and Harley Freeman, a partner, in the TV cable company; Mrs. Grace Keevert, Mrs. Harper, the Rev. Merrill E. Stone, former pastor of the Methodist Church where Harper is a member; Mrs. Josephine Temple, a former employe of the wallpaper store, who testified previously, and Miss Matilda Rutledge, a member of Mrs. Harper's club.

Mrs. Harper related details on the night of Feb. 11 and Miss Rutledge testified she attended the meeting in the Harper home and recalled seeing Harper when he returned.

Owner Of Apartment Denies 'Bugging' Of Tenant's Rooms

William W. Harper, Chester apartment owner and realtor, returned to the stand today in Hancock County Circuit Court at New Cumberland after testifying for nearly three hours Wednesday afternooon, twice denying a charge that he had "bugged" the apartment of a former tenant.

Harper is the defendant in a $50,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Adeline Roach, charging invasion of privacy.

The case entered its fifth day this morning with no indication when it might go to the jury. The West Virginia Supreme Court overruled Judge J. H. Brennan, who dismissed Mrs. Roach's petition a year ago, and ordered the case reheard.

In his testimony yesterday, the school teacher denied listening to any conversations in the apartment and replied "No" to a similar question from Atty. William Conklin, counsel for Mrs. Roach.

Harper explained how he installed thermostats and electrical receptables when the apartments were built in 1946 and said an intercall system was hooked up between his office and two adjoining stores "but seldom was used."

Harper testified that he removed plugs and face plates installed for the thermostats after tenants complained. The newer thermostats he installed did not require electrical receptacles, he said. A wire screen was placed over the holes in the walls left by the old equipment, Harper testified.

The alleged recording device in his office in reality was television equipment and wiring he used as secretary-treasurer of a television cable company, he testified.

Harper testified to his whereabouts the evening of Feb. 11, 1957, the night before Mrs. Roach claims she discovered the microphone in her apartment.

The defendant said his wife was entering the Women's Civic Club at their home and he took his youngest son to see an older son play basketball.

When they returned home, he chatted with his wife, ate a snack and went to bed, Harper said.

Other witnesses who testified yesterday were George Durbin, who operated a wallpaper store adjoining Harper's office; Harvey Pickens, president, and Harley Freeman, a partner, in the TV cable company; Mrs. Grace Keevert, Mrs. Harper, the Rev. Merrill E. Stone, former pastor of the Methodist Church where Harper is a member; Mrs. Josephine Temple, a former employe of the wallpaper store, who testified previously, and Miss Matilda Rutledge, a member of Mrs. Harper's club.

Mrs. Harper related details on the night of Feb. 11 and Miss Rutledge testified she attended the meeting in the Harper home and recalled seeing Harper when he returned.

DAUGHTER OF JAIRUS

"And, behold, there came a man named Jairus . . . and he fell down at Jesus' feet, and besought him that he would come into his house: For he had one only daughter . . . and she lay a dying."

—Luke 8:41, 42

Jairus, the ruler of a synagogue, was the father of this little girl, who was twelve years old. Because she was their only child, she was for both parents the most cherished thing in life.

But now she lay dying. Endless prayers had been said for her. People skilled in the use of herbs and medicines had been called in. But nothing seemed to help. She got no better.

Then Jairus remembered Jesus, the Galilean, who it was said had healed many sick people. Ordinarily Jairus, who was an important man at the temple, would not have consulted Jesus about anything. But for his beloved little daughter, he was willing to do anything that might save her life.

So he hurried off in person to find Jesus and to ask His help. When he came to the place where Jesus and His disciples were talking with the people, there was such a crowd around Him that Jairus had to fight his way through.

But when he reached the Master, he threw himself at Jesus' feet and begged Him to come to his house. Jesus agreed, but the multitude pressed around Him, asking questions and making requests. One woman who had been sick for many years, was healed at that moment merely by touching the hem of His robe.

As the group went towards Jairus' house, the ruler's servants came out to meet him with the news that his daughter had already died. But Jesus reassured the father who had so much faith, saying, "Fear not: believe only, and she shall be made whole."

When they arrived at the house, a great crowd of mourners jammed every room, making the loud noises of grief that were customary in those days.

Jesus put everyone out of the house, and took only Peter, James, and John into the room where the dead girl lay. Bending over her still, lifeless little body, He took her cold hand and called, "Maid, arise."

In the breathless moment of silence that followed, the warm, pulsing spirit of life came into her body again. Slowly her eyes opened and she smiled at the kind Stranger who stood beside her.

Jesus immediately called her parents and told them to give her something to eat. When they saw their child alive again, they were astonished. "But he charged them that they should tell no man what was done."

Precinct Workers To Attend

Voting Machine Training Planned

The County Election Board announced today schools of instruction for precinct workers will be held April 29 in the Courthouse at Lisbon and April 30 in the East Palestine city light and water office as a prelude to trial runs of voting machines in the two subdivisions at the May 5 primaries.

Precinct staffs will be urged to attend the schools as a means of familiarizing themselves with operation of the automatic balloting equipment, the board said. Because of the voting machine trial, precinct staffs have been reduced from 6 to 4, which will save $32 in payroll expense for each polling place, the board added.

A REPRESENTATIVE of the Shoup Voting Machine Co. of Canton, which will provide the machines on a rental basis and without interest charges, will join county election officials in the two schools. Each class will start at 8 p. m.

The Election Board emphasized today it has not recommended the purchase of voting machines and the county commissioners have not acquired the equipment. The machines will be rented at $91 a unit for each election.

The board said it recommended rental of the Shoup machines — which resemble a ballot—after a 10-year study of automatic equipment.

The four-member board — two Republicans and two Democrats —issued the following statement regarding trial of the voting machines:

"Columbiana County's Board of Elections has not recommended the purchase of voting machines and the Columbiana County commissioners have not acquired any voting machines.

"AFTER A thorough study of automatic balloting, we arranged for trial runs in East Palestine city and Lisbon village as a means of determining effectiveness of the equipment and whether the taxpayers are interested in it.

"As one Columbiana County newspaper commented editorially, trial runs of voting machines are merely a progressive step from the 'horse-and-buggy-days' of ballot counting and not infrequently a 16-to-20-hour work day for precinct judges and clerks.

"The plan is in keeping with Columbiana County's recognized efficiency and economy in election operations. We have been cited by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for speed, accuracy and general excellence in tabulating and reporting election returns. But this competition was against paper ballot counties — not counties in which voting machines are used.

"SOME 23 OHIO counties and 250 communities now use voting machines because the equipment is fool-proof and fraud-proof, permits speed and accuracy in voting and counting ballots and enables savings in election operating costs.

"Columbiana County sees no problem in transporting and storing the machines. In fact, we now must transport and store booths, ballot boxes, tables, chairs, etc. Booths and ballot boxes, which cost a total of $145 a precinct, are not needed when a precinct is mechanized.

"Insofar as possible, on-the-site storage is sought in voting machine counties. This would eliminate transportation and central storage to a great extent.

"For good business reasons, we have always carried insurance on precinct equipment. We also protect our precinct workers and the voters against accidents in the voting places, for which insurance premiums also must be paid.

—:—

"THE SIMPLICITY of operating voting machines appeals to the elector when he becomes familiar with the device.

"No county may use voting machines unless the equipment has been approved by the State Legislature and the secretary of state.

"Experience proves that an approved voting machine will permit 250 electors to vote, despite the usual lulls during polling hours. If a continuous march of electors were possible, a machine could handle as many as 400 votes.

"Automatic balloting equipment also eliminates the laborious ballot-by-ballot tabulation now required in paper ballot recounts. Recounts in voting machine precincts necessitate only a check of the mechanism and the precinct officials' records.

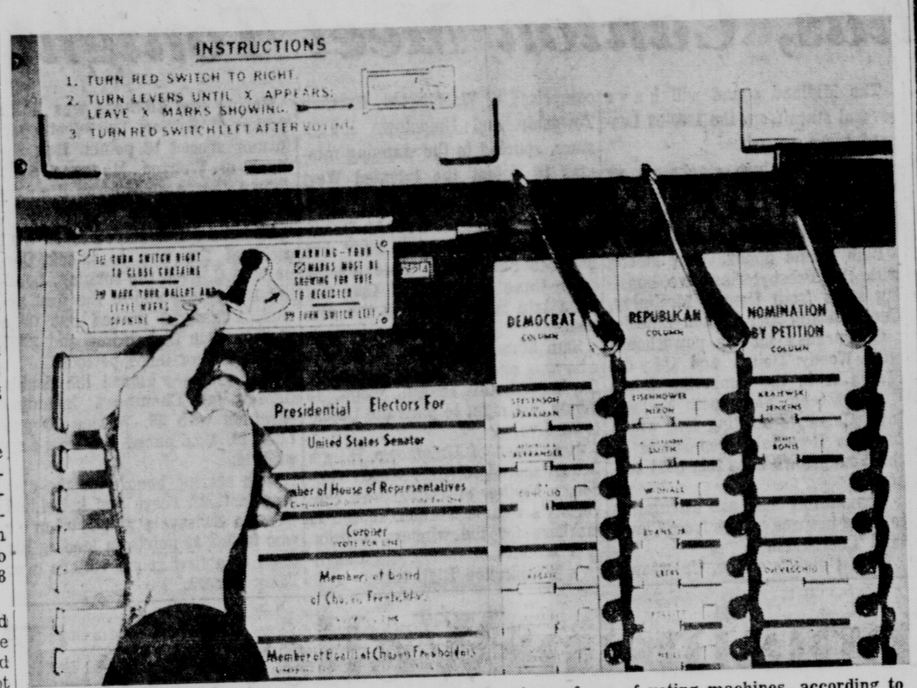
"THE MACHINES to be used in the Lisbon and East Palestine trial runs permit instantaneous tabulations. They are electrically or manually operated. The voter can easily correct his own mistakes.

"Space is provided for candidates' names and questions and issues. Write-in votes may be cast. There are no blank ballots. Results are quickly and permanently documented. There is an absolutely secret vote. The equipment is completely self-contained in a steel cabinet. It has a strong and rigid curtain rail and there is a visible count of voters."



IT'S SIMPLE, FAST. Speed of voting is the main advantage of use of voting machines, according to the Election Board. The voter registers his choice with a flip of the finger—after setting the proper ballot designations with the levers at top right. On entering the booth, the elector first turns the switch to the right. This closes the curtains, assures voting privacy and also activates the machine. The voter then turns switch to left to cast his ballot.

Osteopathic Hospital Buys Adjacent Property

A lot along W. 6th St. at Persimmon Alley has been purchased by the East Liverpool Osteopathic Hospital, but no immediate conversion to hospital use is planned, Dr. John W. Hayes of the hospital announced today.

The lot and two frame houses, adjacent to the hospital parking lot obtained about a year ago, was purchased this month from Mrs. Charles Kennedy of East Liverpool.

Dr. Hayes said that for the present, the hospital will retain the houses as rental property.

Semi-Final Spots Eyed In Junior Tourney

Gengarellas, Canton Meet Tonight

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

One team already has gained the semi-finals and the three other spots will be filled when action continues tonight in the 12th annual Nonpareil Junior tournament at Memorial Auditorium.

A strong Uniontown club, which stamped itself as one of the top contenders, advanced to the semi-finals by tripping the heavily-favored West Virginia All-Stars, 67-58, Wednesday night.

Uniontown drew a bye in the quarter-finals and will now await the semi-final round Saturday night.

In the two other battles last night, Chambers Co. (Bethel High School) advanced by downing Cornecki A.C., 53-47, and Swissvale eliminated Tasty Freeze, 75-54.

Three top games feature tonight's card with action getting underway at 7. Eason Insurance, featuring Aliquippa High School and Joe Maddrey, meets Chambers Co. in the opener. Maddrey was high point man in last year's tournament.

The Midland Legion, a team which has won the tournament more times than any other squad, takes the floor at 7:30 against Swissvale, which showed a well-precisioned team last night.

Here's Tonight's Slate For Nonpareil Tourney

Game No. 4

Game No. 5

7:30—Midland Legion vs. Swissvale

Game No. 6

9—Canton Presbyterian vs. Gengarellas

The Midland squad will have several stars from the 1958-59 Leopard team.

Tonight's feature stacks up as the best game of the tournament with Canton Presbyterian meeting Gengarellas in the finale at 9.

Both teams appear very strong with the Presbyterian five boasting stars from Canton McKinley, Canton South and Canton Lincoln.

Gengarellas show a powerhouse with Woody Deitch and Clyde Marks from the runnerup Salem Quakers team along with Youngstown Chaney's starting five which includes Ron Sabo, top scorer in the Youngstown area this past season.

Gengarellas also are attempting to bring in three cagers from Cleveland East Tech.

In last night's action, Uniontown, comprised of Washington, German Township and Uniontown High stars, spurted in the wanning minutes to defeat the talented West Virginia All-Stars.

Showing height and speed, Uniontown trailed at halftime, 28-27, but bounced back for a 49-45 margin after three periods and then put on a late rally to decide the contest.

Sam Sims, of German Township who was one of the top scorers in the WPIAL this season, hooped 18 points last night to pace the Uniontown five.

Jim Jones of Uniontown High School scored 15 while Woody Gordon, a brother of Youngstown University's Beanie Gordon, scored 12 markers for the winners. Gordon is a product of Coach Bill Laughlin's Washington High team.

Pacing the All-Stars was Willie Tucker of Weirton. The 6-foot-5 performer scored 16 points. Ron Rumora of Weirton Madonna and John Osborne of Martins Ferry tallied 12 apiece.

Chambers Co. stayed in front most of the way to knock Cornecki A.C. from the running. Leading 10-9 at the end of the first period, Chambers moved out to a 25-18 margin at halftime and 39-31 at the end of three periods.

Three cagers gained the double figures for Chambers, including Eisaman with 18, Watson 16 and Link 10. Cox paced the losers with 16.

High scoring honors for the evening in team score and individual went to Swissvale and Fulmer who tallied 22 points in leading his team to a first round victory over Tasty Freeze.

Swissvale led all the way as Zilko helped out in the scoring with 20 points and Byrmes added 18.

Jan Burke scored 15 to pace the local Tastee Freeze entry.

Four Teams Remain In Wellsville Tourney

Johnny's Lunch Upsets Welcome

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

A lone area team remains in the running for the championship of the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce basketball tournament after some hectic and surprising victories in the quarter-finals Wednesday night at Beacom Memorial Gym.

The original 30-team field was reduced to only four that will struggle for survival in the semi-finals tonight beginning at 7 p. m.

A shocking defeat of Welcome Cafe's Geneva College squad by an unexpectedly strong Johnny's Lunch five last night left the tourney without a favorite.

Welcome Cafe, with Geneva's Little American Don Schena in the fold, was expected to advance to the finals but was sidelined by Johnny's Lunch, 40-35.

Johnny's Lunch, led by towering 6-6 Gus Johnson of Akron Central High School fame, and Ron Brown of Kent State, will meet Maple Lane of Steubenville in tonight's semi-final opener.

Chuck Kennedy's, the single local squad still in the running for the crown, passed two stern tests last night as expected and battles Radio WMOD of Moundsville in tonight's second game at 9.

Tonight's pair of winners will advance to the finals Saturday night, with the losers to meet in a consolation. Sandwiched in between Saturday's tilts will be an appearance of the Dover Basketeers, rapidly becoming popular for their Globetrotter styled antics.

The tournament will recess action on Good Friday with no games scheduled.

Along with Welcome Cafe, another classy entry was stunned when Pangrazios Pizza Shop of Dennison was nipped by Cravat Coal, 49-48.

The defeat of the Pizza Shop squad removed a little lustre from the tournament as Terry Deens, 6-5 pivot star of Wittenberg College, had proved to be a real "crowd pleaser."

However, Johnny's Lunch and the rangy Johnson kept onlookers buzzing last night during their smashing victory over Welcome Cafe.

Johnson and Brown, along with Ray Dennis and Bill Thomas of Kent State University, proved more than a match for the experienced cafe squad which usually plays under the banner of Midland USW.

Should Johnny's Lunch and Chuck Kennedy's both capture semi-final victories tonight, a real battle shapes up for the finals Saturday and will have a local interest also.

Kennedy's entry, bolstered last night by John Riser of Pitt fame, tripped up Bayless Gas, 59-57, and then whipped Grafton Motors in the midnight finale by 53-34.

All-Ohio Woody Deitch of Salem High School led the gas entry with 10 points. Riser, John Dromboski and Frank Chan did most of the scoring for the winners.

Thus far, Tom Yancy, southpaw sharpshooter of Welcome Cafe, has an inside track for the honor of scoring the most points in one game. Yancy hit 41 earlier in the week. His team shows a 32-8 record this season including the loss to Johnny's Lunch.

In only the second overtime fray of the tournament, Maple Lane dumped American Billiards-Alex's Carryout, 29-28, to vault into the semi-finals. The regulation game ended in a 27-27 deadlock but Maple Lane triumphed on a foul shot. Bill Thornberry led the losers with 11 points.

Grafton Motors victimized Burton Ford before bowing out of action. The motor team defeated Burton Ford, 52-49, in one of several close games. Ron Riggleman and Larry McGrath of Toronto led Grafton's with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Regulation games will be played both tonight and Saturday instead of abbreviated quarters, the JC organization announced. Fifty-four trophies for outstanding performances by individuals, plus championship and consolation awards, will be presented Saturday at the tourney's conclusion.

British Officials Frown At Title Go

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Britain's biggest boxing row in years flared today with a British heavyweight hurling defiance at officials who forbade him to fight America's world heavyweight king Floyd Patterson.

The country's boxing bosses—the British Board of Boxing Control—banned Brian London from meeting Patterson for the world title in Las Vegas, Nev., April 21.

They claimed the bout would not be in the best interests of British boxing.

London promptly announced he would go ahead with the bout anyway.

"I've got a big pay day coming $75,000 and a chance to win the world title," the pugnacious, 24-year-old Briton said. "I'll risk suspension at home for that."

U.S. boxing bigwigs appeared ready to go along with London, although their statements were cautions.

Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the National Boxing Assn., said: "The NBA will recognize any logical contender."

The controversy stems from London's last fight, against Henry Cooper.

Cooper used a jabbing left to take away London's British title. London was made to look like a novice as he plodded smack into the nagging lefts of Cooper.

Experts argue Cooper should be the man tackling Patterson but Cooper lost his chance by asking for too much money—$140,000.

Billy Bruton Bounced Back On '58 Season

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A year ago Billy Bruton stood on the porch of the Milwaukee Braves' clubhouse here, wondering if he'd be able to play again.

Now the lean outfielder sat on that same porch, relaxing with a cigarette and talking of last season, when he bounced back from injury to become a World Series hero.

A year ago he was hobbled by a bad right knee, still weak from an operation to patch up the damage of a fielding crash with Felix Mantilla in midseason of 1957.

The operation — in which a torn ligament was stretched back into place and left to grow back on the bone naturally — was performed in October 1957, while the Braves were winning the World Series from the New York Yankees. Bruton had been on the disabled list since July.

In March, a year ago, Bruton showed up for spring practice, limited to running. He could run only in a straight line, no pivoting, no cutting.

"I finally was able to bat again in April. I played my first game late in May. But after playing four or five I had to sit out a few to rest the knee. It wasn't until August that I really felt sound again."

The slim, 6-footer, now 29, says the leg gave him some trouble in the outfield.

But he led both clubs with a .412 average as the Yankees beat the Braves in last fall's World Series.

Gus Zernial of Detroit won the American League pinch-hitting title last year with a .395 average in 38 trips to the plate.

AS WAS EXPECTED, the American League race wound up in a tie for third-round honors and a playoff has been arranged for Sunday, April 5.

Duquesne Beer lost two of three games and Iron City Beer won two of three on the final night to finish in a 26-26 deadlock.

Dan-D-Bar, which was in the race all the way, dropped the two games to Iron City and lost its chance to capture the round.

Eastern Play Even Between Nats, Celtics

By The Associated Press

Attention in the National Basketball Assn's division playoffs swings back to the West tonight as Minneapolis entertains St. Louis in an attempt to square their series at two games apiece.

The East, its timetable a day ahead, already is even at 2-2 after Syracuse's 119-107 victory over the Boston Celtics Wednesday night. It was the seventh time in seven games that the home team had won.

If there's a break in the pattern coming, however, it may come tonight — now that St. Louis' one-two punch of Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan seems back in operation. Pettit, after two so-so games, broke out with 39 points in St. Louis' victory over Minneapolis at St. Louis Tuesday night — more like it for the league's scoring champion.

With Hagan, who has hit at a 32-point pace in the three games, the pair have accounted for about half the St. Louis points.

In the last game, Minneapolis' Elgin Baylor was limited to only three points in the first half and 15 for the game.

Boston and Syracuse will rest until Saturday afternoon.

Balanced scoring did the job for Syracuse, with Dolph Schayes scoring 28 points, Larry Costello 26, Hal Greer 21, and George Yardley 18. The Celts' Frank Ramsey scored 29 points.

Scoring in the National Basketball Assn. increased only 1.6 points per game this season, compared with a 7-point increase a year ago.

Semi-Final Spots Eyed In Junior Tourney

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

One team already has gained the semi-finals and the three other spots will be filled when action continues tonight in the 12th annual Nonpareil Junior tournament at Memorial Auditorium.

A strong Uniontown club, which stamped itself as one of the top contenders, advanced to the semi-finals by tripping the heavily-favored West Virginia All-Stars, 67-58, Wednesday night.

Uniontown drew a bye in the quarter-finals and will now await the semi-final round Saturday night.

In the two other battles last night, Chambers Co. (Bethel High School) advanced by downing Cornecki A.C., 53-47, and Swissvale eliminated Tasty Freeze, 75-54.

Three top games feature tonight's card with action getting underway at 7. Eason Insurance, featuring Aliquippa High School and Joe Maddrey, meets Chambers Co. in the opener. Maddrey was high point man in last year's tournament.

The Midland Legion, a team which has won the tournament more times than any other squad, takes the floor at 7:30 against Swissvale, which showed a well-precisioned team last night.

The Midland squad will have several stars from the 1958-59 Leopard team.

Tonight's feature stacks up as the best game of the tournament with Canton Presbyterian meeting Gengarellas in the finale at 9.

Both teams appear very strong with the Presbyterian five boasting stars from Canton McKinley, Canton South and Canton Lincoln.

Gengarellas show a powerhouse with Woody Deitch and Clyde Marks from the runnerup Salem Quakers team along with Youngstown Chaney's starting five which includes Ron Sabo, top scorer in the Youngstown area this past season.

Gengarellas also are attempting to bring in three cagers from Cleveland East Tech.

In last night's action, Uniontown, comprised of Washington, German Township and Uniontown High stars, spurted in the wanning minutes to defeat the talented West Virginia All-Stars.

Showing height and speed, Uniontown trailed at halftime, 28-27, but bounced back for a 49-45 margin after three periods and then put on a late rally to decide the contest.

Sam Sims, of German Township who was one of the top scorers in the WPIAL this season, hooped 18 points last night to pace the Uniontown five.

Jim Jones of Uniontown High School scored 15 while Woody Gordon, a brother of Youngstown University's Beanie Gordon, scored 12 markers for the winners. Gordon is a product of Coach Bill Laughlin's Washington High team.

Pacing the All-Stars was Willie Tucker of Weirton. The 6-foot-5 performer scored 16 points. Ron Rumora of Weirton Madonna and John Osborne of Martins Ferry tallied 12 apiece.

Chambers Co. stayed in front most of the way to knock Cornecki A.C. from the running. Leading 10-9 at the end of the first period, Chambers moved out to a 25-18 margin at halftime and 39-31 at the end of three periods.

Three cagers gained the double figures for Chambers, including Eisaman with 18, Watson 16 and Link 10. Cox paced the losers with 16.

High scoring honors for the evening in team score and individual went to Swissvale and Fulmer who tallied 22 points in leading his team to a first round victory over Tasty Freeze.

Swissvale led all the way as Zilko helped out in the scoring with 20 points and Byrmes added 18.

Jan Burke scored 15 to pace the local Tastee Freeze entry.

Four Teams Remain In Wellsville Tourney

Johnny's Lunch Upsets Welcome

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

A lone area team remains in the running for the championship of the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce basketball tournament after some hectic and surprising victories in the quarter-finals Wednesday night at Beacom Memorial Gym.

The original 30-team field was reduced to only four that will struggle for survival in the semi-finals tonight beginning at 7 p. m.

A shocking defeat of Welcome Cafe's Geneva College squad by an unexpectedly strong Johnny's Lunch five last night left the tourney without a favorite.

Welcome Cafe, with Geneva's Little American Don Schena in the fold, was expected to advance to the finals but was sidelined by Johnny's Lunch, 40-35.

Johnny's Lunch, led by towering 6-6 Gus Johnson of Akron Central High School fame, and Ron Brown of Kent State, will meet Maple Lane of Steubenville in tonight's semi-final opener.

Chuck Kennedy's, the single local squad still in the running for the crown, passed two stern tests last night as expected and battles Radio WMOD of Moundsville in tonight's second game at 9.

Tonight's pair of winners will advance to the finals Saturday night, with the losers to meet in a consolation. Sandwiched in between Saturday's tilts will be an appearance of the Dover Basketeers, rapidly becoming popular for their Globetrotter styled antics.

The tournament will recess action on Good Friday with no games scheduled.

Along with Welcome Cafe, another classy entry was stunned when Pangrazios Pizza Shop of Dennison was nipped by Cravat Coal, 49-48.

The defeat of the Pizza Shop squad removed a little lustre from the tournament as Terry Deens, 6-5 pivot star of Wittenberg College, had proved to be a real "crowd pleaser."

However, Johnny's Lunch and the rangy Johnson kept onlookers buzzing last night during their smashing victory over Welcome Cafe.

Johnson and Brown, along with Ray Dennis and Bill Thomas of Kent State University, proved more than a match for the experienced cafe squad which usually plays under the banner of Midland USW.

Should Johnny's Lunch and Chuck Kennedy's both capture semi-final victories tonight, a real battle shapes up for the finals Saturday and will have a local interest also.

Kennedy's entry, bolstered last night by John Riser of Pitt fame, tripped up Bayless Gas, 59-57, and then whipped Grafton Motors in the midnight finale by 53-34.

All-Ohio Woody Deitch of Salem High School led the gas entry with 10 points. Riser, John Dromboski and Frank Chan did most of the scoring for the winners.

Thus far, Tom Yancy, southpaw sharpshooter of Welcome Cafe, has an inside track for the honor of scoring the most points in one game. Yancy hit 41 earlier in the week. His team shows a 32-8 record this season including the loss to Johnny's Lunch.

In only the second overtime fray of the tournament, Maple Lane dumped American Billiards-Alex's Carryout, 29-28, to vault into the semi-finals. The regulation game ended in a 27-27 deadlock but Maple Lane triumphed on a foul shot. Bill Thornberry led the losers with 11 points.

Grafton Motors victimized Burton Ford before bowing out of action. The motor team defeated Burton Ford, 52-49, in one of several close games. Ron Riggleman and Larry McGrath of Toronto led Grafton's with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Regulation games will be played both tonight and Saturday instead of abbreviated quarters, the JC organization announced. Fifty-four trophies for outstanding performances by individuals, plus championship and consolation awards, will be presented Saturday at the tourney's conclusion.

Billy Bruton Bounced Back On '58 Season

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A year ago Billy Bruton stood on the porch of the Milwaukee Braves' clubhouse here, wondering if he'd be able to play again.

Now the lean outfielder sat on that same porch, relaxing with a cigarette and talking of last season, when he bounced back from injury to become a World Series hero.

A year ago he was hobbled by a bad right knee, still weak from an operation to patch up the damage of a fielding crash with Felix Mantilla in midseason of 1957.

The operation — in which a torn ligament was stretched back into place and left to grow back on the bone naturally — was performed in October 1957, while the Braves were winning the World Series from the New York Yankees. Bruton had been on the disabled list since July.

In March, a year ago, Bruton showed up for spring practice, limited to running. He could run only in a straight line, no pivoting, no cutting.

"I finally was able to bat again in April. I played my first game late in May. But after playing four or five I had to sit out a few to rest the knee. It wasn't until August that I really felt sound again."

The slim, 6-footer, now 29, says the leg gave him some trouble in the outfield.

But he led both clubs with a .412 average as the Yankees beat the Braves in last fall's World Series.

Gus Zernial of Detroit won the American League pinch-hitting title last year with a .395 average in 38 trips to the plate.

British Officials Frown At Title Go

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Britain's biggest boxing row in years flared today with a British heavyweight hurling defiance at officials who forbade him to fight America's world heavyweight king Floyd Patterson.

The country's boxing bosses—the British Board of Boxing Control—banned Brian London from meeting Patterson for the world title in Las Vegas, Nev., April 21.

They claimed the bout would not be in the best interests of British boxing.

London promptly announced he would go ahead with the bout anyway.

"I've got a big pay day coming $75,000 and a chance to win the world title," the pugnacious, 24-year-old Briton said. "I'll risk suspension at home for that."

U.S. boxing bigwigs appeared ready to go along with London, although their statements were cautions.

Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the National Boxing Assn., said: "The NBA will recognize any logical contender."

The controversy stems from London's last fight, against Henry Cooper.

Cooper used a jabbing left to take away London's British title. London was made to look like a novice as he plodded smack into the nagging lefts of Cooper.

Experts argue Cooper should be the man tackling Patterson but Cooper lost his chance by asking for too much money—$140,000.

Eastern Play Even Between Nats, Celtics

By The Associated Press

Attention in the National Basketball Assn's division playoffs swings back to the West tonight as Minneapolis entertains St. Louis in an attempt to square their series at two games apiece.

The East, its timetable a day ahead, already is even at 2-2 after Syracuse's 119-107 victory over the Boston Celtics Wednesday night. It was the seventh time in seven games that the home team had won.

If there's a break in the pattern coming, however, it may come tonight — now that St. Louis' one-two punch of Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan seems back in operation.

Pettit, after two so-so games, broke out with 39 points in St. Louis' victory over Minneapolis at St. Louis Tuesday night — more like it for the league's scoring champion.

With Hagan, who has hit at a 32-point pace in the three games, the pair have accounted for about half the St. Louis points.

In the last game, Minneapolis' Elgin Baylor was limited to only three points in the first half and 15 for the game.

Boston and Syracuse will rest until Saturday afternoon.

Balanced scoring did the job for Syracuse, with Dolph Schayes scoring 28 points, Larry Costello 26, Hal Greer 21, and George Yardley 18. The Celts' Frank Ramsey scored 29 points.

Scoring in the National Basketball Assn. increased only 1.6 points per game this season, compared with a 7-point increase a year ago.

Sad Sam Jones Traded To San Francisco In 4 Player Swap

Cards Acquire Jablonski And White In Deal

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Who got the better of the St. Louis Cardinals — San Francisco Giants deal?

Only time will tell, of course, but most expert opinion in these parts today was that the trade made the Giants a definite threat for the National League pennant and materially weakened the Cards.

The deal was completed Wednesday. It was a straight player transaction sending righthanded pitcher Sam (Toothpick) Jones to the Giants in exchange for first baseman-outfielder Bill White, third baseman Ray Jablonski and Don Choate, a righthanded pitcher on the roster of the Cards' Omaha farm team.

"Jones could win 20 for a club with power like the Giants," Card Manager Solly Hemus admitted. "But we had to get some punch into our lineup and this was our chance."

Giants' Manager Bill Rigney said in Phoenix that this was the most important deal of the club since they acquired pitcher Johnny Antonelli in 1954.

"The addition of Jones makes our front-line pitching solid and our second line deeper," said Rigney. "He'll be a starter. This guy can strike someone out."

Jones was the leading pitcher on the Cards last year, compiling a 14-13 record. His 225 strikeouts led the league, and his earned run average of 2.88 was second only to Stu Miller of the Giants.

The Giants gave up White, a .241 hitter last year after returning from the Army, and Jablonski, who hit .230 in '58. White, who is 25, was in only 29 games last year.

Jablonski, not much of a fielder, is 33.

So in the final analysis, the Giants gave up two players who didn't figure much in their plans for a pitcher who could help them win the pennant. The Cards, for their part, took a long gamble, perhaps a desperate one, to try to get some power in their lineup.

Committee To Push Bill For Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP) — House backers of business law exemptions for baseball and other sports will try for a home run this year.

To avoid being left in a committee room, they will attempt to send their bill straight to the full House.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) provided a clue to the strategy today.

"I don't think hearings are necessary," Walter said. "The bill that passed the House last session adequately and fairly and equitable deals with the whole matter."

Walter referred to a measure which proposed clearcut exemptions from the antitrust laws for contract reserve clauses, trades, territorial and broadcast rights and other practices of professional team sports. The House passed the bill, but it never emerged from the Senate Antitrust subcommittee.

West Defeats East, 80-68, In All-Star Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — "I don't want any deliberate fouling, but I want you to be tough under the backboards — especially on defense."

That was the pep talk given by Coach Hank Iba to his West players before they whipped the East 80-68 in a college all-star basketball game Wednesday night.

"In all-star games such as this," the veteran Oklahoma State coach said, "I've noticed that the first 10 minutes are extremely important. If you show the other fellow who's boss early in the game, you may shake him up enough to influence the decision."

The East squad under Coach Bud Millikan of Maryland boasted five of the nation's 16 leading rebounders — although both 10-player teams average about 6-foot-5.

But the West took charge early as Iba suggested, limiting the East to one or two shots on most sortees down the court.

The West zoomed into a 22-9 lead in the first seven minutes, paced by Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame, All-America Bob Boozer of Kansas State and Northwestern's Joe Ruklick.

The East rallied under Lou Pucillo of N. C. State and Alan Seiden of St. John's N.Y., cutting the deficit to 49-38 by halftime and to 57-53 with 12 minutes remaining in the game.

Then the East comeback fizzled under closer guarding by the West.

Hawkins led both teams with 18 points and was voted the West's most valuable player by the press. Boozer had 16 points and Ruklick 13.

All America Bailey Howell of Mississippi State topped the East with 15, following by Seiden and Cal Ramsey of NYU with 12 apiece. The team's most valuable player award went to Pucillo, who pleased the crowd with his passes and ballhandling.

Archie Moore To Battle Durelle Again July 15

MONTREAL (AP) — Ol' Archie Moore still wants to fight Sugar Ray Robinson but he's signed for a rematch of his exciting light heavyweight title bout with Yvon Durelle because "a bird in the hand is worth 20 in the bush."

"My ultimate aim is to fight Robinson," said Moore after his agreement to the Durelle rematch was announced by promoter Eddie Quinn. "The only thing is Robinson (the middleweight champion) did all the negotiating. I didn't do any and I didn't authorize anyone to negotiate for me. A bird in the hand is worth 20 in the bush."

Quinn, who promoted the thrilling first Moore-Durelle tussle last Dec. 10 in the Montreal Forum, said the rematch would be held July 15 in the Montreal Royals' baseball park, which seats about 28,000 for boxing. The bout will be televised nationally in the United States by ABC as part of its Wednesday night series.

Moore reportedly has been guaranteed $175,000 or 40 per cent of the gate estimated at $200,000 plus an expected additional $100,00 from television and radio fees. Durelle has been guaranteed 15,000 or 20 per cent.

Moore was floored four times before rallying to stop Durelle, of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in the 11th round of the first bout. His sensational victory won Archie the Edward J. Neil award as fighter of the year and the National Boxing Assn.'s boxer of the year honor. Ring Magazine named it the top fight of the year.

"If Archie wins this one," his manager, Doc Kearns, said, "He may fight Robsinson in September."

Palmer Tops Pro-Amateur

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The touring golf pros headed north today, some to Wilmington, N.C., for a tournament there and others to Augusta, Ga., to prepare for the Masters.

They closed out their Florida tour Wednesday in the 36-hole Seminole pro - amateur. Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., was the big winner at $2,150.

Palmer had a 70 to go with his first-round 71 and split $1,800 with Mike Souchak of Grossingers, N.Y., who had 72 - 69—141. But Souchak finished out of the money in the best-ball competition while Palmer picked up $1,250.

Palmer's amateur partners were Arthur O. Willman of Boston and Kenneth Rich of Dallas, Tex. The Palmer-Wellman duo had a best ball score of 66 - 61 — 127. Palmer's score with Rich was 64-65—129.

Ben Hogan, the veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., staged a brilliant comeback with a five under par 67 on closing day and picked up $550.

Pitching Again Proves No. 1 Problem Of Reds

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) —The Cincinnati Reds are being tabbed as the dark horse of the National League but that is bringing little solace to Manager Mayo Smith and General Manager Gabe Paul. They realize that if something isn't done soon about the plight of their pitching staff, the Reds will be fortunate to finish in the first division.

Ask Smith to evaluate his club and he gives you several stock replies. He leaves it up to you to interpret them.

"It's hard to say whether the club is good, mediocre or bad at this point because we don't know about the pitching. . .

"Our pitching is the key. How far we go depends upon that. . .

The truth of the matter is that Mayo is worried about his pitching, or lack of it. He has four veteran starters in Bob Purkey (17-11), Don Newcombe (7-13), Brooks Lawrence (8-13) and southpaw Joe Nuxhall (12-11). He has a couple of good looking youngsters in lefty Jimmy O'Toole and righty Orlando Pena.

O'Toole, a 20-game winner at Nashville, is the big hope. But Smith is afraid of the pressure.

The way the staff shapes up, Pena and Hal Jeffcoat will be the end relief men, Tom Acker and Willard Schmidt will be the middle men and Bob Mabe may win the No. 5 starting role.

Cincinnati has a balance of power, achieved mainly by the acquisition of right-handed hitting slugger Frank Thomas from Pittsburgh. The Reds' batting order lists left-handers Gus Bell, Vada Pinson, Jerry Lynch in the outfield and Ed Bailey behind the plate; with righthanders Frank Robinson at first, Johnny Temple at second, Roy McMillan at short and Thomas at third.

The suspicion is that Thomas, a mediocre third baseman but a good outfielder, will be switched to left field with Bell either peddled to another club or cast in a utility role. In that event, Eddie Kasko, an infield handyman, would take over at third base.

"We should score some runs," said Smith, "but sometimes it can be a case of feast or famine. What we're striving for is steady pitching and good balance. So far, it's not good, not bad, just in between."

Reds Win, Pirates Lose

Cubs' Rookie Looks Sharp In 6-3 Win Over Indians

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs seem to have turned up a good pitcher in a rawboned right-hander, Bob Anderson.

He went nine innings when he whipped San Francisco on a strong four-hitter last Friday and came back Wednesday with a fine seven-inning performance.

The 6-4, 200-pound Anderson permitted only two earned runs and six hits before giving way to fellow rookie Johnny Buzhardt, who nailed down the Cubs' 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians at Tucson.

He has the big strikeout pitch. In 127 innings at Fort Worth in the Texas League last year he fanned 121. He worked 66 innings for the Cubs in his late trial and whiffed 51.

The Cub power helped him much Wednesday as Lee Walls, Earl Averill and Bobby Thomson chipped in with home runs off Cleveland loser Dick Stigman.

San Francisco celebrated the acquisition of Sad (Sam) Jones from St. Louis with a 9-4 victory over Boston at Scottsdale, Ariz., and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 4-1 at Tampa, Philadelphia edged Detroit 4-3 at Lakeland, Milwaukee bombed Los Angeles 8-4 at Vero Beach, the Chicago White Sox toppled Pittsburgh 4-2 at Fort Myers, Washington downed Baltimore 5-1 at Orlando, and Kansas City edged New York 3-2 at West Palm Beach.

The Giants, who gave up Bill White and Ray Jablonski to get Jones, clubbed Red Sox ace Tommy Brewer for 10 hits and 8 runs in 7 innings—handing Boston its fifth straight loss. Giants' ace Johnny Antonelli worked five innings, allowing only two hits.

Frank Robinson's fourth homer of the spring and a five-hitter by route-going Orlando Pena enabled the Reds to break a seven-game losing streak, and a three-run rally against Jim Bunning won for the Phils over Detroit.

New York Boxers Win Second Straight Golden Glove Title

CHICAGO (AP) — New York won an unprecedented second straight intercity Golden Gloves team title over Chicago Wednesday night, but the individual spotlight was turned on the Windy City's Cassius Clay.

Clay, a 17-year-old high school student from Louisville, Ky., proved he was quite advanced for his age as a sharp counter puncher in taking a three-round decision over New York's lightheavyweight Tony Madigan.

Madigan, at 29, is a rough, mauling type of fighter who hails from Sydney, Australia. He is the Aussie amateur champ as well as the British Empire's and had lost only 5 of 99 bouts before running into Clay.

Madigan, who now lives in Rye, N.Y., pressed the fight all the way, but Clay's pointed combinations kept rocking him.

The Chicago Stadium crowd of 7,261 gave the battle a fine ovation. It was one of three televised nationally.

New York took the other two TV bouts in piling up a 10-6 triumph over Chicago. New York won last year 12-4. Chicago, however, still leads the rivalry 15-9 with 8 draws.

In other TV bouts, New York's Angel Morales, 19, defeated Gil Yanez, Toledo high school graduate, in the 112-pound division, and the Easterner's Ossie Marcano, 21-year-old shipping clerk, flashed too much punching power for Don Sargent, Minneapolis truck driver, to win the welterweight crown.

New York won both the alternate and championship divisions in the show's closing heavyweight bouts to cinch the team title.

One point is awarded for each victory in the 16-fight program.

Reds Snap Losing Streak As Pena Hurls 5-Hitter

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The first taste of victory after a seven-day diet of defeat, still lingered with the Cincinnati Redlegs today — thanks to a sterling five - hit, nine-inning hurling stint in Tampa by Orlando Pena in downing St. Louis 4-1.

Pena, a skinny right - handed Cuban, thus became the first Redleg hurler to go to the distance this spring. He could well be the bellcow of the pitching staff the Reds have been looking for.

Wednesday's appearance was Pena's fourth of the exhibition season. In 26 innings he has given up only five runs, one unearned, on 21 hits, while fanning 13 and walking but five.

However, the condition - wise Pena is further advanced than most of the players at spring training, having worked in some 25 games in the Cuban League during the winter.

Mel Harder Says Indians' Pitching Getting 'Sharper'

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland pitching coach Mel Harder says the Indians' pitching is "just fair" now but he expects the mound corps to be ready when the season opens.

"They're getting sharper each time out," says Harder, who at one time was on the Tribe's star pitchers.

He particularly is pleased with the progress of Cal McLish, a veteran right-hander who led the Indian pitchers last season with 16-8 record.

"Cal is much farther along than he was at this time last year," Harder says.

A pair of rookie right-handers limited the Indians to seven hits in pitching the Chicago Cubs to a 6-3 victory here yesterday.

Bob Anderson allowed only six hits and just two earned runs in the seven innings he was on the mound. John Buzhardt held the Indians to one hit in the last two frames.

The loss was the Indians' second straight to young Cub pitchers and their ninth in 16 exhibition games.

Sad Sam Jones Traded To San Francisco In 4 Player Swap

Cards Acquire Jablonski And White In Deal

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Who got the better of the St. Louis Cardinals — San Francisco Giants deal?

Only time will tell, of course, but most expert opinion in these parts today was that the trade made the Giants a definite threat for the National League pennant and materially weakened the Cards.

The deal was completed Wednesday. It was a straight player transaction sending righthanded pitcher Sam (Toothpick) Jones to the Giants in exchange for first baseman-outfielder Bill White, third baseman Ray Jablonski and Don Choate, a righthanded pitcher on the roster of the Cards' Omaha farm team.

"Jones could win 20 for a club with power like the Giants," Card Manager Solly Hemus admitted. "But we had to get some punch into our lineup and this was our chance."

Giants' Manager Bill Rigney said in Phoenix that this was the most important deal of the club since they acquired pitcher Johnny Antonelli in 1954.

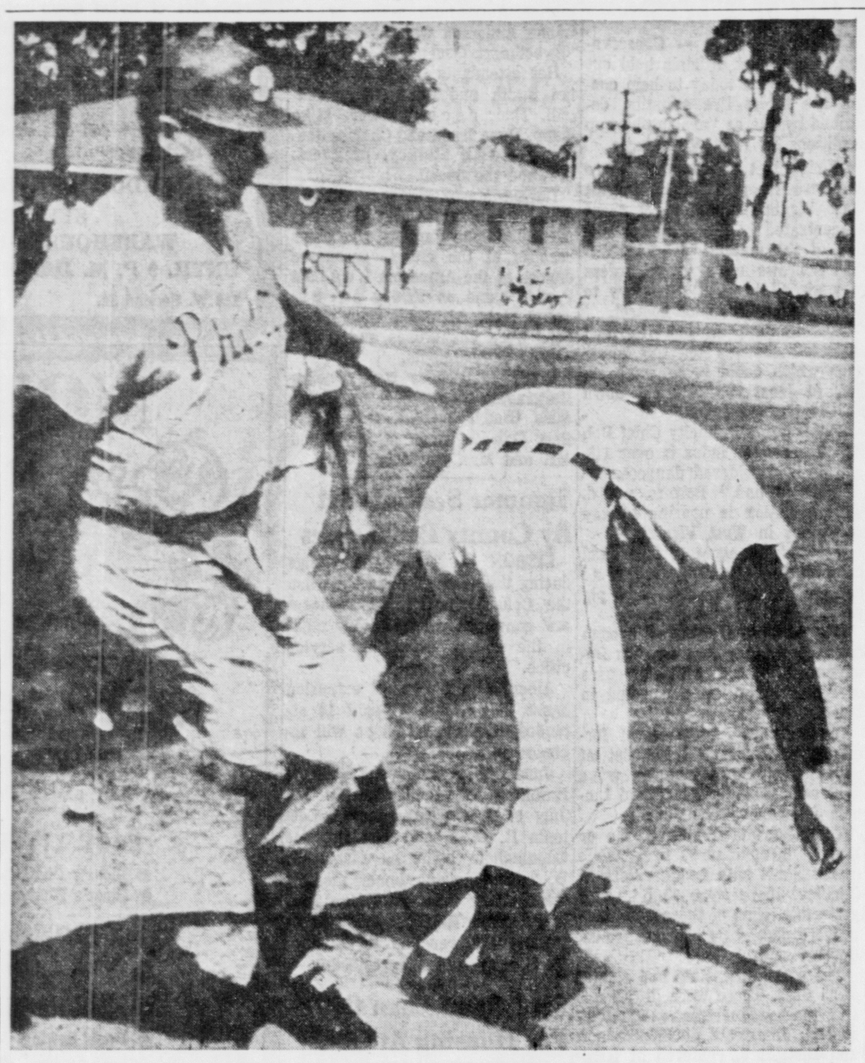
"The addition of Jones makes our front-line pitching solid and our second line deeper," said Rigney. "He'll be a starter. This guy can strike someone out."

Jones was the leading pitcher on the Cards last year, compiling a 14-13 record. His 225 strikeouts led the league, and his earned run average of 2.88 was second only to Stu Miller of the Giants.

The Giants gave up White, a .241 hitter last year after returning from the Army, and Jablonski, who hit .230 in '58. White, who is 25, was in only 29 games last year.

Jablonski, not much of a fielder, is 33.

So in the final analysis, the Giants gave up two players who didn't figure much in their plans for a pitcher who could help them win the pennant. The Cards, for their part, took a long gamble, perhaps a desperate one, to try to get some power in their lineup.



STAN LOPATA of the Phillies is safe at first as pitcher Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers hunts for ball in sixth inning of their game Wednesday at Lakeland, Fla. Bunning dropped the ball on a throw from first baseman Gail Harris. (UPI Telephoto)

Committee To Push Bill For Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP) — House backers of business law exemptions for baseball and other sports will try for a home run this year.

To avoid being left in a committee room, they will attempt to send their bill straight to the full House.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) provided a clue to the strategy today.

"I don't think hearings are necessary," Walter said. "The bill that passed the House last session adequately and fairly and equitable deals with the whole matter."

Walter referred to a measure which proposed clearcut exemptions from the antitrust laws for contract reserve clauses, trades, territorial and broadcast rights and other practices of professional team sports. The House passed the bill, but it never emerged from the Senate Antitrust subcommittee.

West Defeats East, 80-68, In All-Star Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — "I don't want any deliberate fouling, but I want you to be tough under the backboards — especially on defense."

That was the pep talk given by Coach Hank Iba to his West players before they whipped the East 80-68 in a college all-star basketball game Wednesday night.

"In all-star games such as this," the veteran Oklahoma State coach said, "I've noticed that the first 10 minutes are extremely important. If you show the other fellow who's boss early in the game, you may shake him up enough to influence the decision."

The East squad under Coach Bud Millikan of Maryland boasted five of the nation's 16 leading rebounders — although both 10-player teams average about 6-foot-5.

But the West took charge early as Iba suggested, limiting the East to one or two shots on most sortees down the court.

The West zoomed into a 22-9 lead in the first seven minutes, paced by Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame, All-America Bob Boozer of Kansas State and Northwestern's Joe Ruklick.

The East rallied under Lou Pucillo of N. C. State and Alan Seiden of St. John's N.Y., cutting the deficit to 49-38 by halftime and to 57-53 with 12 minutes remaining in the game.

Then the East comeback fizzled under closer guarding by the West.

Hawkins led both teams with 18 points and was voted the West's most valuable player by the press. Boozer had 16 points and Ruklick 13.

All America Bailey Howell of Mississippi State topped the East with 15, following by Seiden and Cal Ramsey of NYU with 12 apiece. The team's most valuable player award went to Pucillo, who pleased the crowd with his passes and ballhandling.

Archie Moore To Battle Durelle Again July 15

MONTREAL (AP) — Ol' Archie Moore still wants to fight Sugar Ray Robinson but he's signed for a rematch of his exciting light heavyweight title bout with Yvon Durelle because "a bird in the hand is worth 20 in the bush."

"My ultimate aim is to fight Robinson," said Moore after his agreement to the Durelle rematch was announced by promoter Eddie Quinn. "The only thing is Robinson (the middleweight champion) did all the negotiating. I didn't do any and I didn't authorize anyone to negotiate for me. A bird in the hand is worth 20 in the bush."

Quinn, who promoted the thrilling first Moore-Durelle tussle last Dec. 10 in the Montreal Forum, said the rematch would be held July 15 in the Montreal Royals' baseball park, which seats about 28,000 for boxing. The bout will be televised nationally in the United States by ABC as part of its Wednesday night series.

Moore reportedly has been guaranteed $175,000 or 40 per cent of the gate estimated at $200,000 plus an expected additional $100,00 from television and radio fees. Durelle has been guaranteed 15,000 or 20 per cent.

Moore was floored four times before rallying to stop Durelle, of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in the 11th round of the first bout. His sensational victory won Archie the Edward J. Neil award as fighter of the year and the National Boxing Assn.'s boxer of the year honor. Ring Magazine named it the top fight of the year.

"If Archie wins this one," his manager, Doc Kearns, said, "He may fight Robsinson in September."

Palmer Tops Pro-Amateur

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The touring golf pros headed north today, some to Wilmington, N.C., for a tournament there and others to Augusta, Ga., to prepare for the Masters.

They closed out their Florida tour Wednesday in the 36-hole Seminole pro - amateur. Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., was the big winner at $2,150.

Palmer had a 70 to go with his first-round 71 and split $1,800 with Mike Souchak of Grossingers, N.Y., who had 72 - 69—141. But Souchak finished out of the money in the best-ball competition while Palmer picked up $1,250.

Palmer's amateur partners were Arthur O. Willman of Boston and Kenneth Rich of Dallas, Tex. The Palmer-Wellman duo had a best ball score of 66 - 61 — 127. Palmer's score with Rich was 64-65—129.

Ben Hogan, the veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., staged a brilliant comeback with a five under par 67 on closing day and picked up $550.

Pitching Again Proves No. 1 Problem Of Reds

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) —The Cincinnati Reds are being tabbed as the dark horse of the National League but that is bringing little solace to Manager Mayo Smith and General Manager Gabe Paul. They realize that if something isn't done soon about the plight of their pitching staff, the Reds will be fortunate to finish in the first division.

Ask Smith to evaluate his club and he gives you several stock replies. He leaves it up to you to interpret them.

"It's hard to say whether the club is good, mediocre or bad at this point because we don't know about the pitching. . .

"Our pitching is the key. How far we go depends upon that. . .

The truth of the matter is that Mayo is worried about his pitching, or lack of it. He has four veteran starters in Bob Purkey (17-11), Don Newcombe (7-13), Brooks Lawrence (8-13) and southpaw Joe Nuxhall (12-11). He has a couple of good looking youngsters in lefty Jimmy O'Toole and righty Orlando Pena.

O'Toole, a 20-game winner at Nashville, is the big hope. But Smith is afraid of the pressure.

The way the staff shapes up, Pena and Hal Jeffcoat will be the end relief men, Tom Acker and Willard Schmidt will be the middle men and Bob Mabe may win the No. 5 starting role.

Cincinnati has a balance of power, achieved mainly by the acquisition of right-handed hitting slugger Frank Thomas from Pittsburgh. The Reds' batting order lists left-handers Gus Bell, Vada Pinson, Jerry Lynch in the outfield and Ed Bailey behind the plate; with righthanders Frank Robinson at first, Johnny Temple at second, Roy McMillan at short and Thomas at third.

The suspicion is that Thomas, a mediocre third baseman but a good outfielder, will be switched to left field with Bell either peddled to another club or cast in a utility role. In that event, Eddie Kasko, an infield handyman, would take over at third base.

"We should score some runs," said Smith, "but sometimes it can be a case of feast or famine. What we're striving for is steady pitching and good balance. So far, it's not good, not bad, just in between."

Cubs' Rookie Looks Sharp In 6-3 Win Over Indians

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs seem to have turned up a good pitcher in a rawboned right-hander, Bob Anderson.

He went nine innings when he whipped San Francisco on a strong four-hitter last Friday and came back Wednesday with a fine seven-inning performance.

The 6-4, 200-pound Anderson permitted only two earned runs and six hits before giving way to fellow rookie Johnny Buzhardt, who nailed down the Cubs' 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians at Tucson.

He has the big strikeout pitch. In 127 innings at Fort Worth in the Texas League last year he fanned 121. He worked 66 innings for the Cubs in his late trial and whiffed 51.

The Cub power helped him much Wednesday as Lee Walls, Earl Averill and Bobby Thomson chipped in with home runs off Cleveland loser Dick Stigman.

San Francisco celebrated the acquisition of Sad (Sam) Jones from St. Louis with a 9-4 victory over Boston at Scottsdale, Ariz., and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 4-1 at Tampa, Philadelphia edged Detroit 4-3 at Lakeland, Milwaukee bombed Los Angeles 8-4 at Vero Beach, the Chicago White Sox toppled Pittsburgh 4-2 at Fort Myers, Washington downed Baltimore 5-1 at Orlando, and Kansas City edged New York 3-2 at West Palm Beach.

The Giants, who gave up Bill White and Ray Jablonski to get Jones, clubbed Red Sox ace Tommy Brewer for 10 hits and 8 runs in 7 innings—handing Boston its fifth straight loss. Giants' ace Johnny Antonelli worked five innings, allowing only two hits.

Frank Robinson's fourth homer of the spring and a five-hitter by route-going Orlando Pena enabled the Reds to break a seven-game losing streak, and a three-run rally against Jim Bunning won for the Phils over Detroit.

Mel Harder Says Indians' Pitching Getting 'Sharper'

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland pitching coach Mel Harder says the Indians' pitching is "just fair" now but he expects the mound corps to be ready when the season opens.

"They're getting sharper each time out," says Harder, who at one time was on the Tribe's star pitchers.

He particularly is pleased with the progress of Cal McLish, a veteran right-hander who led the Indian pitchers last season with 16-8 record.

"Cal is much farther along than he was at this time last year," Harder says.

A pair of rookie right-handers limited the Indians to seven hits in pitching the Chicago Cubs to a 6-3 victory here yesterday.

Bob Anderson allowed only six hits and just two earned runs in the seven innings he was on the mound. John Buzhardt held the Indians to one hit in the last two frames.

The loss was the Indians' second straight to young Cub pitchers and their ninth in 16 exhibition games.

New York Boxers Win Second Straight Golden Glove Title

CHICAGO (AP) — New York won an unprecedented second straight intercity Golden Gloves team title over Chicago Wednesday night, but the individual spotlight was turned on the Windy City's Cassius Clay.

Clay, a 17-year-old high school student from Louisville, Ky., proved he was quite advanced for his age as a sharp counter puncher in taking a three-round decision over New York's light-heavyweight Tony Madigan.

Madigan, at 29, is a rough, mauling type of fighter who hails from Sydney, Australia. He is the Aussie amateur champ as well as the British Empire's and had lost only 5 of 99 bouts before running into Clay.

Madigan, who now lives in Rye, N.Y., pressed the fight all the way, but Clay's pointed combinations kept rocking him.

The Chicago Stadium crowd of 7,261 gave the battle a fine ovation. It was one of three televised nationally.

New York took the other two TV bouts in piling up a 10-6 triumph over Chicago. New York won last year 12-4. Chicago, however, still leads the rivalry 15-9 with 8 draws.

In other TV bouts, New York's Angel Morales, 19, defeated Gil Yanez, Toledo high school graduate, in the 112-pound division, and the Easterner's Ossie Marcano, 21-year-old shipping clerk, flashed too much punching power for Don Sargent, Minneapolis truck driver, to win the welterweight crown.

New York won both the alternate and championship divisions in the show's closing heavyweight bouts to cinch the team title.

One point is awarded for each victory in the 16-fight program.

Reds Snap Losing Streak As Pena Hurls 5-Hitter

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The first taste of victory after a seven-day diet of defeat, still lingered with the Cincinnati Redlegs today — thanks to a sterling five - hit, nine-inning hurling stint in Tampa by Orlando Pena in downing St. Louis 4-1.

Pena, a skinny right - handed Cuban, thus became the first Redleg hurler to go to the distance this spring. He could well be the bellcow of the pitching staff the Reds have been looking for.

Wednesday's appearance was Pena's fourth of the exhibition season. In 26 innings he has given up only five runs, one unearned, on 21 hits, while fanning 13 and walking but five.

However, the condition - wise Pena is further advanced than most of the players at spring training, having worked in some 25 games in the Cuban League during the winter.

Peter Lind Hayes Departs From ABC

The disappointment in Peter Lind Hayes' voice was real.

A matter of low ratings, not to mention outgoing sponsors, had just culminated in an official closing date for his daytime ABC show, and he could not be solaced by the fact that word of a possible evening show for Hayes next season was included in the network announcement. "Who wants it!" was his comment on the prospect of a nighttime show. "Who wants a pressure cooker existence!"

Marie Torre

ABC has decreed that the Hayes show will depart April 10, following a brief six-month career, since the humorist was "reluctant" to comply with a network request to reduce his daily 11:30 a.m.-to-12:30 p.m. program to half an hour.

-:-

HIS EMPLOYER was not adamant about the curtailment, but Hayes was adamant in his refusal.

"Under the present setup," he explained, "a half-hour show would be an impossible situation. When you figure the number of commercials we have to give, it actually takes an hour to do a half-hour show.

"Can you imagine half a dozen commercial interruptions in 30 minutes! That's what it would amount to."

The daytime structure at ABC is too complex to be detailed but, in brief, the Hayes show is part of an afternoon block called "Operation Daybreak," which allows for wholesale sponsorship.

Instead of "buying" any one show on the daytime bill, a sponsor buys a package of shows — and, judging by disinterested underwriters, "Operation Daybreak" promises to become "Operation Heartbreak."

-:-

THE EXPERIENCE, however, hasn't soured Hayes on daytime television. He wants to stay with it.

"I've no stars in my eyes," he says. "I just want to make a living — through the next 20 years. It's possible to enjoy longevity in the relatively peaceful area of daytime TV.

"This ABC experience hasn't changed my mind about that. I've heard from two specific sponsors interested in paying my way, so maybe we can move to NBC or CBS with the same informal show we're doing at ABC."

In view of the inherent disadvantage of his present position on ABC's daytime log, it's not unreasonable to assume that his chances would be greater on any of the other channels.

While the critics unanimously have praised the Hayes aggregation, the show has been hampered by (1) the advertising arrangement and (2) the fact that it's the first network show on the air each weekday.

In other words, there is no preceding show from which to inherit an audience, unless there are viewers around the country who get a charge out of watching ABC's test pattern.

"According to our ratings, not even the people in our studio are watching us," put in Hayes. "And this is no sour grapes, believe me! I'm really relieved. So's my crew.

"Do you know what they did when I read the closing announcement to them? They all applauded — every single one of them."

LOOKING TOWARD future security, teen-age idol Pat Boone joined the Townsend Investment Co. in a million-dollar transaction involving the purchase of two radio stations —one in Dallas, Tex., the other in Nashville, Tenn. . . .

Happily, the TV industry seems more and more inclined to repeat critically-acclaimed shows. Next offering to rate a second airing is Rod Serling's "The Time Element," which was presented early this season with William Bendix as a man caught in a weird shuffle of time. Repeat date is April 6, "Desilu Playhouse."

Ohio Road Deaths Hit 14-Year Low Last Two Months

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Remember the days of gas rationing, when nobody rode around much because there wasn't much gasoline? And the traffic toll dropped lower and lower?

Well, the first two months of this year are reminiscent of those days—in a way.

Because in January and February, the 203 traffic fatalities register in Ohio were the lowest highway death toll for any two-month period since World War II.

"The figure parellels the low fatality records in the days of gas rationing," commented J. Grant Keys, director of the Department of Highway Safety.

"Our statistician tells me," he said, "That such a continued decrease begins to show a significant trend . . . not a chance happening, but toward a decided improvement over the recent years."

Ohio Senators Split Votes On Jobless Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — An amendment seeking to liberalize a three-month extension of federal unemployment payments was defeated in the Senate Wednesday, 49-38, with the help of Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio). Ohio's other Democratic senator, Stephen M. Young, voted for passage.

Both supported an amendment, passed 52-32, to make benefits under the emergency unemployment program available to persons who become jobless in the next three months.

An equal amount of local funds will assist in financing the planning work.

West Virginia Reports 200 Forest Fires

CHARLESTON (AP) — Conservation Department officials held out a hope for rain today to help control the forest fire situation described by one as "nearing blowup conditions in West Virginia."

Officials last night counted more than 200 forest fires throughout West Virginia with 145 of these concentrated in the southern section of the state.

Fire crews were under orders to work all night if necessary to bring the blazes under control.

The weather bureau forecast scattered showers for this afternoon which could bring some relief. At least it would cut down on the dryness index.

Conservation Publicity Chief Bob Bowers said the index is over 110 and 40 is considered dangerous.

"This is bad," Bowers said. "The situation is nearing blowup conditions in West Virginia."

Hundreds of acres of forestland have been blackened, several houses, barns, outhouses and pig pens destroyed by the blazes.

Most of these are started through carelessness, the Conservation Department believes, although cases of incendiarism are suspected in Mercer County.

In yesterday's rundown of forest fires, Logan led the list of counties with 20. Kanawha was next with 17 while Boone and Lincoln followed with 10 each.

The Kanawha County area or District 5, counted 92 fires, while in District 4 with headquarters at Beckley, there were 53 blazes yesterday. Nine of these apparently were caused by railroad trains, Bowers said.

The rest of the state had a total of 55 fires. These were in District 1 with headquarters at Middlebourne; District 2 at Buckhannon and District 3, centered at Romney.

Peter Lind Hayes Departs From ABC

The disappointment in Peter Lind Hayes' voice was real.

A matter of low ratings, not to mention outgoing sponsors, had just culminated in an official closing date for his daytime ABC show, and he could not be solaced by the fact that word of a possible evening show for Hayes next season was included in the network announcement. "Who wants it!" was his comment on the prospect of a nighttime show. "Who wants a pressure cooker existence!"

Marie Torre

ABC has decreed that the Hayes show will depart April 10, following a brief six-month career, since the humorist was "reluctant" to comply with a network request to reduce his daily 11:30 a.m.-to-12:30 p.m. program to half an hour.

-:-

HIS EMPLOYER was not adamant about the curtailment, but Hayes was adamant in his refusal.

"Under the present setup," he explained, "a half-hour show would be an impossible situation. When you figure the number of commercials we have to give, it actually takes an hour to do a half-hour show.

"Can you imagine half a dozen commercial interruptions in 30 minutes! That's what it would amount to."

The daytime structure at ABC is too complex to be detailed but, in brief, the Hayes show is part of an afternoon block called "Operation Daybreak," which allows for wholesale sponsorship.

Instead of "buying" any one show on the daytime bill, a sponsor buys a package of shows — and, judging by disinterested underwriters, "Operation Daybreak" promises to become "Operation Heartbreak."

-:-

THE EXPERIENCE, however, hasn't soured Hayes on daytime television. He wants to stay with it.

"I've no stars in my eyes," he says. "I just want to make a living — through the next 20 years. It's possible to enjoy longevity in the relatively peaceful area of daytime TV.

"This ABC experience hasn't changed my mind about that. I've heard from two specific sponsors interested in paying my way, so maybe we can move to NBC or CBS with the same informal show we're doing at ABC."

In view of the inherent disadvantage of his present position on ABC's daytime log, it's not unreasonable to assume that his chances would be greater on any of the other channels.

While the critics unanimously have praised the Hayes aggregation, the show has been hampered by (1) the advertising arrangement and (2) the fact that it's the first network show on the air each weekday.

In other words, there is no preceding show from which to inherit an audience, unless there are viewers around the country who get a charge out of watching ABC's test pattern.

"According to our ratings, not even the people in our studio are watching us," put in Hayes. "And this is no sour grapes, believe me! I'm really relieved. So's my crew.

"Do you know what they did when I read the closing announcement to them? They all applauded — every single one of them."

-:-

LOOKING TOWARD future security, teen-age idol Pat Boone joined the Townsend Investment Co. in a million-dollar transactio involving the purchase of two radio stations —one in Dallas, Tex., the other in Nashville, Tenn. . . .

Happily, the TV industry seems more and more inclined to repeat critically-acclaimed shows. Next offering to rate a second airing is Rod Serling's "The Time Element," which was presented early this season with William Bendix as a man caught in a weird shuffle of time. Repeat date is April 6, "Desilu Playhouse."

Ohio Road Deaths Hit 14-Year Low Last Two Months

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Remember the days of gas rationing, when nobody rode around much because there wasn't much gasoline? And the traffic toll dropped lower and lower?

Well, the first two months of this year are reminiscent of those days—in a way.

Because in January and February, the 203 traffic fatalities register in Ohio were the lowest highway death toll for any two-month period since World War II.

"The figure parellels the low fatality records in the days of gas rationing," commented J. Grant Keys, director of the Department of Highway Safety.

"Our statistician tells me," he said, "That such a continued decrease begins to show a significant trend . . . not a chance happening, but toward a decided improvement over the recent years."

Ohio Senators Split Votes On Jobless Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — An amendment seeking to liberalize a three-month extension of federal unemployment payments was defeated in the Senate Wednesday, 49-38, with the help of Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio). Ohio's other Democratic senator, Stephen M. Young, voted for passage.

Both supported an amendment, passed 52-32, to make benefits under the emergency unemployment program available to persons who become jobless in the next three months.

West Virginia Reports 200 Forest Fires

CHARLESTON (AP) — Conservation Department officials held out a hope for rain today to help control the forest fire situation described by one as "nearing blowup conditions in West Virginia."

Officials last night counted more than 200 forest fires throughout West Virginia with 145 of these concentrated in the southern section of the state.

Fire crews were under orders to work all night if necessary to bring the blazes under control.

The weather bureau forecast scattered showers for this afternoon which could bring some relief. At least it would cut down on the dryness index.

Conservation Publicity Chief Bob Bowers said the index is over 110 and 40 is considered dangerous.

"This is bad," Bowers said. "The situation is nearing blowup conditions in West Virginia."

Hundreds of acres of forestland have been blackened, several houses, barns, outhouses and pig pens destroyed by the blazes.

Most of these are started through carelessness, the Conservation Department believes, although cases of incendiarism are suspected in Mercer County.

In yesterday's rundown of forest fires, Logan led the list of counties with 20. Kanawha was next with 17 while Boone and Lincoln followed with 10 each.

The Kanawha County area or District 5, counted 92 fires, while in District 4 with headquarters at Beckley, there were 53 blazes yesterday. Nine of these apparently were caused by railroad trains, Bowers said.

The rest of the state had a total of 55 fires. These were in District 1 with headquarters at Middlebourne; District 2 at Buckhannon and District 3, centered at Romney.

Woman Collapses, Dies

During intermission, an honorary membership in the Key Club was presented John Parsons, who plays records at the club - sponsored dances at the American Legion Post 4 home on Friday and Saturday nights. Kiwanis Club members were chaperones and also served refreshments.

Other chaperones were George Hargraves, high school principal; Miss Gladys DeBolt, a teacher; Bert Dawson, dean of boys, and Mr. and Mrs. Parsons.

14 Boys Given Court Penalty

Hearing Follows Wellsville 'Rumble'

Fourteen boys appeared before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon Wednesday as a result of the teenage "rumble" in Wellsville last week.

The boys were accompanied by their parents and the resulting crowd was too much for the juvenile courtroom so the hearing was transferred to the Lisbon Village Hall.

Judge Tobin lectured the boys and some were restricted to their homes for two to five weeks.

Car loads of boys converged on Wellsville the evening of March 18, apparently looking for a fight. Police quickly rounded them up and took them to City Hall where they were held until their parents came after them. The majority of them were from East Liverpool.

Police confiscated knives, blackjacks, a wrench and other weapons from the youths. Many admitted they were prepared for a fight although some said they had heard of the impending trouble and just "went to see the action."

Mayor William J. Shoub later ordered sponsors to discontinue teenage dances held in the Post Office building. A dance was being held the night of the trouble and another was held on Saturday nights. The boys were congregating outside.

Shoub said the move was a "precautionary measure."

Educators Hit Legislature In West Virginia

BLUEFIELD (AP) — State educators took time out today from lambasting the Legislature to hear Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-WVa) speak on federal school legislation.

The educators — more than 200 — are here for the annual joint convention of the State Assns. of Public School Superintendents and County School Boards.

Other items on today's agenda include a panel discussion and a banquet, at which Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-WVa) will be the main speaker.

While federal legislation was the first subject today, it was the Legislature which was the prevailing topic at last night's opening session of the meeting.

"Either we change the minds of a lot of our legislators about education, or else change a lot of faces in the Legislature," said Jack Capehart, a Wayne County school board member. Added Capehart:

"Either we're not getting through to the legislators or they are openly defying the will of the citizens."

One delegate after another complained of the slim monetary fare on which the schools will have to live as a result of the state budget passed earlier this month by the Legislature.

There were numerous outcries about the Legislature — especially the Senate — being controlled by out of state business interests.

Localities were urged to make every effort to pass special school tax levies provided by the Better School Amendment.

"We must exhaust every source at the local level, then go back to Charleston armed with the facts and try to get a decent level of state support," thundered Cabell County Supt. Olin C. Nutter.

Logan County Supt. Paul Winter joined Nutter in urging that school funds not be spread any thinner among the various programs.

"Curtail the school year if necessary," Nutter flatly declared.

Captain Wisherd, Steamboatman, Claimed At 85

CINCINNATI (AP)—Captain D. Walter Wisherd, one of the last of a dwindling line of steamboatmen who first ran the Ohio and Mississippi rivers before the turn of the century, will be buried Saturday.

Captain Wisherd, 85, died Wednesday after a long illness.

A native of Quincy, Ill., he probably was best known to a middleage generation as builder of the big steel sidewheel excursion steamer "Island Queen" which exploded and burned in Pittsburgh in September 1947. The boat was owned and operated by the Coney Island Co. for patrons headed to and from Coney Island, a resort 10 miles east of Cincinnati. It was on an off-season excursion at the time it burned.

Earlier, Wisherd, who first set foot on a river boat in 1895, had been general traffic manager for Streckfus Steamers, Inc., operators of boats out of St. Louis.

Deadline Near For Entries In Contest Here

The deadline is drawing near for the 1959 "Mrs. America" contest.

W. T. McIntyre, division manager for the Ohio Valley Gas Co., local sponsor of the contest, reminded today that entries must be received by next Tuesday midnight.

Application blanks may be obtained at the gas company office, 110 W. 6th St.

The "Mrs. America" contest is for married women. There is no age limit, with judging to be based on homemaking ability, poise, personality, grooming and community activities.

A "Mrs. East Liverpool" will be selected the week of April 6 to represent this area in a district "cook-off" at Steubenville April 23.

Winners of the district contest will receive a gas range valued at $500 and a trip to Columbus to compete in the "Mrs. Ohio" finals May 6 and 7. The district runner-up will receive an outdoor gas light for the yard or patio of her home, with free installation by the gas company.

"Mrs. Ohio" will win a free trip for herself and her husband to the national "Mrs. America" finals at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in June.

14 Boys Given Court Penalty

Hearing Follows Wellsville 'Rumble'

Fourteen boys appeared before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon Wednesday as a result of the teenage "rumble" in Wellsville last week.

The boys were accompanied by their parents and the resulting crowd was too much for the juvenile courtroom so the hearing was transferred to the Lisbon Village Hall.

Judge Tobin lectured the boys and some were restricted to their homes for two to five weeks.

Car loads of boys converged on Wellsville the evening of March 18, apparently looking for a fight. Police quickly rounded them up and took them to City Hall where they were held until their parents came after them. The majority of them were from East Liverpool.

Police confiscated knives, blackjacks, a wrench and other weapons from the youths. Many admitted they were prepared for a fight although some said they had heard of the impending trouble and just "went to see the action."

Mayor William J. Shoub later ordered sponsors to discontinue teenage dances held in the Post Office building. A dance was being held the night of the trouble and another was held on Saturday nights. The boys were congregating outside.

Shoub said the move was a "precautionary measure."

Educators Hit Legislature In West Virginia

BLUEFIELD (AP) — State educators took time out today from lambasting the Legislature to hear Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W-Va) speak on federal school legislation.

The educators — more than 200 — are here for the annual joint convention of the State Assns. of Public School Superintendents and County School Boards.

Other items on today's agenda include a panel discussion and a banquet, at which Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-WVa) will be the main speaker.

While federal legislation was the first subject today, it was the Legislature which was the prevailing topic at last night's opening session of the meeting.

"Either we change the minds of a lot of our legislators about education, or else change a lot of faces in the Legislature," said Jack Capehart, a Wayne County school board member. Added Capehart:

"Either we're not getting through to the legislators or they are openly defying the will of the citizens."

One delegate after another complained of the slim monetary fare on which the schools will have to live as a result of the state budget passed earlier this month by the Legislature.

There were numerous outcries about the Legislature — especially the Senate — being controlled by out of state business interests.

Localities were urged to make every effort to pass special school tax levies provided by the Better School Amendment.

"We must exhaust every source at the local level, then go back to Charleston armed with the facts and try to get a decent level of state support," thundered Cabell County Supt. Olin C. Nutter.

Logan County Supt. Paul Winter joined Nutter in urging that school funds not be spread any thinner among the various programs.

"Curtail the school year if necessary," Nutter flatly declared.

Captain Wisherd, Steamboatman, Claimed At 85

CINCINNATI (AP)—Captain D. Walter Wisherd, one of the last of a dwindling line of steamboatmen who first ran the Ohio and Mississippi rivers before the turn of the century, will be buried Saturday.

Captain Wisherd, 85, died Wednesday after a long illness.

A native of Quincy, Ill., he probably was best known to a middleage generation as builder of the big steel sidewheel excursion steamer "Island Queen" which exploded and burned in Pittsburgh in September 1947. The boat was owned and operated by the Coney Island Co. for patrons headed to and from Coney Island, a resort 10 miles east of Cincinnati. It was on an off-season excursion at the time it burned.

Earlier, Wisherd, who first set foot on a river boat in 1895, had been general traffic manager for Streckfus Steamers, Inc., operators of boats out of St. Louis.

Deadline Near For Entries In Contest Here

The deadline is drawing near for the 1959 "Mrs. America" contest.

W. T. McIntyre, division manager for the Ohio Valley Gas Co., local sponsor of the contest, reminded today that entries must be received by next Tuesday midnight.

Application blanks may be obtained at the gas company office, 110 W. 6th St.

The "Mrs. America" contest is for married women. There is no age limit, with judging to be based on homemaking ability, poise, personality, grooming and community activities.

A "Mrs. East Liverpool" will be selected the week of April 6 to represent this area in a district "cook-off" at Steubenville April 23.

Winners of the district contest will receive a gas range valued at $500 and a trip to Columbus to compete in the "Mrs. Ohio" finals May 6 and 7. The district runner-up will receive an outdoor gas light for the yard or patio of her home, with free installation by the gas company.

"Mrs. Ohio" will win a free trip for herself and her husband to the national "Mrs. America" finals at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in June.

Borough Improvements Planned

Midland To Issue $150,000 Bonds

Midland Council Wednesday night took steps to issue $150,000 in bonds for borough improvements, keeping within the present tax rate. Money for the projects will be borrowed in advance of the bond issuance. It does not have to be submitted to a vote of the people.

On a motion of Councilman Harvey Sponcer, Atty. Robert Masters, solicitor, was authorized to contact fiscal and bond agents and prepare an ordinance for the bond proposal.

BURGESS Eli Corak said studies of the budget indicated the same tax rate could be kept and still provide improvements by borrowing, as other cities have done.

Improvements will include resurfacing of Woodlane Ave., further resurfacing of Railroad Ave., work on streets in Midland Heights and in Plan K, and purchase of labor saving equipment.

He said Midland is the only borough in Allegheny and Beaver Counties with only one tax, that on real estate, and he said he believes the administration "has done a good job with the taxpayer's dollars."

BROUGHT to the attention of Park Martin, secretary of highways, was immediate need of resurfacing of Midland Ave.—and that Railroad and Woodlane Aves. be included in the gasoline tax allocation, he said.

Corak reported Martin said he would take immediate action on the requests, although he could promise nothing.

R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, said that a highway department representative viewed both avenues yesterday afternoon and "seemed impressed by the amount of traffic."

Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, was instructed to write a protest to the state highway department about the sinking condition of Route 68 near the incinerator.

COUNCIL approved the annual auditors report for 1958, which was submitted by Nicholas G. Zapsic, Anna Vidakovich and Lester Barr.

Receipts of $465,604.83 included $298,271.92 current taxes collected and a bank balance Jan. 1, 1958, of $10,037.39.

Total disbursements were $455,604.51. Total assets as of Jan. 1 were $1,533,908.19, and liabilities, $110,000 for series "P" bonds.

ON A MOTION by Councilman Raymond Presutti, Council voted to liquidate the occupational tax. According to Mrs. O'Hara, the tax had been on the books since the borough's beginning but, as in other towns, had become a nuisance to collect due to exonerations and the small amounts involved.

After committee study of a request of Mrs. Susan Vinovich, delinquent tax collector, submitted at the last meeting. Council voted to approve an exoneration of $36.43 on the 1957 occupation tax.

The Peoples Natural Gas Co. was granted permission to install 204 feet of 10-inch pipe to augment the Crucible Steel Co. lines on 10th St.

MATT BROZIC, street foreman, was instructed to work out arrangements to have rubbish men pick up piled dirt. Councilman William Vinovich reported that residents were complaining that it is not being collected.

Brozic also was instructed by the burgess to begin erecting one-side parking signs on Midland Ave. to permit sweeping.

The Borough Hall windows are in need of cleaning and Steebner was instructed to obtain an estimate of the cost. He was also asked to investigate the complaint of John Cavanaugh of Ohio Ave. that a private driveway was torn up by equipment and installation of poles by the Duquesne Light Co. Councilman Joseph Hibbard reported the complaint.

Constables File February Report

Twenty-six arrests and 16 burglary investigations were made by constables in 9 area townships during February, according to a report from Constable Roy Painter of Hanover Township, president of the Columbiana County Constables Association.

Painter said the report covered the activities of officers in Yellow Creek, Madison, Hanover, Butler, Unity, Salem, Franklin, Knox and Perry Townships.

He said 33 traffic accidents were investigated, 158 warnings issued and 82 papers served. Painter also said officers traveled 5,415 miles in patrol, and recovered property valued at $1,325.

Painter pointed out constables are the only police who provide their own cars and equipment for public protection, and many are on duty day and night.

Outstanding Youth To Draw Sentence

HONOLULU (AP)—John Peelua selected as outstanding young man of 1958 for the Hawaiian island for Molokai, will be sentenced April 14 for embezzling $200 from Molokai Community Hospital.

Peelua, 35, was a bookkeeper at the hospital. He pleaded no contest to the charge before Circuit Judge Cable A. Wirtz in Wailuku.

Palsy Parental Group Will Convene Monthly

The Parental Group of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association Wednesday night at the Mary Patterson Memorial headquarters decided to meet monthly instead of twice a month. It will be on the last Wednesday.

Mrs. Martha Garren, president, presided.

Proceeds from the recent skating party at the Melody Lane Rink in Hookstown amounted to $20, it was reported.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilma Jane Laughlin and Mrs. Marilyn Wagner.

Cards will follow the next meeting April 29 at the headquarters when board members will be guests.

Child, 3, Bumps Head When He Runs Into Car

A 3-year-old East Liverpool youngster escaped with a minor bump on the head Wednesday about 6:18 p. m. when he ran into the rear fender of a passing auto on Lincoln Ave. near E. 9th St.

Charles A. Hitchcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hitchcock, 734 Lincoln Ave., was examined at City Hospital after the mishap. He ran into the back fender of an auto driven by Betty Knox, 19, of 1769 Maple Ave., Wellsville, according to police.

Borough Improvements Planned

Midland To Issue $150,000 Bonds

Midland Council Wednesday night took steps to issue $150,000 in bonds for borough improvements, keeping within the present tax rate. Money for the projects will be borrowed in advance of the bond issuance. It does not have to be submitted to a vote of the people.

On a motion of Councilman Harvey Sponcer, Atty. Robert Masters, solicitor, was authorized to contact fiscal and bond agents and prepare an ordinance for the bond proposal.

BURGESS Eli Corak said studies of the budget indicated the same tax rate could be kept and still provide improvements by borrowing, as other cities have done.

Improvements will include resurfacing of Woodlane Ave., further resurfacing of Railroad Ave., work on streets in Midland Heights and in Plan K, and purchase of labor saving equipment.

He said Midland is the only borough in Allegheny and Beaver Counties with only one tax, that on real estate, and he said he believes the administration "has done a good job with the taxpayer's dollars."

The burgess reported on a recent trip made with Steve Germusa, Council president, to Harrisburg to seek state aid for street repairs.

BROUGHT to the attention of Park Martin, secretary of highways, was immediate need of resurfacing of Midland Ave.--and that Railroad and Woodlane Aves. be included in the gasoline tax allocation, he said.

Corak reported Martin said he would take immediate action on the requests, although he could promise nothing.

R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, said that a highway department representative viewed both avenues yesterday afternoon and "seemed impressed by the amount of traffic."

Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, was instructed to write a protest to the state highway department about the sinking condition of Route 68 near the incinerator.

COUNCIL approved the annual auditors report for 1958, which was submitted by Nicholas G. Zapsic, Anna Vidakovich and Lester Barr.

Receipts of $465,604.83 included $298,271.92 current taxes collected and a bank balance Jan. 1, 1958, of $10,037.39.

Total disbursements were $455,-604.51. Total assets as of Jan. 1 were $1,533,908.19, and liabilities, $110,000 for series "P" bonds.

Council also approved the cost of preparing the audit — $100 for each auditor.

ON A MOTION by Councilman Raymond Presutti, Council voted to liquidate the occupational tax. According to Mrs. O'Hara, the tax had been on the books since the borough's beginning but, as in other towns, had become a nuisance to collect due to exonerations and the small amounts involved.

After committee study of a request of Mrs. Susan Vinovich, delinquent tax collector, submitted at the last meeting. Council voted to approve an exoneration of $36.43 on the 1957 occupation tax.

The Peoples Natural Gas Co. was granted permission to install 204 feet of 10-inch pipe to augment the Crucible Steel Co. lines on 10th St.

—:—

MATT BROZIC, street foreman, was instructed to work out arrangements to have rubbish men pick up piled dirt. Councilman William Vinovich reported that residents were complaining that it is not being collected.

Brozic also was instructed by the burgess to begin erecting one-side parking signs on Midland Ave. to permit sweeping.

The Borough Hall windows are in need of cleaning and Steebner was instructed to obtain an estimate of the cost. He was also asked to investigate the complaint of John Cavanaugh of Ohio Ave. that a private driveway was torn up by equipment and installation of poles by the Duquesne Light Co. Councilman Joseph Hibbard reported the complaint.

Constables File February Report

Twenty-six arrests and 16 burglary investigations were made by constables in 9 area townships during February, according to a report from Constable Roy Painter of Hanover Township, president of the Columbiana County Constables Association.

Painter said the report covered the activities of officers in Yellow Creek, Madison, Hanover, Butler, Unity, Salem, Franklin, Knox and Perry Townships.

He said 33 traffic accidents were investigated, 158 warnings issued and 82 papers served. Painter also said officers traveled 5,415 miles in patrol, and recovered property valued at $1,325.

Painter pointed out constables are the only police who provide their own cars and equipment for public protection, and many are on duty day and night.

Outstanding Youth To Draw Sentence

HONOLULU (AP)—John Peelua selected as outstanding young man of 1958 for the Hawaiian island for Molokai, will be sentenced April 14 for embezzling $200 from Molokai Community Hospital.

Peelua, 35, was a bookkeeper at the hospital. He pleaded no contest to the charge before Circuit Judge Cable A. Wirtz in Wailuku.

Palsy Parental Group Will Convene Monthly

The Parental Group of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association Wednesday night at the Mary Patterson Memorial headquarters decided to meet monthly instead of twice a month. It will be on the last Wednesday.

Mrs. Martha Garren, president, presided.

Proceeds from the recent skating party at the Melody Lane Rink in Hookstown amounted to $20, it was reported.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilma Jane Laughlin and Mrs. Marilyn Wagner.

Cards will follow the next meeting April 29 at the headquarters when board members will be guests.

Tallmadge In Summit County

A School Story--In 37 Big Steps

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With the turning of the first spadeful of earth this month, the Summit County community of Tallmadge takes a big step toward getting a new high school.

But it isn't the first step. It's the 37th, and there's one more to go.

The Tallmadge story will be one typical of those communities hard-pressed for new school space—and of the many formal procedures involved before a new school becomes a fact.

By taking the previous 36 steps without stumbling, Tallmadge became the first school district in the state to get money from a 150 million dollar bond issue approved by Ohio voters in 1955.

To get this far, the district had to get approval or action from the State Education Department and State Board of Education 19 times, and deal with the attorney general, State Finance Department, State Controlling Board, state treasurer, State Department of Industrial Relations, local board of elections and the voters.

Once construction is complete—probably a year from next fall—step No. 38 comes up. That's transfer of title and interest of the state to the district board.

Then, under the law, the district will begin 23 years of repaying the state. This is at the rate of a half-mill on every dollar of valuation recorded on the district's tax duplicate.

If a district gets sufficiently clear of local debt (primarily bond issues) to drop the rate on each dollar of valuation below 3½ mills, the law says it must take the difference between the lower rate and 4 mills and add it to the half-mill it is already paying the state.

Thus, if a district was assessing a 3.6-mill rate to pay off a local bond issue, and paying back the state at a half-mill rate besides, it might drop the rate to 3.3 when the local debt was pretty well paid. Then, the law says, it would have to take the difference between 3.3 and 4 mills — .7 mill and add it to the half-mill rate.

The district would then be repaying the state at a 1.2-mill rate.

But the law also says a district can stop paying after 23 years. State school officials figure the state will only get about 40 per cent of its money back from help it gives to districts with 1955 bond issue funds.

Up to that time, although it didn't give too much (eight million in 1951-1955), the state's help to distressed school district was administered in a relatively short time.

Then, in 1955, a special committee created two years earlier — called the Ohio School Survey Committee—told the Legislature that school districts were going to be 153 million dollars short in paying for new construction between 1955 and 1960.

The Legislature decided to put a constitutional amendment bond issue to the voters that fall. The 150 million in bonds, and the interest, were to be repaid through a one-cent cigarette tax.

However, legislative leaders worried about the possibility of a distressed school district becoming wealthy suddenly because of the arrival of new industry. This had happened twice when the state was making outright grants (which didn't have to be repaid).

So the amendment the voters approved stated that the state would sell or lease new classrooms to distressed districts. And of the 150 million dollars, 75 million was to be used for mental health and welfare institutions. The rest was to go for public school classrooms—and state universities or state buildings.

The Legislature met for a three-day special session a few weeks later, in January 1956, but didn't feel it had time to work out enabling legislation for the sell-or-lease provision.

It gave the State Board of Education $100,000 to study the situation, and the board hired Robert Heller & Associates of Cleveland. When the Heller firm reported in October 1956, it said districts could get along with 49½ million in state assistance.

From this came a procedure insuring tight state control (which became the 38 steps) of the project. Although President Elliott E. Meyers and three other members protested, the State Board of Education recommended the plan to the Legislature.

In the meantime, when it gave the board the $100,000 to study how to administer the program, the Legislature appropriated seven million from the surplus then in the treasury and earmarked it for classroom construction.

The new procedure was still being pondered, so the board set up a priority list for distressed districts, approved applications and, after the district had borrowed all it legally could, supplied the rest of the money to build classrooms.

In May 1957, the Legislature passed enabling legislation to go with the amendment. By November, the board had 75 applications for $44,700,000 in assistance, and by March it had reserved $8,300,000 of 10 millions in bond money appropriated by the Legislature in 1957.

Among those on the priority list of distressed districts was Tallmadge.

This year's appropriation (expected to be another 10 millions, although the State Education Department would like it to be 15) will exhaust the 1955 bond issue money.

But, while the state will have to devise new means of assisting distressed districts in the future, education officials are working at present to help districts on the priority list struggle through the 38 steps to state aid.

As one says: "Some controls are necessary, but there are just too damn' many here."

Historic Alaskan Site To Make History Again

SITKA, Alaska (AP) — Sitka's Castle Hill, one of this huge state's most historic spots, will again become the scene of a history-making event July 4.

It was on Castle Hill on Oct. 18, 1867, that Czarist Russia formally signed over to the United States the vast, unexplored territory of Alaska for 7 million dollars.

Next July 4, state officials said the first 49-star flag in this newest state will be raised on Castle Hill.

Tallmadge In Summit County

A School Story -- In 37 Big Steps

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With the turning of the first spadeful of earth this month, the Summit County community of Tallmadge takes a big step toward getting a new high school.

But it isn't the first step. It's the 37th, and there's one more to go.

The Tallmadge story will be one typical of those communities hard-pressed for new school space—and of the many formal procedures involved before a new school becomes a fact.

By taking the previous 36 steps without stumbling, Tallmadge became the first school district in the state to get money from a 150 million dollar bond issue approved by Ohio voters in 1955.

To get this far, the district had to get approval or action from the State Education Department and State Board of Education 19 times, and deal with the attorney general, State Finance Department, State Controlling Board, state treasurer, State Department of Industrial Relations, local board of elections and the voters.

Once construction is complete—probably a year from next fall—step No. 38 comes up. That's transfer of title and interest of the state to the district board.

Then, under the law, the district will begin 23 years of repaying the state. This is at the rate of a half-mill on every dollar of valuation recorded on the district's tax duplicate.

If a district gets sufficiently clear of local debt (primarily bond issues) to drop the rate on each dollar of valuation below 3½ mills, the law says it must take the difference between the lower rate and 4 mills and add it to the half-mill it is already paying the state.

Thus, if a district was assessing a 3.6-mill rate to pay off a local bond issue, and paying back the state at a half-mill rate besides, it might drop the rate to 3.3 when the local debt was pretty well paid. Then, the law says, it would have to take the difference between 3.3 and 4 mills — .7 mill and add it to the half-mill rate.

The district would then be repaying the state at a 1.2-mill rate.

But the law also says a district can stop paying after 23 years. State school officials figure the state will only get about 40 per cent of its money back from help it gives to districts with 1955 bond issue funds.

Up to that time, although it didn't give too much (eight million in 1951-1955), the state's help to distressed school district was administered in a relatively short time.

Then, in 1955, a special committee created two years earlier — called the Ohio School Survey Committee—told the Legislature that school districts were going to be 153 million dollars short in paying for new construction between 1955 and 1960.

The Legislature decided to put a constitutional amendment bond issue to the voters that fall. The 150 million in bonds, and the interest, were to be repaid through a one-cent cigarette tax.

However, legislative leaders worried about the possibility of a distressed school district becoming wealthy suddenly because of the arrival of new industry. This had happened twice when the state was making outright grants (which didn't have to be repaid).

So the amendment the voters approved stated that the state would sell or lease new classrooms to distressed districts. And of the 150 million dollars, 75 million was to be used for mental health and welfare institutions. The rest was to go for public school classrooms—and state universities or state buildings.

The Legislature met for a three-day special session a few weeks later, in January 1956, but didn't feel it had time to work out enabling legislation for the sell-or-lease provision.

It gave the State Board of Education $100,000 to study the situation, and the board hired Robert Heller & Associates of Cleveland. When the Heller firm reported in October 1956, it said districts could get along with 49½ million in state assistance.

From this came a procedure insuring tight state control (which became the 38 steps) of the project. Although President Elliott E. Meyers and three other members protested, the State Board of Education recommended the plan to the Legislature.

In the meantime, when it gave the board the $100,000 to study how to administer the program, the Legislature appropriated seven million from the surplus then in the treasury and earmarked it for classroom construction.

The new procedure was still being pondered, so the board set up a priority list for distressed districts, approved applications and, after the district had borrowed all it legally could, supplied the rest of the money to build classrooms.

In May 1957, the Legislature passed enabling legislation to go with the amendment. By November, the board had 75 applications for $44,700,000 in assistance, and by March it had reserved $8,300,000 of 10 millions in bond money appropriated by the Legislature in 1957.

Among those on the priority list of distressed districts was Tallmadge.

This year's appropriation (expected to be another 10 millions, although the State Education Department would like it to be 15) will exhaust the 1955 bond issue money.

But, while the state will have to devise new means of assisting distressed districts in the future, education officials are working at present to help districts on the priority list struggle through the 38 steps to state aid.

As one says: "Some controls are necessary, but there are just too damn' many here."

Special Division Goes Into Action

Red Cross Begins 'Cleanup' Phase

A special "Cleanup Division" went into action today preparatory to the windup of the local Red Cross campaign.

Jerry Carroll, who heads the division, is shown going over his phase of the program Wednesday with Richard Emmerling, drive chairman, and James Locke and W. Edward Adkins, assistant chairmen.

Emmerling said that campaign officials hope the newly-created "cleanup" squad will spur volunteer workers to complete their solicitations and submit reports promptly to Red Cross headquarters on E. 4th St.

"Our first evaluation of the campaign's progress," Emmerling said, "indicates that much of the lag is in solicitations in the Business Division. We realize, however, that to canvass all employes in the city's 400 business establishments is a large task. That is why, this year for the first time, we are setting up this new "cleanup" unit to solicit untouched areas and aid other divisions in the final windup."

Assistant chairmen in the "cleanup division" include Mrs. William Blakely, Mrs. William Sharp, Mrs. Fred Link, Mrs. William Glover, Mrs. Thomas Carroll, Mrs. Anthony Corsello and Mrs. Richard Crable.

In his announcement today, Emmerling estimated that about two-thirds of the $15,902 goal had been achieved to date in cash or pledges.

Idea From TV, Boys Tell Judge Of Holdup Plot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two boys accused of attempted bank robbery stood awed and contrite before Juvenile Court Judge Melvyn I. Cronin.

He looked sternly at Dan McKay, 9, and Danny Husk, 13, and asked where they got the idea.

"From television," stammered the boys.

Judge Cronin scolded them, lectured the parents and sent them home Wednesday. Little Dan and Danny had spent the night in Youth Guidance Center after their arrest Tuesday.

They admitted going to the Bank of America's Mission branch and presenting a note demanding $100 under threat to "blow up the bank." The teller, Miss Filamene Miller, shooed them away and told the manager. He called police, who staked out the boys' homes and arrested them after their return from a movie.

Little Dan and Danny said they had only wanted to replenish their supply of a play money issued by a bank as a promotion.

Car Mishap Fatal

Man Gets Life Term For Fatal Shooting

CINCINNATI (AP) — Life in prison stretches ahead for Charles Gibbs, 67, convicted of first degree murder in the fatal shooting in 1945, of Henry F. Smith, then 66.

In passing sentence Wednesday, a plea of insanity was denied by Criminal Court Judges Simon L. Leis, Louis J. Schneider and Ralph B. Kohnen. Until recently, Gibbs had been in Lima State Hospital.

Miss Virginia Gibbs, now 35, daughter of the convicted man, confessed two years after Smith was killed that she plotted the crime. She blamed the slaying on her father, however, asserting it was the result of her association with Smith. She was paroled in 1957 after serving 10 years.

Fifteen former Masters Tournament champions will play in this year's tournament at the Augusta, Ga., National Golf Club April 2-5. The list is headed by three - time winners Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Life in prison stretches ahead for Charles Gibbs, 67, convicted of first degree murder in the fatal shooting in 1945, of Henry F. Smith, then 66.

In passing sentence Wednesday, a plea of insanity was denied by Criminal Court Judges Simon L. Leis, Louis J. Schneider and Ralph B. Kohnen. Until recently, Gibbs had been in Lima State Hospital.

Miss Virginia Gibbs, now 35, daughter of the convicted man, confessed two years after Smith was killed that she plotted the crime. She blamed the slaying on her father, however, asserting it was the result of her association with Smith. She was paroled in 1957 after serving 10 years.

Fifteen former Masters Tournament champions will play in this year's tournament at the Augusta, Ga., National Golf Club April 2-5. The list is headed by three - time winners Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am the father of a 24-year-old girl. She isn't beautiful but she's healthy-looking and has a nice personality. For the last six year's she's been working as a bookkeeper in a paper mill and brings home good money.

Seven months ago she offered to pay for the materials to finish off the attic and rent it out to a fellow who is a foreman at the mill. It seemed like a good idea at the time because they were just friends and nothing more. This fellow and I did all the work and it turned out real nice.

Now these two are crazy in love and they spent every minute together. He eats breakfast with us and supper, too. She packs him the same lunch as I get. They kiss in front of anybody who happens to be a round. My wife says she didn't act this foolish about the boys she dated in high school.

The trouble is he hasn't paid his rent for three months. My wife lost her temper yesterday and told him to move. He said he loves it at our house and that he couldn't be happy living away from our daughter. Then he cried.

Our daughter is mad at her mother and refuses to speak to her. What shall we do now? — SAD FATHER.

Dear Sad Dad: TELL HIM AGAIN. Any you might add that since he can't live without your daughter, he should marry her and take her with him.

This fellow has no right to expect free room and board from you. If you let him cry himself out of this spot you deserve to be rooked.

Inferiority Complex

Dear Ann: I've followed your column for a long time, hoping someone would write to you about a problem similar to mine. So far—no luck, so I decided to write to you myself.

I married a lovely girl 14 months ago. She quit her job to be a "housewife." She keeps busy with girl friends, club meetings and whatever young brides do. But she simply will not cook.

We get two home-cooked meals a week. One at her mother's house and the other at my mother's house. The other five nights of the week we eat in restaurants or she buys Cantonese food or pizza pies. She can think of a million excuses for not preparing a meal.

I was brought up on wonderful home cooking and I miss it. When I mention my mother's cooking she gets mad and tells me maybe I shouldn't have married. A few months ago I told my mother of our trouble and she phoned my wife and offered to teach her. Then she REALLY blew up. What's wrong with her, anyhow?—BICARB BENNY.

Dear Bicarb: Your mother's cooking is probably "what's wrong with her." You've raved so about Mom's meals that your wife is afraid to compete.

If she doesn't know, she should be told that eating out is at least twice as expensive as eating at home. Approach it from the economic angle. Buy her a good beginner's cook book and encourage her to try the simple things. And bear in mind, Buster, Mom's probably been at it for 25 years.

Helping Hand

Dear Ann: I've been arguing with my husband for two years about this one thing. Whenever we are out socially he never introduces me to the people who are there. I stand around like a wooden Indian and he greets everyone, shakes hands and acts as if he came alone.

Can he be ashamed of me or what? I've done everything but hit him over the head. I've kicked him in the leg, pinched him, nudged him — nothing works.

You seem to have a solution for everyone. How about it?—ME.

Dear You: The usual husbandly response to a furtive kick in the leg, a pinch or a nudge is a good loud "Ouch." So why don't you get smart?

Accept the fact your husband has some sort of block about introducing you. He brings you along which indicates he's not ashamed of you — so rule that out. Simply introduce yourself. Extend your hand and say "I'm Zelda Zilch. Clyde's wife."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Carney Agrees To Action

Compromise Due On Labor Action

By DUANE CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS — Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Youngstown), a union official often accused of "railroading" labor legislation in the current session of the Senate, has agreed to compromise with the Ohio Manufacturers Assn. on one of his own bills.

After listening to objections of Carl Tangeman, an OMA spokesman, to a bill to set up an Ohio Labor Relations Commission, Carney asked the chairman of the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee to defer further hearings on the measure until he could meet with Tangeman.

"I am going to surprise you," Carney told Tangeman.

"I think that you have presented some suggestions worthy of consideration. If you are sincere in them, I would be happy to try to work out with you some changes in the bill that would make it more palatable to your organization."

Tangeman replied that while the OMA has doubts about the need for such a commission, it does believe in the right of employes to bargain collectively and that he would be pleased to accept Carney's invitation.

The proposed commission is designed to perform the same functions on the state level the National Labor Relations Board does on the federal level. It would apply only to businesses and employes in intra-state commerce.

Tangeman's principal objections were that the bill does not follow the national act closely enough and that in many instances its provisions would prove too expensive because of the small number of workers involved.

The same committee earlier recommended passage of a bill to sharpen the teeth of laws against fraudulent advertising.

Co-sponsored by Sen. J. Sherman Porter (D-Gallipolis), a radio newscaster, and Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin), a newspaper publisher, the bill would permit state agencies to suspend the licenses of persons under their jurisdiction who engage in false advertising.

The measure also would protect legitimate advertisers by barring the agencies from any other limitations on advertising.

The committee also recommended approval of a bill already passed by the House to grant women equal pay with men for equal work. The measure is strongly supported by business and professional groups of the distaff side of the population.

Also approved by the committee was a bill introduced by Sen. Anthony Calabrese (D-Cleveland) to make Columbus Day a legal holiday.

No Sign Of Accord Seen In Power Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The nearly month-long strike against Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. continued today without any sign of a settlement.

Union and management negotiators, after meeting separately for eight hours yesterday and conferring with a federal mediator, adjourned without progress. Another session is scheduled today.

Locals 1466 and 832 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers have been striking against the company since Feb. 28, when their old contract expired.

Chief stumbling block to a new contract is a wage issue.

About 1,300 workers are idle, but supervisors are operating company installations in 23 central and southern Ohio counties.

The average American freight car travels about 16 miles per hour.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Sweet Tooth Conquered By Reducer

"Is there any possible way to cure a sweet tooth?" This query came from a young woman who laments that where sweets are concerned she is simply not responsible.

Ida Jean Kain

"Here is her nightly pattern: Before calling it a day, she wanders into the kitchen, fully intending not to eat the dessert she refrained from eating at dinner. Then, almost as if in a trance, she is drawn toward the cake box.

Many of you write that candy or cookies in the house seem to exert a magnetic power over you. What to do? It helps to know the physiological reason back of the craving. Sweets furnish quickly absorbable sugar which rapidly forces the blood sugar level high.

THIS HIGH blood sugar causes a generous production of insulin and after the quickly burned sugar is gone, the extra insulin is floating around in search of carbohydrate.

Down goes the blood sugar and the cycle is repeated. While the answers are not all known, there is evidence that low blood sugar is connected with recurrent hunger pangs.

There are two ways to deal with the problem. Eat balanced meals that include meat, a potato or bread and vegetables. Protein and the more complex starches must be further broken down, so that fuel is released more slowly and there is no longer the terrific stimulus to insulin production nor the rebound.

Cutting down on sweets will lessen the craving. You will miss sweets for the first week or two, miss them sharply, for nature takes time to adjust to the change.

To break the habit of eating sweets at bad hours, eliminate the first step. The lady with the sweet tooth in today's story could use this strategy: For two weeks, stay out of the kitchen in the evening. Psychologists explain that the first step sets off a chain reaction and the old pattern is set in motion.

Habit depends upon the fact that the nervous sytem tends to act as it acted before. Once started, the force of habit carries on.

To break a habit, upset your usual routine. Plan a couple of evenings away from the TV; take up some hobby in which you can develop an absorbing interest.

—:—

IF TEMPTED to wander out to the kitchen, switch directions, model some of your dresses, with an eye to altering them — smaller. Try anything that will help you to hold the right picture in your mind's eye. Pulling out of the rut helps to recharge your energy.

Be assured, food tastes can be altered. Successful dieters invariably report that they no longer crave sweets.

Send a long self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Parenthood Training Starts In Crib

During the late thirties, I was teaching courses for parents at Western Reserve University. In a class on the preschool child a mother once remarked, "I've come to the conclusion that this course aims not just to help us bring up our children to be good persons but also to be good wives and husbands."

By Garry Meyers

Since then I have grown more aware that good wives, husbands and parents don't get that way all at once. They gradually become so from their early years.

A person who is self-centered, who lacks self-control, self-reliance, and responsibility is not a very good wife or husband.

The prevailing practice of excessive permissiveness, in which the youngster gets what he wants when he wants it, has few restraints or inhibitions and rarely has to do what he doesn't feel like doing, is poor preparation for marriage.

TRAINING AND experience such as this is contrary to self-control and thoughtfulness of the rights and feelings of others. How can a person in marriage be ready to be thoughtful and considerate of a spouse if he has not practiced at two, eight or 14 being thoughtful and considerate of the rights and feelings of others in and outside the family?

How can he have good self-control at 20, 30, or 40 if he has not been duly restrained and inhibited in his earlier years?

How can he meet the ordinary responsibilities as a spouse or parent if he has not practiced from early childhood doing what he is able to for himself and also what needs to be done in the family? How can he face hard realities as grown-up, if he has practiced escaping responsibilities and hard work during his formative years?

LEARNING TO wait, being denied what older persons know is not good for him, and being kept from imposing on the rights and feelings of others when he is young, prepares him to deny himself, to wait, and to make himself do what he should.

So disciplined, he is prepared to put himself in the place of others and see a little as they see, feel a little as they feel and understand a little as they understand. These others will eventually include his wife and children. Begin at the crib to prepare your child for successful marriage and parenthood.

My bulletins, "Love and Restraint" and "Educating Your Child in Responsibility," may be had by sending a self stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Johnny Wilson, left winger of the Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League, has not missed a game since he turned professional with the Omaha Knights in 1949-50.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I fill in cracks in a floor so that the rug will lay evenly?

A. Cracks in the floor underneath a rug are very hard on the rug and should be filled whenever possible. Tear newspaper into small pieces and let soak in alum and glue water until pulpy. Fill the cracks with this pulp and press in hard and smooth with a spatula. Then stain or paint the floor when it hardens.

Q. How can I keep paint if the lid of the can has been lost?

A. If a lid is not available for the paint can in which a little unused paint has been left, pour some hot paraffin over the paint, and it will not harden.

Q. How can I whiten boiled fish?

A. A tablespoon of vinegar added to the water is which fish is boiled whitens the meat and renders it more firm.

Q. How can I make it easier to iron curtains?

A. It is a good idea to add a little starch to the rinsing water used on curtains; this will make the curtains easier to iron. When rinsed in slightly starched water, curtains will also stay in place better and soil less easily.

Q. How can I mend linoleum?

A. An excellent filler for worn linoleum is finely-chopped cork mixed with liquid glue. When it has set hard, rub down with emery paper and paint to match the linoleum.

Q. How can I remove stains from ivory knife handles?

A. Cut a lemon, dip into table salt, and rub over the stains.

The Virgin Islands were discovered by Christopher Columbus during his second voyage to the New World in 1493. He named them Las Virginies in honor of St. Ursula and her 11,000 martyr companions, who, according to legend, perished on the banks of the Rhine.

Notre Dame will begin preparations for its 71st football season on April 11. Joe Kuharich, recently-appointed head coach, has set that date for the beginning of spring practice.

Epistles From A Roman

Officer Writes Of Participation In Garden Of Gethsemane Arrest

(This is the fourth in a series of Easter articles entitled "Epistles From A Roman". Each is in the form of a letter written by a Roman officer in Jerusalem, describing events to his father back in Rome.)

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer

Jerusalem, Judea

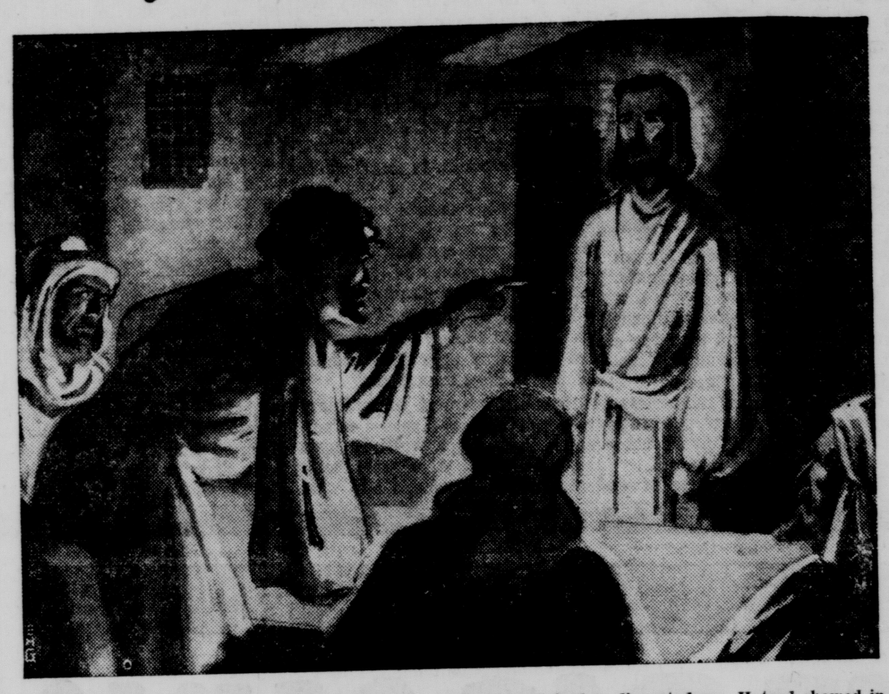
Gaius my father,

Forgive me, my father, my hasty scrawl for I write swiftly as the first light of day grows bright upon the city's walls.

This night has been an active one indeed, although I cannot say it has been the type of action I, a soldier of Rome most admire.

They have arrested the troublesome Galilean. It took a squad of soldiers and a mob of priestly followers, armed with swords and clubs and led by a betrayer, to arrest this unarmed man by the dark of the moon.

The priests of the temple have condemned him to death, but I have doubts the sentence will be carried out. The evidence against him is meager and the condemnation must yet be confirmed by the Procurator, who, for all his faults, is a just man.



"THE TRIAL BY CANDLELIGHT before the high priest Caiaphas disgusted me. Hatred showed in every priestly move. The Galilean, strangely, seemed to pity them for their hate."

THE BUSINESS of this night has thrown me into close contact with the man from Galilee, for it was Titus and I who led the arresting soldiers. This contact, I confess, my father, has had an effect upon me that is most unsoldierly.

When he looks at me, I feel a strange desire to throw down my sword and cast off my helmet and breastplate and spring weaponless to his defense.

The spell that surrounds the Galilean seems also to have touched Titus, that solid rock of reality, for tonight he thought he saw the Galilean perform one of those acts called miracles! It may have been imagination, but it has shaken Titus badly.

It happened as we arrested the Galilean by the flickering light of the mob's torches in the garden called Gethsemane.

I did not see the miraculous act but I heard the commotion among those who surrounded the holy man. I rushed over sword in hand.

Titus stood as one stunned. He told me that the man Peter, defending his master, had drawn a sword and sliced an ear from the head of one of the high priest's servants. And the Galilean rebuked Peter—and replaced the ear!

"It was an illusion," Titus mumbled wildly, more to himself than to me. "It must have been an illusion. Or a trick. Yes, it was a trick. And the light is bad. One can play tricks more easily when the light is bad. Isn't that so, Valerius?"

I had no ready answer.

THE TRIAL by candlelight before the high priest Caiaphas disgusted me. Hatred showed in every priestly move. The Galilean, strangely, seemed to pity them for their hate. The priests ranted; the Galilean was calm, as if it were he who was judging them.

He was accused of blasphemy, yet the witnesses brought against him could not substantiate the charge for they contradicted themselves and each other.

It fell to the Galilean, for what reason I know not, to convict himself, at least in the eyes of the priests.

"Tell us, Nazarene," said the high priest Caiaphas, for this Jesus is from Nazareth in Galilee, "tell us, are you the son of God as you claim?"

The Galilean needed only to remain silent, for none present had shown the ability to refute him. Instead, he answered readily, and not in a manner calculated to save himself. It was almost as if he wanted to die.

"It is as you have said," he replied calmly. "But I say to you, in the hereafter you shall see the son of man sitting at the right hand of God and coming on the clouds of heaven."

"Blasphemy!" exclaimed the high priest, turning to the other priests. "Clearly blasphemy! What need we of further witness? The Nazarene convicts himself by his own words! How say we?"

"Death," intoned the other priests, nodding to each other, their darkly bearded faces grim in the flickering light. The Galilean, tranquil in the face of death, was led away to be prepared for his appearance before the Procurator.

After Pilate has freed him, as he surely will, I have decided to speak personally with the Galilean. There are some questions I feel I must ask him, my father, urgent questions. Questions that I feel cannot be answered by anyone else.

Obediently
Valerius, thy son

May Someday Carry Spacemen

Space Capsules Dropped From Planes, Recovered

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dummy space capsules the size of those that someday may carry American spacemen into orbit have been dropped into the ocean from high-flying planes and recovered intact, scientists reported today.

The tapered, cone-like capsules weighed more than a ton.

After they dropped in free fall for set distances, parachutes opened to slow the capsules' descent as they plummeted toward the ocean.

Next step in the space research program: Development of materials to absorb the shock of landings on ground.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today reported significant progress in air drops, escape techniques, impact tests, and wind tunnel and flight studies of model capsules.

The early research is part of Project Mercury, the program to place a man in orbit around the earth. So far, its research has provided valuable information toward developing a safe and reliable manned satellite capsule, NASA said.

Space scientists have been experimenting at Wallops Island, Va., on the firing of escape rockets that would permit a man to get out of a capsule high enough in the air for a parachute to open—if trouble should develop soon after launching.

Wind tunnel tests are planned of a space capsule on top of a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile.

NASA has been paring down a list of 110 potential Mercury astronauts, or spacemen. Early next month it will make public the first team of less than a dozen volunteers.

Woman In Unexpected $750 Hit At Bingo

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Mary C. Thomas, 62, gets $750 for an unexpected hit at a Cranston bingo game.

Mrs. Thomas was hit on the shoulder and hip by a child's rocking chair displayed atop some cartons at the game last July 1.

She sued the United Merchandise Exchange, Inc., and was awarded $750 Wednesday for damages by Superior Court Judge Patrick P. Curran.

4-H News

Columbiana County 4-H advisors and club health and safety leaders will hold a session on health and safety programs Tuesday at 8 p. m. at St. George Parish Hall at Lisbon, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in 4-H work.

Mrs. Mary Oberlin of the Ohio Department of Health will lead the discussion and ideas and suggestions useful to the local club programs will be presented. Assistance and use of demonstrations will also be discussed.

All club health and safety leaders and 4-H advisors are urged to attend, Myers said.

Akron Bus, Union Far Apart On Pact Terms

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Akron Transportation Co. and bus drivers Union, Local No. 1 are far apart on terms of a new contract to replace the one that expires April 1, says Homer F. McCort, president of the union.

He said Wednesday the company has made no counter-proposal.

The union is asking a wage increase of 30 cents an hour, vacations, pension and holiday benefits and a straight eight-hour day for all employes. Some now work 8½ hours a day. The current wage scale was not available.

The next negotiating session is Saturday.

Killed In Collision

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A Canal Fulton man died Wednesday night in a headon collision of an automobile and a tractor-trailer outfit here. Dead is Ronnie McClay, 22. Ray Schembechler, 20, also of Canal Fulton, was reported in serious condition. A third youth who was in the car, Joseph Wise, 22, of the Cleveland-Massillon road, suffered a leg fracture.

Hen Kicks Out Cat, Takes Over Raising Kittens

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP)—A hen has kicked out Blackie, the cat, and taken over raising Blackie's kittens.

Blackie had her five kittens in the henhouse. A white Leghorn promptly kicked her out.

The kittens have learned to answer the Leghorn's clucking.

Mrs. Alton Terry, owner of the confused group, told the Dallas News the hen is making a good home for the kittens.

When the kittens leave the nest for a minute, other hens peck at them. The Leghorn flies into the offending chickens in a fit of rage.

Blackie takes advantage of things like that to dash in and feed her youngsters.

Blackie shouldn't be surprised by such antics. She was one of the litter of five kittens the goofy Leghorn raised last year.

"It is as you have said," he replied calmly. "But I say to you, in the hereafter you shall see the son of man sitting at the right hand of God and coming on the clouds of heaven."

"Blasphemy!" exclaimed the high priest, turning to the other priests. "Clearly blasphemy! What need we of further witness? The Nazarene convicts himself by his own words! How say we?"

"Death," intoned the other priests, nodding to each other, their darkly bearded faces grim in the flickering light. The Galilean, tranquil in the face of death, was led away to be prepared for his appearance before the Procurator.

After Pilate has freed him, as he surely will, I have decided to speak personally with the Galilean. There are some questions I feel I must ask him, my father, urgent questions. Questions that I feel cannot be answered by anyone else.

May Someday Carry Spacemen

Space Capsules Dropped From Planes, Recovered

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dummy space capsules the size of those that someday may carry American spacemen into orbit have been dropped into the ocean from high-flying planes and recovered intact, scientists reported today.

The tapered, cone-like capsules weighed more than a ton.

After they dropped in free fall for set distances, parachutes opened to slow the capsules' descent as they plummeted toward the ocean.

Next step in the space research program: Development of materials to absorb the shock of landings on ground.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today reported significant progress in air drops, escape techniques, impact tests, and wind tunnel and flight studies of model capsules.

The early research is part of Project Mercury, the program to place a man in orbit around the earth. So far, its research has provided valuable information toward developing a safe and reliable manned satellite capsule, NASA said.

Space scientists have been experimenting at Wallops Island, Va., on the firing of escape rockets that would permit a man to get out of a capsule high enough in the air for a parachute to open—if trouble should develop soon after launching.

Wind tunnel tests are planned of a space capsule on top of a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile.

NASA has been paring down a list of 110 potential Mercury astronauts, or spacemen. Early next month it will make public the first team of less than a dozen volunteers.

Woman In Unexpected $750 Hit At Bingo

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Mary C. Thomas, 62, gets $750 for an unexpected hit at a Cranston bingo game.

Mrs. Thomas was hit on the shoulder and hip by a child's rocking chair displayed atop some cartons at the game last July 1.

She sued the United Merchandise Exchange, Inc., and was awarded $750 Wednesday for damages by Superior Court Judge Patrick P. Curran.

All club health and safety leaders and 4-H advisors are urged to attend, Myers said.

Akron Bus, Union Far Apart On Pact Terms

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Akron Transportation Co. and bus drivers Union, Local No. 1 are far apart on terms of a new contract to replace the one that expires April 1, says Homer F. McCort, president of the union.

He said Wednesday the company has made no counter-proposal.

The union is asking a wage increase of 30 cents an hour, vacations, pension and holiday benefits and a straight eight-hour day for all employes. Some now work 8½ hours a day. The current wage scale was not available.

The next negotiating session is Saturday.

Killed In Collision

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A Canal Fulton man died Wednesday night in a headon collision of an automobile and a tractor-trailer outfit here. Dead is Ronnie McClay, 22. Ray Schembechler, 20, also of Canal Fulton, was reported in serious condition. A third youth who was in the car, Joseph Wise, 22, of the Cleveland-Massillon road, suffered a leg fracture.

Hen Kicks Out Cat, Takes Over Raising Kittens

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP)—A hen has kicked out Blackie, the cat, and taken over raising Blackie's kittens.

Blackie had her five kittens in the henhouse. A white Leghorn promptly kicked her out.

The kittens have learned to answer the Leghorn's clucking.

Mrs. Alton Terry, owner of the confused group, told the Dallas News the hen is making a good home for the kittens.

When the kittens leave the nest for a minute, other hens peck at them. The Leghorn flies into the offending chickens in a fit of rage.

Blackie takes advantage of things like that to dash in and feed her youngsters.

Blackie shouldn't be surprised by such antics. She was one of the litter of five kittens the goofy Leghorn raised last year.

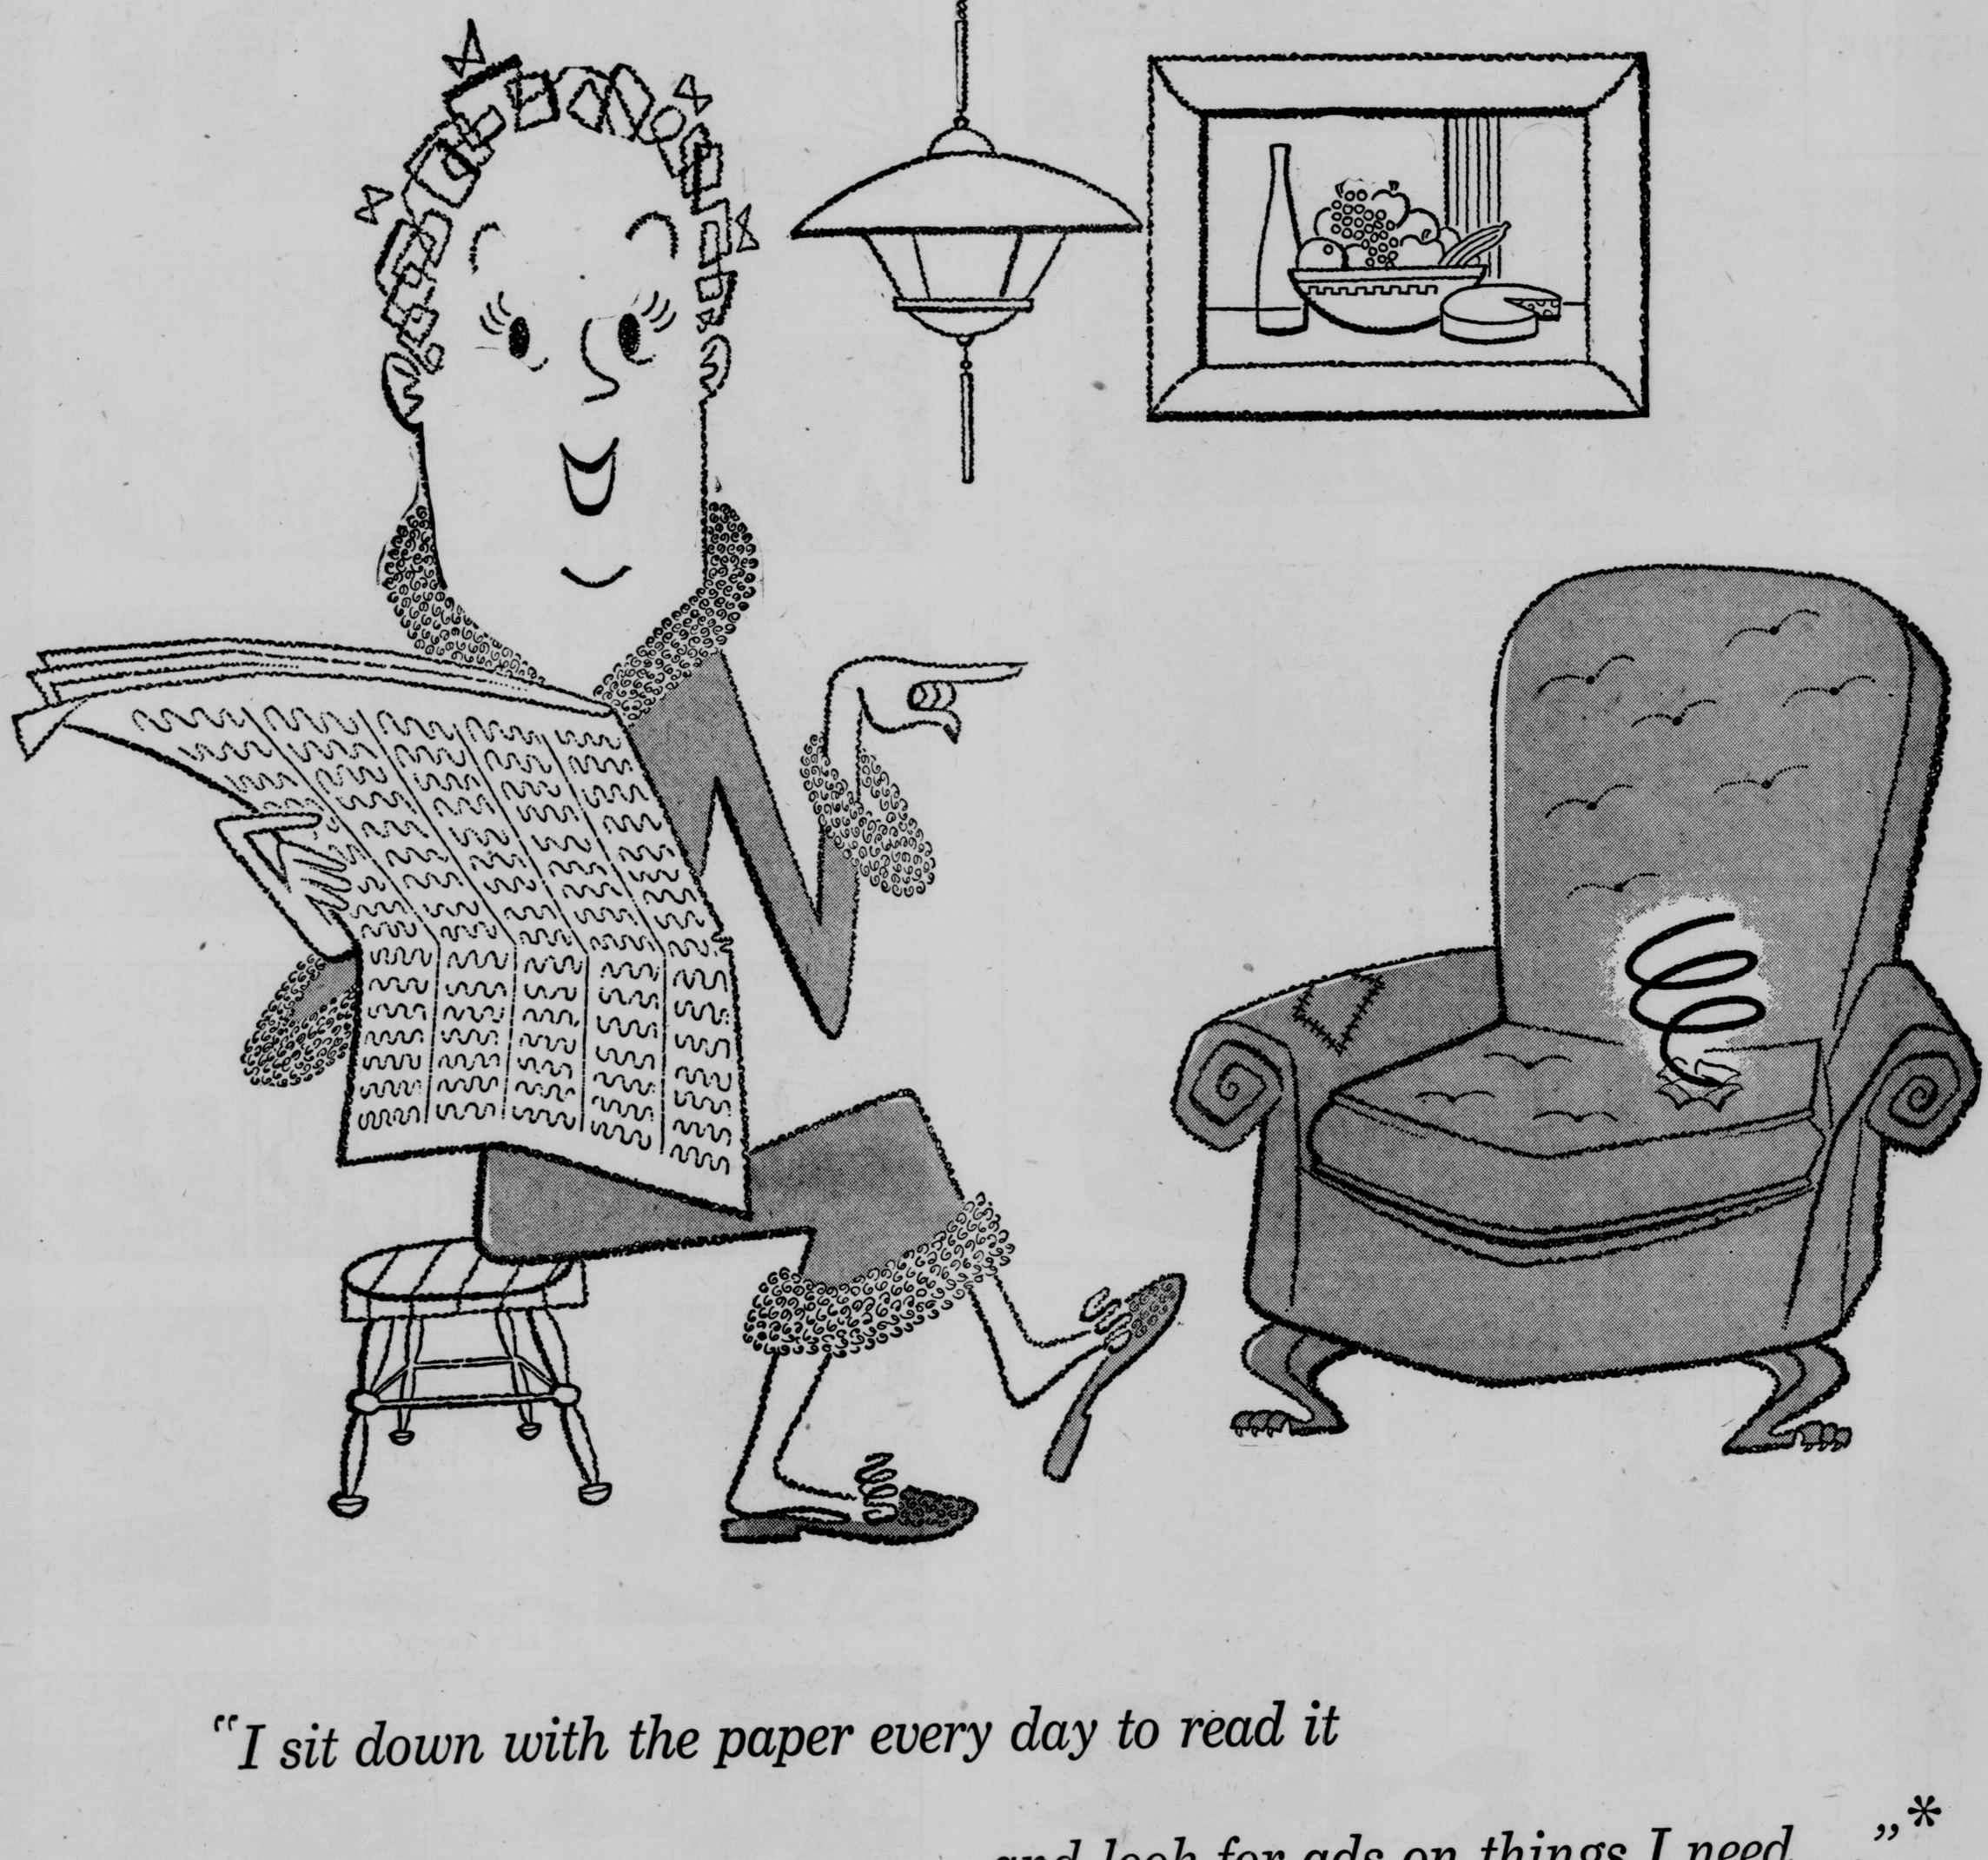
WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER?

COPYRIGHT 1957, BUREAU OF ADVERTISING OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION, INC.



*"I sit down with the paper every day to read it and look for ads on things I need . . ."

THE "TOTAL SELLING" MEDIUM IS THE DAILY NEWSPAPER

Morning, noon or night, any day of the week, in the house or out, the newspaper remains to be read—and shopped—at the reader's convenience. Some folks like to read their newspapers before bed. Others relish them with their breakfast.

This is one of the great pluses for an advertiser—as so many advertisers well know. An ad is read by newspaper readers when the readers feel like it. There is no intrusion upon the readers' time and thus no resentment by prospective customers.

The convenience appeal of daily newspapers is one reason why people pay over $3,000,000 a day for the privilege of reading and shopping from more than 57,000,000 newspapers daily. People like to ponder over a potential purchase . . . and the best place to ponder is in the newspaper.

Whatever you sell, wherever you sell it—nationally, regionally or locally—you'll get more help selling it through the newspaper . . . where people find time to listen to your story.
